PAPA'S LITTLE STORY.

The "Kunne!" Continues to Relate the Wonderful Story of His Relations With Miss Pollard.

Flatly Contradicts the Account of the Interview With Maj. Moore as Told by Moore.

The Plaintiff's Visit to New York is Also Explained by a Very Plausible Story.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The carriage ride of August, 1892, when Miss Pollard had said, Col. Breckinridge had made the first formal proposal of marriage to her, was the principal subject of which Breckinridge addressed himself when he took the stand in the circuit court today. He denied, with his customary reticence, that any such ride had taken place, or that he had made any proposal, or that he had talked over family matters. Then continuing, he said: "I never asked the plaintiff to give up any child. I never knew plaintiff had any living child. I never any time spoke of marriage to the plaintiff before the death of my late wife."

Denying the conversation which Miss Pollard said took place at the Hoffman house, to the effect that a company had been formed by Whitney and Fairchild which was to represent, he said that he had not seen the plaintiff April 30, that he had not been absent for a moment from the side of his wife that day, as he had not been married 48 hours. He never had any business arrangements with the gentleman mentioned, never contemplated a visit to Europe, never spoke of intending marriage.

Then Mr. Butterworth called his attention again to the interview in the office of Maj. Moore. "My recollection is that it was a much shorter visit than Maj. Moore has said," he continued. "It was rapid and excited; the young woman did most of the talking." This statement Mr. Breckinridge desired to make to correct an impression Maj. Moore had given that the conversation had lasted a much longer time. He went over the conversation in detail given in this interview and which included the statement of the plaintiff that "I will marry the last day of the month if God don't interpose." There was no attempt, he said, to keep the matter of the interview secret from the newspapers.

Mr. Butterworth asked the witness what interview he had with Miss Pollard prior to the interview of April 17th with Maj. Moore. The witness then related in detail the interviews that occurred and the substance of the conversations as he remembered them. This included the interview with Mrs. Thomas the afternoon of May 18, when he left Miss Pollard in a real or simulated faint condition.

On the next day, Sunday, while at the Riggs house, in answer to a card sent to his room, he saw her in the ladies' parlor and had an amiable and friendly conversation with the plaintiff. At this time the latter expressed regret at what had occurred along the street and in Maj. Moore's office. Plaintiff gave him a schedule of what she would do in the way of underwear and other clothes prior to the trip to New York. They parted with every evidence of good feeling and sincerity on the part of the plaintiff to carry out the agreement between them whereby she was to go to New York.

That evening a boy came to the hotel and said Miss Pollard wanted to see him with a message requesting that he take her to Mrs. Blackburn's, where she wanted to stay all night. He took her to Mrs. Blackburn's. This included the came again to the hotel and presented to him an additional schedule for clothing. She wanted a little more money to make preparations to go away. The next day she sent him a note and they took lunch at the Shoreham. They talked again of the trip to New York and she told the name of the physician whose care she was to put herself, and witness told her that this doctor was a comrade of his in the war.

The next day after this the plaintiff came to see him again, and on the night of that day they saw Mrs. Blackburn, who, after hearing their explanation, said she would wash her hands of the whole matter. Mrs. Blackburn approved the agreement for the plaintiff to go to New York. The following day to this the plaintiff again came to the hotel, and a conversation ensued between them as to a further conference which it proposed should be held with Maj. Moore prior to her going away.

As he described how he had waved her off, Col. Breckinridge gesticulated very impressively with both hands and explained the whole interview in pantomime. There was a tragic inflection to his tones as he closed the account of the visit to Mrs. Thomas with, "then I left her." There was a constant reticence in the defendant's denials. He would frame them in every possible form of negation of time, place and manner.

"There was no further explanation to give. I could give no further explanation, and Mrs. Blackburn said she would wash her hands of us, would wash her hands of people who were engaged and acted in that way, and I could give no explanation of it," was one of the characteristic sentences.

Continuing the description of the second visit to the major, he said: "We agreed to say that she was going to New York to have a child; that I was the author of her pregnancy. We agreed to say that, but on water color. She insisted, crying several times, that I should tell Maj. Moore I was the only man who had ever been intimate with her, I declined to do that. She said: 'I had put myself in the power of her and Maj. Moore already, and I would refuse to say to any man that I had seduced her. Then she said she would not go. As she turned her jacket back I saw the gleam of a pistol in her bosom. 'I said, 'you are sitting close to me,' and she said 'I will use it on myself if I do on anybody.'"

Then describing the scene at the office of the chief of police where they sat on the sofa, he said: "She seemed dissatisfied with the form in which I made the statement. She took out the pistol and looked at it. I said, 'You had better let Maj. Moore take that. I then said that nobody could say that I had seduced her, because the first night I saw her I took liberties with her and the second night I slept with her. I made this statement about not seducing her with considerable force, even temper. The account of this interview in Maj. Moore's office differed from the version of it given by that officer and the plaintiff."

Continuing his recital regarding the arrangement for confinement, Col. Breckinridge said she only wanted to arrive there with $10 in her pocket, because she possible feared she had more she would come back to Washington. She was to stop at No. 7 Thirty-first street where she would have good care; she was to study painting on china, or in water colors when her strength would enable her to, and to continue her studies in English literature. He said:

"I considered the problem settled; so far as Washington was concerned, so far as Mrs. Blackburn was concerned, so far as our sexual relations were concerned. The only thing left open was regarding the child. I said to her that if it was my child, as I only partially believed it was, I wanted to educate it, to take care of it, to give it every chance possible for a child born out of wedlock, and in the meantime she was to have every care and tenderness. We parted without anger and on this understanding."

Speaking of the reasons for leaving Washington the last of May, Col. Breckinridge said they were not connected with the case but were the most urgent possible reasons. He said he was a son who attended Washington and Lee university and was in great difficulties. He took the dispatches which he had received from the trip to New York and read them with great elocutionary effect. The burden of most of them, which have been already published, was that she should come back to him. "That was just what I meant," he commented, "that she should make herself as comfortable as possible; nothing more, nothing less."

Two dispatches received in Covington, Tenn., signed by Mrs. Thomas and inquiring if he was in Covington, he said he was. He said he was the plaintiff with the name of her landlady as a blind. Miss Pollard had gone to New York on May 18 and returned the 10th. After arriving in Lexington he received a telegram to the effect that Miss Pollard was coming there. He returned a message, the principal part of which was, "wait, it will come, referring, he declared, to money. This correspondence was reviewed at length."

A WOMAN EXECUTED.

She Was Hanged in Liverpool Today for Killing Her Husband.

LIVERPOOL, April 2.—Margaret Walber, 53 years of age, was executed today in Walton jail, this city. Mrs. Walber, in November last, murdered her husband. The woman, who was extremely jealous of the deceased, confined him in a garret, chained and packed him until he was hardly able to move and otherwise brutally ill-treated him.

When the room was entered Walber was found dead, the apartment in which he had been imprisoned resembling a shambles, blood being spattered all round it. The prisoner, at her trial, admitted striking her husband over the head with a heavy chain.

A large crowd of people assembled outside the jail during the execution. Reporters were not admitted.

The Alliance Returning.

THE TARIFF DEBATE.

Senator Voorhees Began the Discussion This Afternoon in Support of the Finance Committee's Bill.

Claims That it Reduces Taxation on Necessities to the Amount of $76,000,000 and Increases Revenue.

Concessions Were Made Which Do Not Suit Him Fully, But They Were Absolutely Necessary.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Senator Morgan has reported to the senate the Baring sea bill to carry into effect the Paris arbitration and asked its immediate consideration. The bill was read at length, and then went over until later in the day. The tariff debate was opened by Senator Voorhees, who said:

"Sir, I challenge the attention of the senate and the country to the great and commanding fact that by the provisions of this bill, the seeming paradox of a reduction of taxes and at the same time an increase of public revenues will be reconciled when it becomes a law. I will not stop to consider at this point the vast individual robberies committed by protected markets, the untold and incalculable millions of blackmail levied by American manufacturers for their own pockets on their enforced customers, when cut off from all outside competition it is enough for my present purpose to say that we have liberalized American markets, made them more accessible to the traffic of the world, and, while not establishing free trade, we have made trade freer and more evenhanded between the manufacturer and the consumer."

"But over and above and beyond this wide and well-known field of extortion and injustice, it will be found from the schedules of this bill that tariff taxes have been officially ascertained and paid under existing law, on the wants, necessities and daily consumption of the laboring men, women and children of the United States, have been reduced more than $76,000,000 per annum. The reductions are as follows:

"On chemicals, $1,000,000; on pottery, $1,900,000; on glass, $1,500,000; on metals, $1,500,000; on wood, $1,300,000; on tobacco, $3,300,000; on agricultural products, $3,300,000; on spirits, wines, etc., $1,500,000; on cotton manufactures, $3,500,000; on flax, hemp and jute manufactures, $6,000,000; on woolen manufactures, $2,500,000; on silk manufactures, $3,000,000; on paper and pulp, $3,300,000; on sundries, $2,400,000; on leather, $1,000,000; on free list, $12,170,000; total, $76,670,000."

"To this must be added the further important fact that the bill provides for a full and ample revenue, largely in excess of present supplies with which to meet all the requirements of the public credit. Such a commutation as this, so full of relief to the people and of strength and honor to the government may well atone for the imperfectness and shortcomings alleged against the impending measure and will constitute the rock on which the temple of tariff reform will be built, and against which, in the ameliorated future, the gates of avarice, oppression and fraud shall not prevail."

COXEY'S ARMY GROWING.

The Army of the Commonwealth Started on Its Longest March.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 2.—Camp fires were twinkling in every direction on College hill even before dawn. The army of the Commonwealth rose early from its quarters in the theater and went out to the camp, getting ready for the longest march yet made, to Zwickley. The men prepared a hasty breakfast. Boodle and discipline were evident among the former, owing to the increase in the size of the army and the latter due to Unknown Smith's iron rule.

At headquarters preparations were made to feed 400 men, but of course that number did not put in an appearance. The result of what little drill the unknown martial imparis is becoming apparent in the bearing of the army whilst on the march. The police made no arrests and report the behavior of the army to have been excellent, although an attempted burglary was reported.

Too many men are being fed, Coxey thinks, compared with the number who march. He and the unknown held a conference in headquarters tent at 9 o'clock and a secret strvice was decided on. A corps of amateur detectives will be organized before Zwickley is reached so that the unknown leader will practically have all the men under his thumb before the Commonwealth reaches Allegheny.

The total number of recruits is 139 and the army marched out 243 strong. This is the largest number since the inception of the movement and this is the longest march.

THE BRIDE DRUGGED.

Annie Vandorn, of Passaic, N. J., Was Married But Not to the Man She Desired.

She Had Been Drugged and Did Not Notice That the Two Men Changed Places.

The Result Was the Man Who Was to Marry Her Was Only the Witness.

PATERSON, N. J., April 2.—John Martin, a well-to-do contractor of this city, met Annie Vandorn, of Passaic, in 1892, and in less than a month they were engaged. Martin betrayed the young woman's confidence and put off the marriage until the birth of their child when he promised to right the wrong he had done. When they talked over the wedding, Martin said he would have his cousin, John Duncan, of Brooklyn, act as best man.

The next night he visited the home of the Rev. George M. Dorwart, rector of the Church of the Holy Communion, and arranged for the wedding to take place on the following night. This was on Sept. 1, 1893, and the next day brought Duncan from Brooklyn. The cousins resemble each other in height and features. When they got together, there is reason to believe, Martin told Duncan of his love episode and said it was his desire to get rid of the woman, but how should he do it? Duncan said he would marry her himself.

"Sure, she'll not know the difference, as we look so much alike," he added, "and I assume any name but my own." It was agreed that Duncan should be the groom, and that they should drug the bride; at least that is an apparently well-founded presumption.

That night they set out from this city for Passaic in a coach and got Miss Vandorn. On the way back Martin stopped the carriage at a hotel and brought out drinks for all. When they reached the parsonage Miss Vandorn complained of feeling ill. She says she felt "as if her senses had left her." She cannot recollect even to this day, she says, what was said and done at the minister's home. She knows she was married and that is all.

Martin returned home with her after the ceremony and they lived together for several months. One day he had a quarrel with her and told her he was not her husband and had never married her. He added that the marriage certificate, which she had not looked at since it was given to her by the officiating clergyman, would disclose who her husband was. She hastily searched for the certificate and, to her astonishment, found she was married to a man named John Powers, and that Martin was only a witness.

Martin told her that during the ceremony, Duncan, his cousin, had taken his place at her side, and given his name to the rector as John Powers—"It was done so quickly no one knew the difference." Martin then deserted her.

A few days ago Miss Vandorn retained counsel and on Saturday had Martin arrested and arraigned before Justice Senior on a charge of conspiracy. He was released under $1000 bail. The Rev. Mr. Dorwart remembers the wedding and says he noticed nothing unusual in the action of the participants. He was not aware that the two men had changed places. The records of the register of vital statistics shows the entry of the marriage as follows:

"John Powers, aged 22 years, of Brooklyn, N. Y., to Miss Annie Vandorn, aged 20 years, of Passaic, N. J., by the Rev. George M. Dorwart; John Martin, witness."

THE DEMAND FOR DA GAMA.

The Brazilian Government insists on the Rebels' Surrender.

NEW YORK, April 2.—The Herald's Rio Janeiro dispatch says: The British and Italian ministers here have sent to Washington a request that Secretary Gresham should instruct Minister Thompson to join in their petition to Brazil, asking her to withdraw the demand upon Portugal with regard to the landing of the rebel refugees now on board the Portuguese man-of-war Albuquerque and Mindello at Montevideo.

They received a reply that President Cleveland considered there was no good ground for the request, that Admiral da Gama and his officers had been engaged in a conspiracy to overthrow the legally constituted authorities and must be regarded as ordinary rebels without political standing.

This decision proved highly gratifying to the Brazilian government and France and Germany sent refusals to interfere in da Gama's behalf. Portugal now asks that the refugees be allowed asylum on shore until the revolt is over in the South. Brazil replies that the question at issue is whether she has or has not the right to demand the surrender of these rebels on the guarantee that they be given a legal trial.

Suffered Unjustly.

LONDON, April 2.—A receiver has been appointed on behalf of the mortgage and debenture brokers of the Land Security company (limited), which was formed thirty years ago. The liabilities are £2,000,000. The company according to its officers, has suffered greatly from the erroneous impression that it was connected with the group of companies with which Jabez Balfour, the fugitive ex-member of parliament, was connected.

Must Prove His Ability.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—James Purcell, of Hudson, N. Y., the lowest bidder for the stamped envelope and newspaper wrapper contract, will be given an opportunity to prove his ability, to carry out the agreement. Postmaster General Bissell has notified him that he will be given a hearing this week.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

Body of Charles Gans Found in the Delaware River and Has Been Fully Identified.

According to the County Records, However, Gans Was Buried Only a Few Weeks Ago.

Two Men Were Also Arrested for Murdering Him, But the Authorities Are Now Puzzled.

WOODBURY, N. J., April 2.—A body found in the Delaware has been identified as that of Charles Gans of Swedesboro. According to the county records, however, the body of Charles Gans was found in a creek a few weeks ago and was buried by his relatives. The coroner's inquest at that time disclosed the fact that murder had been committed and the two men who were last seen with Gans are now awaiting trial charged with the crime. The finding of the second body makes the case a very mysterious one, for everything seems to show that the first body was not that of Gans, the present Chinese puzzle to the police as to what hand the two men now under arrest had in the death of either.

Gans was last seen alive on the night of Jan. 15. On that night he was in the hotel drinking. Two men were with him. They were Patrick Kerwin and D. P. Armstrong. The trio became involved in a fight in which it was Gans against the other two. Shortly after the fight Gans left the hotel and started down the road. Ten minutes later Kerwin and Armstrong left the barroom and also went down the road in the same direction Gans had taken.

This was the last seen of Gans. A few days afterward when he did not appear at his home an investigation was made. Kerwin and Armstrong were arrested. Nothing could be proved against them, as it was not even known that Gans was dead, and they were released.

The search for Gans, however, was kept up and on March 11 two boys while tramping through the woods found a body in a little creek containing hardly enough water to cover it.

The body was taken to Camden and was identified by a brother of Charles Gans as that of his brother. The county physician made an autopsy and announced that the man had been murdered. The neck was broken, there were many bruises and it was shown that life had been extinct before the body had reached the water. Mrs. Gans, the wife of the missing man, said the body was not that of her husband. She said the clothes were different from what he had worn. Gans' mother was also doubtful. The brother then made a close examination and found on the body three marks. When these were shown to the two women they admitted that the body was the one they sought.

The theory of the authorities was that the murderers had changed Gans' clothes and removed every means of identification. Kerwin and Armstrong were taken into custody, and their trial set for the next term of court. The body found was floating on the river surface. In the pockets of the clothing were the articles Gans had on his person when he was last seen. His watch was there as well as a number of papers, a knife and other things. The clothing was the same as that worn by Gans when he was last seen. So far as the examination has gone, drowning was the apparent cause of death.

Who the body it was the boys found in the creek and who is responsible for what the coroner's jury has declared a murder is puzzling the authorities.

FOUL MURDER IN OHIO.

An Old Woman Found With Three Bullet Holes in Her Head.

POMEROY, O., April 2.—The foulest murder in the history of this county was committed here about midnight. Eliabeth, the divorced wife of Dr. Richard Slaughter, was found dead on the next door neighbor's porch with three bullet holes in her head. She lived alone and was 70 years of age.

Neighbors Clayton Stahl and wife, on returning from an entertainment, fell over the dead body at their door. She is supposed to have run to the neighbor's when attacked, and was murdered while trying to get in their door. The body shows marks of kicks.

The front door of the dead woman's house was found open and the lamp burning. Nothing was disturbed. The object of the murder is a mystery. She was a peaceable and well liked woman. A 32-calibre Smith & Wesson shell was found in the yard.

New Steamship Line.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—A local paper makes the statement that a company has organized to operate a large fleet of steamships between Vladivostok, the eastern terminus of the great trans-Siberian railway, and some point on the Pacific coast, probably San Diego. A contract has been made with the Russian government for carrying the mails for a period of fifteen years, during which time a vessel must be constructed each year.

He Will Probably Die.

CARROLLTON, Ga., April 2.—W. B. Brossell, a well-to-do farmer of Hurd county, yesterday shot his wife and then attempted to kill himself, inflicting a probably fatal wound. His wife will recover. A family quarrel led to the shooting.

Malaria is one of the most insidious of health destroyers. Hood's Sarsaparilla counteracts its deadly poison and builds up the system.

LETTER CARRIERS' UNIFORMS.

No Change Has Been Made in the Department's Regulations.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Objections have been raised by letter carriers in several cities to the requirements of the postoffice department concerning the purchase of carriers' uniforms, although no formal protest has been made. First Assistant Postmaster General Jones, in speaking of the matter today, said:

"No rule respecting the carriers or substitutes' uniforms has been changed. The purchase of those suits rests with the carrier and postmaster as provided in Section 613 of the postal laws and regulations. This provides for an inspection of uniforms every six months by the postmaster and that no postmaster shall require a new suit or any article of it to be purchased when that in use is reasonably good condition. When proper he may require any carrier to purchase a new uniform or part of one, and the carrier must appear as neat and tidy as the service he performs."

The missing Atlantic steamer Towal to the Azores.

(Copyright, 1891, by the Associated Press.)

FAVAL, Azore Islands, April 2.—The North German Lloyd steamship, Ems, Capt. Keimkas, from Bremen March 17 and Southampton March 18 for New York, now several days overdue at the latter port, was towed in here today by the British oil tank steamer Wildflower, Capt. Livingstone, from Wilmington, Del., on March 19 for Blaye, France.

The Ems has her propeller frame broken. It will be necessary to send a ship to Faval with a new rudder frame to take the place of the broken one. This propeller frame is a steel frame that fits in between the rudder and the hull of the vessel and supports the propeller on an axis which runs from one upright to the other.

April.

The first month of spring was named April by the Romans because, as one of them expressed it, "omnia aperit"—it opens all things. It is in this month that nature (in the temperate zone) awakens from her winter slumber, throws off the icy fetters that have bound her, and testifies her joy at meeting the returning sun, by sending forth leaves and buds, promise of flowers and fruits to come. And along with the rousing of nature, man, too, shakes off the torpor of winter, comes forth from his hibernation by the coal stove or the steam radiator, and starts on his travels either for business or pleasure. The first day of this month is known far and wide as All Fools Day, but generally as it is thus known, the reason for the appellation is much in doubt. Some say this was the day on which Noah sent out the dove from the ark for the first time, and she returned having found no rest for her foot—"April fooled." Others say the name was given the day in 1564, when the French calendar was changed so that New Year's Day came Jan. 1 instead of April 1, thus leaving the opening day of April destitute of its former festivities,—"fooling" those who expected a holiday. But there will be no "April fool" about a journey on the Burlington Route, and whether you go on business or pleasure to any principal city, before you start write for routes and rates, to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agt., St. Paul, Minn.

Cheap Rates to California.

The Northern Pacific Railroad company has put into effect a series of low round trip rates to California points. Tickets are good until July 15th, 1894 and are good for stopover under certain conditions. These rates will enable those desiring to do so, to spend the winter in Southern California, or to visit the Midwinter fair to be held at San Francisco. This latter event will undoubtedly be second only to the World's fair, and will repay a visit as it will exhibit the resources and capabilities of California.

St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth to San Francisco, returning via Portland to St. Paul, or returning to Missouri river, $80.50. For further information apply to Charles S. Fee, G. P. and T. A., St. Paul, Minn.

BOMB WAS EXPLODED

An Attempt Was Made to Destroy the State Dispensary at Florence, S. C., This Morning.

A Bomb Was Exploded in the Rear of the Building, but Did no Damage.

Telegraph Office at Darlington in the Hands of the Military and Press Dispatches Stopped.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—A special to the Evening Star from Florence, S. C., says: A bulletin from Charleston says that an attempt was made to destroy the dispensary there this morning. A bomb was exploded in the rear of the building. No details of the result are given, but the statement that the police are guarding the dispensary indicates that the attempt was unsuccessful.

The telegrams state that the office at Darlington is in the hands of the military, who refuse to permit transmission of messages to newspapers. A simple message to the editor of the Charleston News and Courier, saying "the military has received a supply of blankets by express" was endorsed. "Office order military control, guard refuses to let it be sent." Gen. Richburg claims that he has no discretion in the matter, as he is acting under Governor Tillman's orders.

THE SITUATION CRITICAL.

The Trouble in the Pennsylvania Coke Region Growing.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 3.—The situation in the coke region is now at the most critical stage. At first it was thought the Frick men would remain at work, but this impression was dispelled today when the men at Treble came out. The company has made no attempt to resume work until the strikers quit their hostile demonstrations.

A crowd of strikers assembled in the vicinity early in the day, and although they were peaceable in their actions, such as to indicate an outbreak the moment the company attempts to start up. It is said a body of strikers intend to march to Frick's Davidson works this afternoon and force the men there to stop work. In the Scottsdale district, all the plants are still in operation.

The feeling among the foreigners throughout the entire region is very bitter. They are said to be well supplied with dynamite, and will not hesitate to use it if the occasion presents itself.

ESCAPED AN AWFUL FALL.

A Window Washer in Chicago Escaped an Awful Fall.

CHICAGO, April 3.—Thomas Gillen, a window washer, narrowly escaped a frightful fall of 100 feet from a ledge of the Board of Trade building today, and was rescued by a fireman in the nick of time.

Gillen had gone out of a window on the ledge and while at work some one took in the caisson. Becoming dizzy, the man clung to the wall and screamed frantically for help.

The streets were soon blocked by an immense crowd which crested loudly as Truckman Sullivan of the fire department, climbed a long ladder and with the aid of another seized and rescued Gillen just as he was overcome by fright and lost his balance.

GENERAL DESIRE FOR PEACE.

European Powers Likely to Suspend Military Preparations.

LONDON, April 3.—A dispatch to the Times from Vienna points out the political importance of the czar's step in bringing about the Austro-Russian commercial treaty, saying that it affords substantial evidence of the pacific tendency of the emperor of Russia.

The correspondent adds that he has ground for believing that the commercial treaty will eventually be followed by a political entente leading, if not to disarmament, certainly to a definite suspension of military preparations, and includes by asserting that a better feeling between Italy and France has been discreetly encouraged from Vienna and Berlin, and that there is no longer reason to doubt the sincerity of the strongly expressed desire for peace upon the part of the three imperial powers and Italy.

Will be Decorated.

PARIS, April 3.—M. Krantz, who was the French commissioner at the World's fair at Chicago, is to be decorated with the cross of the legion of honor, for the services he rendered upon that occasion.

KOSKONO, Ind., April 3.—The jury in the Mrs. Augusta Schmidt murder trial, after sixty-eight hours' deliberation came in today with a verdict of guilty, fixing the punishment at ten years imprisonment in the woman's reformatory at Indianapolis.

Mrs. Schmidt, who is a wealthy German woman and the daughter of the late Baroness Schindling, of the province of Saxony, quarrelled with Oscar Walton, one of her tenants, last October and shot him dead, as he stood in his doorway. She was indicted for murder in the first degree and denied bail by the supreme court to which she appealed.

She is 42 years of age, has a husband and three children and recently came in possession of a fortune of $100,000. Efforts will be made to secure a new trial. The woman threatens to kill herself.

WALT MEE IS DEAD.

An Announcement That Will Create Very Widespread Sadness.

E. W. Mee, better known as Walt Mee, one of the pioneers of the Vermilion iron range, passed away last night after a lingering illness. He was 46 years old. The funeral will take place from his brother's residence, 2125 East Superior street, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The news of Walt Mee's death was received with deep regret by a wide circle of friends today. Dr. Fred Barrett expressed deep regret. "Just one more life gone out," he said, "but it is more than that to those who knew him. Great big hearted, big souled Walt Mee never did a human being a wrong; never hesitated to do anyone a kindness. Open hearted, generous to a fault, full of life, full of wit, companionable, congenial, he saw no one's faults—only their virtues. He was born in Adelaide, Ont., and came to this country when a boy. A good man, a good citizen, a good fellow. God bless his soul."

Election in Superior.

The election is moving quickly at Superior today, with a surprisingly large vote. By 2 o'clock 4000 votes had been polled. Woodward seems to be in the lead. The Kelly men voted early. There were several fiery encounters during the day and one arrest. Patrolman Kelly struck Charles Roberts when the latter refused to move out of a polling place and Roberts had him arrested.

WROTE TO MADELINE

Some Letters Which the Colonel Sent to Miss Pollard Were Copied by a Typewriter.

Plaintiff's Counsel Made a Demand for Their Production, but the Defense Denied Their Existence.

Mrs. Louise Lowell Said She Copied Such Letters Nearly Every Week for the Colonel.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—A battle royal of witnesses between ex-Congressman Jere Wilson and Congressman W. C. P. Breckinridge was expected today after the interesting sparring of yesterday. Judge Bradley does not seem to relish the testimony which Col. Breckinridge is giving. The judge occupies a chair beside the witness box, but on a raised platform behind a ponderous desk.

Whenever Col. Breckinridge begins to talk, the judge wheels his chair around so that the heavy upholstered back is turned toward the witness box and directs his gaze toward a far corner window, reads legal documents or closes his eyes. The same position was assumed by his honor soon after Col. Breckinridge stepped into the box this morning, after half an hour had been consumed in examining candidates for the regular April jury and excusing them until next Monday.

Mr. Butterworth at once opened the question of the admissibility of the correspondence alleged to have been held with Madeline Pollard in 1886. Judge Wilson, in reply, assured the court that the evidence had not been discovered until Sunday and asserted that he proposed to put the witness on the stand at once, that Col. Breckinridge might not be taken by surprise and that he might have ample time to make explanations.

After a long discussion Judge Bradley decided to admit proof of the existence of this correspondence, and Mrs. Louise Lowell took the stand. She was a stenographer in the capitol and Col. Breckinridge brought manuscript of a letter to her in 1886. From 1886 to 1890 she had copied manuscript, addressed envelopes and done Col. Breckinridge's private correspondence and congressional work, always returning the manuscript, "Now what was on those envelopes?" continued Mr. Wilson.

"Miss Pollard, 76 Upper street, Lexington, Ky."

"And how do you remember that?"

"I kept a memorandum book in which I noted the address."

"Have you the book?"

"I have," she said, and the book was passed around for inspection of the lawyers.

"Recalling sure that sooner or later I would hear of Miss Pollard and not wishing to trust my memory, I made that memorandum," she explained and, continuing, said: "He (Breckinridge) brought the two or three envelopes separately, then a package of a dozen small ones yellowed with age, and not such envelopes as a business man would use."

"I now give you notice if you have that letter to produce it," said Mr. Wilson to the defense.

"How can I produce the letter if I sent it to the plaintiff?" Col. Breckinridge said in reply, whereupon Mr. Wilson remarked in his inimitable way: "You and I will have a little conversation after a while." The witness, continuing, recollected that she had copied the letters for Col. Breckinridge nearly every week, but said she could only prove having dictated or dictated to him.

The judge having ruled out examination concerning the contents of the letter, Mr. Butterworth made a brief cross-examination.

"Are you acquainted with Miss Pollard?" was asked.

"I never saw Miss Pollard until this morning."

DASHED DOWN GRADE.

A Cable Car With a Dozen Passengers Tele-scoped Another Car on a San Francisco Street.

Fortunately No One Was Killed, but All the Passengers Were More or Less Injured.

The Car Broke Away from the Gripman and Dashed Down Grade at Lightning Speed.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—A Sacramento street cable car with a dozen passengers on board dashed down one of the steepest grades in the city last evening and tele-scoped another car standing on the crossing. No one was killed, but all the passengers were more or less injured. The list of injured is as follows:

Luke Morgan, letter carrier, feet mashed and body bruised.

Detective Robert Hogan, tendons of right leg strained and body bruised.

Miss Plunkett, slightly injured about face and arms.

Gripman O'Brien, badly cut above knee.

Cad Ewing, cut about head and face and badly bruised.

A fire was in progress on Dupont street and a cable car was blocked by fire hose at the corner of Dupont and Sacramento. Another car coming down the hill behind the first car broke away from the gripman and dashed down at lightning speed. The two cars collided with terrific force, both being badly wrecked. The passengers were thrown in all directions, and that no one was killed is considered miraculous.

A FAMOUS SCOUT DEAD.

Furnished the Material for Ned Buntline's Indian Stories.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The body of Henry M. Bennett, better known as "Dead Shot Scott," was interred last evening in the little churchyard at Peekskill, near Paterson. During the war he served as a scout and spy in the Union army, and in later years he was a scout in the Indian wars, serving under Miles and Custer.

Among the Indians he was known as "White Lightning." He furnished the material for nearly all the Indian stories written by Ned Buntline. A widow and one child, a little girl, survive him.

SWAMP LAND DECISION.

Another Case in Which the State of Minnesota Loses.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Secretary Smith has approved the decision of the general land office in the swamp land case of Murphy against the state of Minnesota rejecting the claim of the state to lands in the Duluth, Minn., land district.

The St. Paul & Duluth railroad company, as grantee of the state, recently appealed from the decision and filed eight allegations of error.

BATTLE IN THE SOUDAN.

Conflict Between Two Large Armies in Which Losses Were Heavy.

TRIPOLI, April 3.—A terrible battle has been fought in the kingdom of Bornu, Central Soudan. Rabah, the former slave of Zobeir Pasha, with an army numbering 30,000 men, invaded the kingdom. He was opposed by the sultan of Bornu at the head of a large army.

During the battle both sides sustained very heavy losses and the sultans of Bornu and Rabah were killed, fighting desperately at the head of their troops.

Dan Bruckart Elected.

ST. CLOUD, April 3.—D. W. Bruckart (Rep.), defeated David T. Calhoun (Dem.) for mayor yesterday by 200 majority in the hottest contest ever made in this city. Both the Republican and Democratic parties supported Calhoun against a wide-open policy.

TO FREE AN INNOCENT MAN. A Montana Boy Who Was Supposed to Have Been Murdered.

ST. PAUL, April 3.—A Pierre, S. D., special says: John A. Shea left Pierre yesterday for Montana, where he hopes to assist in freeing an innocent man, now in the penitentiary of that state for murder. Shea says that when about 12 years old he was bound out to Charles A. Clayton, of Melrose, Mont., and like many other boys thought he was fit to treat and ran away.

He drifted about the Northwest for several years and last fall while assisting in driving some horses from Idaho to this place, one of the party told of a man named Clayton, who was serving a 14-years sentence in the Deer Lodge, Mont. penitentiary for the murder of a boy named Shea, who had lived with him.

On arriving here Shea at once wrote to Clayton and received a confirmation of the report. It seems that Clayton was active in running down horse thieves, and they secured his conviction by testifying against him. Clayton has already served seven years of his sentence.

EXCITING MURDER TRIAL. A Bitter Legal Fight in the Weise Murder Case in Iowa.

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, April 3.—The Weise murder trial has begun, and predictions that it would be a bitter legal fight are already being verified. The defense filed a motion that the sheriff deputies be barred from acting as officers of the court, on the grounds of being prejudiced and bribed against the defendant.

The sheriff filed affidavits, however, denying all, but the court has not yet ruled on the motion. There is intense interest in the trial, probably a thousand people being unable even to obtain standing room in court.

Mrs. Bennett, the defendant, exhibits self possession and composure. A jury will probably not be secured before tomorrow. There is a probability of sensational developments before the end of the week.

ON ITS WEARY MARCH. The Commonwealth Army on its Long Journey to Washington.

PITTSBURGH, April 3.—The last march of the Commonwealth to Allegheny, the first stage of the long journey to Washington, was begun at 9 o'clock. Not one of the weary fellows left camp last night, except twenty, who sought warmer quarters in the local lockup.

A special order was issued by Carl Brown, after breakfast, in it referring to the judge Stowe incident last night. The judge is referred to as an objectionable character. The men are advised to behave during the next two days, as attempts will be made to lead them astray.

When Jacks Run was reached a halt was ordered for lunch, after which the army again took up the weary march to Allegheny.

CHARGED WITH SWINDLING. O. R. Walker, Arrested at Tower, Arraigned at Eau Claire Today.

ST. PAUL, April 3.—A Eau Claire, Wis., special to the Dispatch says: O. R. Walker, arrested at Tower, Minn., by Sheriff Riley, of this city, and lodged in the county jail Sunday night, was arraigned yesterday in court and pleaded not guilty and secured an adjournment.

Walker three weeks ago persuaded five Eau Claire citizens that he could show them valuable pine land claims up north, collected $25 from each of them and then gave them the slip at Superior.

Burned Itself Out.

LANCASTER, Pa., April 3.—A spark from a locomotive on the Lancaster & Downingtown railroad set fire to the forest on the Welsh mountains near Bareville, last night. The flames spread rapidly, and by morning several hundred acres of timber were destroyed. The fire burned itself out, having spread to clearings in all directions. All attempts made to stay its progress were futile.

Indicted for Manslaughter.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The United States grand jury yesterday returned another indictment for manslaughter against Col. Fred C. Ainsworth, chief of the records and pension division, war department, in the case growing out of the Ford theater disaster of June last when over a score of government clerks met death.

Fought Five Rounds.

ST. JOHN, N. B., April 3.—The fight last night between George Addison and Eddy Connolly, for the featherweight championship of Canada, lasted five rounds, during which time Addison was hardly in it. In the fifth round the fight was awarded to Connolly.

Three People Killed.

BARBOURVILLE, Ind., April 3.—In a boiler explosion in Monroe county, near Tompkinsville, Alexander Ritter, owner of the mill, and two brothers named Fowler, were instantly killed. Others are badly injured.

Suffocated to Death.

BOSTON, April 3.—Rev. I. M. Babcock, 73 years old, and a retired lecturer, was suffocated to death in bed by a slight fire in the lodging house at No. 5 Dover street. Two other lodgers were rescued from a window on ladders.

Mills Burned Down.

HOWLAND, Maine, April 3.—The Howland Falls Mills, out-buildings, offices and one dwelling were burned flat by fire which caught in the dynamo room last night. The loss is probably $150,000.

LONDON, April 3.—The Times says that the marriage of Miss Margaret Tennant to Herbert Asquith, the home secretary, has been fixed to take place on May 10.

Work Suspended.

Accused of Stealing.

DENVER, April 3.—Gen. Hamilton, of the silver legion of Coxey's army, was acquitted yesterday of stealing a suit of clothes.

Had Much Notoriety.

NEW YORK, April 3.—James Owen O'Connor, whose aspirations to fame as a Shakespearean actor gave him much notoriety in 1888, has died in the insane asylum at Morris Plains, N. J.

A RIOT BY REVELERS

The Masque Ball of the Carmencita Club in New York Closed With a Serious Riot.

A Police Officer Tried to Stop a Skirt Dance in a Box and Started a Row.

One Man Killed, Another Had His Skull Cracked, and a Third Was Badly Cut.

NEW YORK, April 3.—From revelry to riot was but a step and a short one at that, at the masque ball of the Carmencita club in Tammany hall at about 4 o'clock this morning. There were upon the floor and in the boxes not far from 150 persons, and though the bar was closed there was no lack of intoxicants, so that when the disturbance began many persons were more or less crazed with drink. Roundsmen Shay precipitated the trouble by undertaking to stop the performance that was going on in a box occupied by Eddie Hirsch, keeper of a Coney Island dance hall, and a party of his friends.

The officer was told to mind his own business, whereupon he tried to pull Hirsch from the box. Instantly a rush was made for the officer. Other policemen in the hall went to Shay's assistance. Hirsch and his friends were made use of by the crowd, clubs were swung lustily, and many heads felt the force of the locusts. In the midst of the affray the lights were extinguished, but the struggle did not even then abate.

When the lights were again turned on, one man was lying dead upon the steps leading to the street. His name was Terence Gallagher, aged 33 years, a race track tough, whose residence was 122 East One Hundred Twenty-fifth street.

Mark Buckner, a Baxter street puffer, had his head cracked and may die. George Bernstein, a barkeeper, was badly cut in the hand. The fight lasted until a call sent to the nearest police station had brought to the hall a detail of officers strong enough to overawe the frenzied crowd.

The police say that Gallagher's death was caused by heart disease. It is alleged that Roundsmen Shay, whose effort to stop a skirt dance in Eddie Hirsch's box brought on the row, had been drinking and was half drunk.

The organizer of the Carmencita club is Edward A. Corey, an ex-detective and a former partner of Billy McGlory, of "Coney" fame. Corey now lives at 115 East Fourth street. The program shows that among the honorary members are the leaders of several East Side political clubs.

ARMISTICE IN SAMOA. Peace Between the Opposing Forces Is Now Certain.

LONDON, April 3.—In the house of commons yesterday, Sir Edward Grey, parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, said that advances had been received from the British consul at Samoa dated March 22, stating that an armistice had been arranged between the opposing forces at Samoa which was satisfactory to both sides. The advances added that peace was certain. No British warship was at the islands and no warship was needed there.

SMOTHERING TO DEATH.

Alarming Prevalence of Asthma in Duluth.

MANY DEATHS ANNUALLY.

Asthma has hitherto baffled the skill of our best physicians. Within a comparatively recent period Dr. R. Shiffman, of St. Paul, Minn., who has devoted many years of study to the treatment of asthma, bronchitis and croup, has prepared a remedy for these affections which is meeting with great success wherever introduced. With this remedy there is no waiting for results. It is not a nauseating compound to be swallowed, but is used by inhalation, thus reaching the seat of disease direct. Its action is immediate and certain. Acting directly upon the mucous membrane of the air passages, it relieves the spasm and constriction instantaneously, facilitates free and easy expiration, and insures comfortable rest to those otherwise unable to sleep except in a chair. All suffering from asthma, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, and all other diseases of the throat and lungs, should keep this remedy at hand. Persons living at a distance who wish to test the merits of this remedy should address Dr. R. Shiffman, Box No. 69, St. Paul, Minn.

THE BOOK OF THE BUILDERS

BEING THE CHRONICLE OF THE ORIGIN AND PLAN OF THE WORLD'S FAIR; OF THE ARCHITECTURE OF THE BUILDINGS AND LANDSCAPE; OF THE WORK OF CONSTRUCTION; OF THE DECORATIONS AND EMBELLISHMENTS; AND OF THE OPERATION.

The Fair is not only a success, but a triumph,—an American triumph. When it closes, we can think rightly and gratefully of the men who made it such. They would be knighted in England or Germany; but perhaps all they can expect in free, democratic America is that the newspapers and people, who knew all along and in every-thing a better way, shall admit that, on the whole, it was well they were not in the management.

Benjamin Harrison.

Further particulars have come to hand regarding this great Memorial History of the World's Columbian Exhibition. To those who did not see the important First Announcement on this subject we include here a brief synopsis of it. The Book of the Builders is the authoritative history of the making and operation of the World's Columbian Exhibition. It might almost be called an Autobiography, for it is to be written, edited, decorated and published by the same men whose genius conceived, built, adorned and operated the World's Fair. The Fair, from beginning to end, was built by them in three years; they will now build its Literary and Artistic History in one year, or possibly less. "The Book of the Builders" has been undertaken in the same spirit in which the World's Fair was carried forward, and it will be executed as a literary and artistic achievement, and not primarily for gain. As the World's Fair was the greatest exhibition in the history of the world, so this Memorial of it will undoubtedly be the most remarkable work of any literature in any age. So many interests were necessarily involved in the undertaking that the State of Illinois has chartered a special body—The Columbian Memorial Publication Society—under whose auspices the work will be carried to completion.

The cost of the undertaking will be very great. The price of the book may not be definitely known for some time, but it cannot fall short of One Thousand Dollars a volume. It is the present plan of the Society, however, to fix no stated price per copy, but execute the work in the finest possible manner, charging for each volume only the actual cost of the production and supervision. It is felt that, with no limit set to the price, there can be no questions of deterioration or reduction to save expense. On the other hand, if the work is sold at actual cost, without profit of any kind to the Society, there will be no reason to doubt that it will prove the most valuable book at the price ever made or sold in America.

It will naturally be too costly a work to issue in the ordinary way, and the book will be built "to order only." It will not be possible to secure a copy except by placing an advance order with the Columbian Memorial Publication Society. No more copies will be made than are ordered, and inasmuch as the Society has been created for this one sole undertaking, and will conclude its labors as a Society with the completion of the last volume, it will readily be seen that every copy of "The Book of the Builders" must soon have a greatly enhanced value—the same enhanced value which attaches to the pictures of a painter after his death, when any further work from his hand is an impossibility. The Board of Executive Control, in whose hands the entire direction has been placed, have constituted and appointed and these gentlemen will virtually be the two authors of "The Book of the Builders." They have also appointed a special Supervisor of Typography, who is well known as one of the best authorities in America on the art of book-making. Many minor appointments have been made and others will follow.

Nearly one hundred artists have already received commissions from the Society, and some of them will give their entire time to the work from this date. The greatest interest has been aroused in the remarkable reproductions, decorations and illustrations which "The Book of the Builders" is to contain; they will all be from sketches made at the Fair, and it will easily be seen from the list of artists below that the best talent of America has been requisitioned for this work. No such compilation of American Art has ever before been made in a single work. Some of these illustrations are in the nature of chronological views; that is, they show all the details of building and landscape architecture and decoration at different stages of the work. It is unnecessary to add that no one of these valuable pictures has ever been placed on exhibition, and there will be no opportunity to see them except in the pages of "The Book of the Builders."

The Evening Herald has already explained to its readers the details of the important arrangement by which the Columbian Memorial Publication Society has consented to make a complete compilation expressly for THE EVENING HERALD of the most valuable historical and artistic matter from its great collection, and supply a limited number of copies to THE EVENING HERALD for its own use. It will be a

Looks Like a "Woodchuck."

A Washington dispatch says that Senator Washburn yesterday introduced a bill similar to that recently introduced in the house by Maj. Baldwin, giving the Altamonte Water Power company authority to dam the St. Louis and Cloquet rivers to furnish water and water power to Duluth and other places. The Herald has obtained a copy of the bill as it was introduced in the house by Maj. Baldwin, and finds it a very peculiar measure, with every indication that it contains a large-sized "woodchuck." The title of the bill is misleading: "A bill to increase the navigability of the St. Louis and Cloquet rivers, and for other purposes." Instead of increasing the navigability of those rivers the plans of the bill itself would certainly tend to destroy their navigability by reducing the volume of water. Here is the bill in full:

"Whereas the Altamonte Water company, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Minnesota, proposes to erect certain dams in the St. Louis and Cloquet rivers in said state, which will increase the navigability of said rivers and create a reservoir to furnish water and water power for the city of Duluth and other places, and whereas said company has obtained the permission of the secretary of war of the United States, pursuant to the statutes in such cases made and provided, to erect said dams; Therefore

"Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, that said Altamonte Water company is hereby authorized and empowered to take and perpetually use, for the purposes aforesaid, such lands of the Fond du Lac Indian reservation in said state of Minnesota adjacent to said St. Louis river as shall be overlaid and which shall be necessary in the construction and maintenance of said dams, or either of them, according to the permission granted by the secretary of war. In case any land or lands now occupied by or belonging to any railroad company in said reservation will be overlaid, such railroad company is hereby authorized to take other lands in said reservation held by the United States which shall be necessary for a new right-of-way too free wide and for deepening said river, and yards in lieu of the lands of said company necessary to be taken or overlaid by the construction of said dams.
Sec. 2.—That nothing herein shall be construed to give said Altamonte Water company any right to take the property of any individual or corporation without making proper compensation therefor or without due process of law. And provided further, that if any land so taken and overlaid shall have been allotted to any Indian or Indians, the damages for such taking shall be determined by the secretary of the interior on the petition of said company, and the amount of such damages in each case shall be paid into the treasury of the United States by said company for the benefit of the allottees."

The people of Duluth know nothing of the Altamonte Water company or its plans. None of the incorporators live here, and the residents of this city are not acquainted with them. It is rumored that the promoters of this company are two or three Chicago men who for certain reasons were dropped out of the Minnesota Canal company and are now trying to start a rival company. The Minnesota Canal company has been steadily going ahead with its surveys and is making arrangements for construction work, and should have a full opportunity to demonstrate the feasibility of its scheme. The Altamonte company may be all right, but the bill published above should never be passed by congress.

The sixteen pretty shop girls who have gone to Washington from Rhode Island to lobby against the Wilson bill should be carefully chaperoned or "Papa" Brackinridge may get into another scrape.

Should Be Defeated.

Laws passed in various states, including Minnesota, to drive ticket scalpers out of business having been declared by state courts to be unconstitutional, the railroads are now endeavoring to persuade congress to pass a bill of a similar character. The bill has been introduced in the senate where the railroads have great influence owing to many of the members of that body being large stockholders in railroads or otherwise interested.

This bill would outlaw the business of the railway ticket broker and thus attempt to drive the scalpers out of the business. It provides that it shall be unlawful for anyone to sell railway tickets without authority from the company which issues the same. To make the prohibition doubly sure, it is provided that the railway companies shall deal only with their own agents. As a penalty for the violation of the proposed law a fine of $5000 is provided.

The Cleveland Leader opposes this measure in a vigorous and sensible argument, declaring that it would be an outrage to pass such a bill. The Herald agrees with the Leader's belief that the measure would not be constitutional. A railroad ticket calling for a ride over the line of the company issuing it, in justice entitles the holder, whoever he may be, to the enjoyment of the ride, which has been bought and paid for. That ticket possesses a distinct value, and in every sense it is the property of the person who buys it. Why cannot he sell it as he pleases? What difference does it make to a railroad company, when John Smith buys a ticket from New York to Chicago, whether John Smith rides all the way from the metropolis in the East to the one in the West, or sells his ticket in Cleveland through a scalper to Tom Brown, and the latter finishes the journey which John began? Would John's transfer of his right in that piece of pasteboard or slip of paper tend to decrease the annual dividend of the railway corporation?

Of course, says the Leader, if Mr.
Smith wanted to come only as far as Cleveland and had no intention of going to Chicago, it would seem like injustice for him to pay the railway company $15, for instance, for a ride of 1000 miles,
for which he would have been charged $13. Then, after having taken advantage of that form of robbery known as competition, Mr. Smith would be a man lacking in the finer feelings if he sold his ticket in Cleveland for $5, reducing the cost of his ride from New York to Chicago to $10, and at the same time giving somebody else a chance to get a cheap ride from here to Chicago. That is what hurts the railroad companies and makes them anxious to take the scalps of the scalpers.

It is hardly likely, however, that this bill will pass congress. It is indefensible from every point of view and should be defeated. If it became a law, it would be a gross interference with a legitimate business, and while The Herald does not believe that its validity would be sustained by the federal courts its effect would be annoying and even disastrous to the ticket brokers throughout the country.

A comparison of the figures contained in the annual statement of forty-nine life insurance companies doing business in this country with those for 1892 shows that life insurance suffered comparatively little from the general financial depression. The assets of those companies in 1892 were $26,714,375, and in 1893, $27,804,138, a gain of $1,089,763.
The surplus in 1892 was $12,757,681 and
in 1893 $12,766,914, a gain of $9,233.
There was insurance written in 1892,
$1,272,250,150, and in 1893, $1,387,078,472,
a gain of $114,810,292. The insurance in force in 1892 was $4,058,419,447, and
in 1893, $5,336,162,553, a gain of $3,677, 742,406. These figures approach the point of bewilderment.

Henry Clews, the New York banker, takes quite a hopeful view of the near future. He says that evidence as yet beneath the surface indicates that, so soon as pending obstructive legislation is out of the way and business has resumed its normal course, there will be a launching of new enterprises that will give employment to the large amount of now idle home capital and at the same time attract active co-operation from foreign money centers. It therefore would not be surprising if, twelve months hence, we find the United States and Europe in the midst of a marked revival of investment and speculation.

The council last night fixed the salaries of the members of the board of public works at $500 and $1000, the latter amount being for the chairman of the board, though why he should receive more than the other members is not apparent. Both amounts are too large and should be promptly reduced at the next meeting of the council. Perhaps the mayor may bring the matter to a head
by vetoing last night's resolution.

It is estimated that the customs returns under the senate tariff bill will amount to $163,361,018. The internal revenue part of the bill will yield an increase over the present law of $7,300,000, of which the income tax will furnish $3,000,000, the increase of the spirit tax
$2,000,000 and that on playing cards
$2,300,000.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Building Inspector Robinson.
Mayor Lewis made another excellent appointment last night when he nominated Building Inspector J. H. Robinson for another term. Mr. Robinson has occupied this position for several years in a most creditable manner. He has carefully and ably performed the duties of building inspector, and the results of his labors are appreciated by everyone who has a knowledge of the work of his department. The office of building inspector is one of the most important in the city's service. The duties are manifold, covering a wide range and for the most part not perceptible to the general public. This latter fact is due to the work being largely of a preventive character.

The city has been remarkably free from building accidents. As a result of Mr. Robinson's careful inspection there has not been an accident to any one of the elevators, due to structural weakness or defect, during his term of office. The duties of inspector of water mains, electric meters and gas meters also fall upon Mr. Robinson, and by careful study he has perfected himself in this important work. All in all, Mr. Robinson is the proper man for the place, and Mayor Lewis has acted wisely in retaining his valuable services.

The Princeton Union says: "If some enterprising St. Paul reporter were to delve into the United States district attorney's office in that city he might find data for a readable article on how millions are made in Minnesota. Evidently the editor of the Union never knew that a reporter in St. Paul or he would know that the district attorney does not permit newspaper men to deliver very much into his office.

Maj. Baldwin would perform a real service to the city of Duluth by using his influence to hasten the completion of the government building. At the present rate of progress it will not be finished for ten years. Make a strong kick at the treasury department, major.

"Papa" B is snoring on the gridiron of cross-examination at Washington, and as his brother congressman, I. Fletcher, would say, he's "a b—l of a b—l."

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $25,000 and nine cents which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and

WHEAT DULL BUT STRONG.

Trading Was Rather Quiet but Prices Ruled Higher

The wheat market today was dull but strong. It opened a little weak with July 16 below yesterday and May 16 lower, but advanced steadily to the close which was at the outside figures 1/16 higher than yesterday for cash and 1/16 higher for futures. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 62 1/2¢; April, 62¢; May, 62 1/2¢; July, 62 1/2¢; September, 62 1/2¢; No. 1 northern, cash, 61 1/2¢; April, 61 1/2¢; May, 61 1/2¢; July, 61 1/2¢; September, 61 1/2¢; No. 2 northern, cash, 60 1/2¢; April, 60 1/2¢; May, 60 1/2¢; July, 60 1/2¢; September, 60 1/2¢; No. 3 northern, cash, 59 1/2¢; April, 59 1/2¢; May, 59 1/2¢; July, 59 1/2¢; September, 59 1/2¢.

The Minneapolis Market.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 3.—Wheat: Wheat, April, 62 1/2¢; May, 62 1/2¢; July, 62 1/2¢; September, 62 1/2¢; No. 1 northern, 62 1/2¢; No. 2 northern, 61 1/2¢; No. 3 northern, 60 1/2¢. Receipts, 44 cars.

Gossip.
Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107, Chamber of Commerce.

There was no session in Chicago today. Out-side markets were strong. New York advanced 1/16, Duluth 1/16, Minneapolis 1/16. The advance on the wheat crop, however, we have seen the winter wheat crop. Believe we have seen the low price on this crop and would advise buying wheat for a substantial rise.

Stocks of provisions are lower than estimated. Pork, 14 1/2¢; lard, 10 1/2¢; tallow, 10 1/2¢. Cattle, May wheat, 62 1/2¢. Curb, May wheat, 62 1/2¢.

Collector Johnson's Head.

In the office of the collector of customs, from a chandelier there hangs suspended today an ax shrouded in black and dripping with gore. Below it stands a waste basket and the victim seems to have died profusely for everything in the basket is spattered with dark red fluid. Tragic as are these surroundings Ed Patterson grins with ghoulish glee and points to basket and hatchet saying "it's Johnson's head." Collector Johnson sits in his private office and he also smiles good naturedly.

Emil Olund Expresses His Satisfaction Over His Appointment and Says He Expected It.

Complains that People Do Not Give Him Credit for His Long Residence in This Country.

Record of the Police Department for the Month of March—Sunshine Circle Entertainment.

Emil Olund says he was not taken by surprise by the announcement of his appointment by the president as collector of customs as he has felt confident all along of winning. Mr. Olund has a firm friend in O. M. Hall, representative from the Third district, and his influence, no doubt in conjunction with that of Maj. Baldwin was too strong to be broken by the Duluth opponents. Mr. Olund declares the fact that the newspaper is unwilling to give him credit for many years residence in Minnesota. He says he was purported to be a biographical sketch of him in the morning paper was faulty from the fact that nothing was said of his history from 1868 to 1882.

During all this time he was in Minneapolis, engaging in mercantile business at Red Wing, Sank Center and Minneapolis. He has already received congratulatory telegrams from Congressman Hall, ex-Senate Senator Nelson, of Red Wing, and others.

March Police Report.

FATAL BEATING.

The War Between Strikers and Workmen in the Pennsylvania Coke Region Is Now On.

Andy Miller, a Hungarian, Was Mistaken By Rioters For a Workman and Horribly Beaten.

He Was Assaulted and Beaten With Clubs and Stones Until Supposed to Be Dead.

First Pitched Battle Occurred This Morning When Fifteen Shots Were Fired—Another Battle Likely.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 4.—The war between the strikers and the workmen is now on in earnest and a number of serious outbreaks are reported. The worst of these was a murderous assault on Andy Miller, a Hungarian, near Trotter, shortly before midnight. He was attacked by fifty rioters and, being taken for a workman, was horribly beaten with clubs and stones. He was released only when thought to be dead. He will not live.

Trotter was the scene of the wildest disorder, nearly 1000 Hungarians having camped there for the night. They took possession of the company's grounds and carried on in a most disgraceful manner. The Leising and Trotter works of the H. C. Frick company have been running, except when forced out by the rioters.

Shortly before midnight a squad of fifty men came across Andy Miller on his way from Meyer to the Trotter. He is a striker from the Trotter works, but lives at Meyer, from which place he was coming when attacked. The strikers took him for a workman, and without asking any questions assaulted him and beat him into insensibility with clubs and stones.

The mob that camped at Trotter moved to New Haven where they were joined by strikers from the southern end of the region. They number nearly 2000 men and all are armed with guns, iron bars, picks and shovels. This afternoon they started on their way for the purpose of visiting all the works between Connelville and Mount Pleasant, where the strike has never been recognized.

In this section there are about 4000 men at work under the protection of armed deputies, and it forms a most dangerous situation. The strikers are working from the extreme southern and northern end of the coke field. If the strikers do not succeed in driving the men from these plants the movement will be lost. They will force the men out at the point of guns rather than see them work. The southern end of the region was the scene of numerous raids today, but no lives were lost.

About 300 men at works north of here marched to the Leith and Brownfield works of the Frick company, to the Fairchance works of the Fairchance Furnace company and drove the men from the yards. Very little resistance was offered and now all the plants south of Connelville are shut down.

The men were found going to work but returned without making a fight. The workmen at the Mount Braddock works of the W. J. Rainey company were driven from the yards today by rioters and the plant is now shut down as are all the plants of the Rainey company.

A delegation of rioters also visited the Wheeler and Morrell works of the McClure company and compelled the men working to lay down their tools and vacate the grounds.

Superintendent Doyle and fifteen armed deputies were in charge of the works and warned the strikers not to trespass. The rioters paid no attention to it and made a rush on the works. The first move called forth a volley of shot from the guards and one Hungarian fell mortally wounded. The invaders turned and fled, carrying their wounded companion with them and leaving the plants in operation. About fifteen shots were fired.

It is said some were fired by the strikers, but they deny it and say it was an unprovoked assault upon them by the guards. The rioters returned to their place of rendezvous and are rapidly massing men for another attack. The greatest excitement prevails and a pitched battle of greater magnitude and with more serious results is expected.

The McClure company is determined and Superintendent Brennan has telegraphed Sheriff Wilhelm here to send on the next train fifty armed deputies with all the ammunition available. The sheriff is now swearing the deputies and they will go at once to the scene of the conflict. Sheriff McCann, of Westmoreland, was also telegraphed and arrived on the grounds at noon with a posse of deputies.

As soon as the deputies from here arrive they will be stationed at the three works, Painter, Donnelly and Mayfield, and any attempt on the part of the strikers to interfere with the plants or intimidate the workmen will result in a battle, and the deputies have been instructed to shoot to kill. The coke region is now in a more critical condition than at any time since the famous riots of 1891, when so many depredations and so much shooting was done.

The scene of the conflict has been transferred to the northern end of the region, where the workmen insist on remaining true to their employers, and all battles will be in that section. Tomorrow morning an immense mass meeting will assemble south of Uniontown and march from one end of the region to the other for the purpose of forcing a suspension everywhere. They will disband at Scottdale at the extreme north end.

Later, J. H. Paddock, chief engineer of the H. C. Frick company, was killed at Davidson, by a mob of strikers, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The mob, which numbered several hundred, marched on the works and demanded that the men come out.

Upon their refusal, an assault was made, during which a large stone was thrown at Paddock, striking him on the head and killing him instantly. The mob was then repulsed and marched away.

THE INDIAN APPROPRIATION.

Legislation to Keep Squaw Men Off the Reservations.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Material progress has been made by the Indian affairs sub-committee in the preparation of the annual Indian appropriation bill, though several more meetings will be necessary to complete it. Some radical changes, particularly in the reduction of the expenses for administering the affairs of the bureau, have been urged. One of them is to abolish the office of the Indian inspectors who receive $3000 per annum.

Amendments are proposed prohibiting on Indian reservations and on the government the plurality of Indian wives, or Indian plural cohabitation as it is called; providing that no white man marrying an Indian woman shall be permitted to reside with said wife on an Indian reservation under the charge of the government, or to reside upon a reservation and cohabit with an Indian woman; proposing that the school term of Indian children at reservation schools shall not exceed five years, and at the national industrial and training schools or at contract schools four years, and that where possible all national Indian schools shall embrace industrial education, and proposing that hereafter Indian pupils shall not be received at any national, industrial or contract schools from the six nations of New York and the five civilized tribes, unless tuition and support is paid by the Indians.

An amendment also pending for the abolishment of the Indian agencies at New York, Pueblo and Jicarilla reservations, N. M.; Mission, the river reservation, Calif.; Sac and Fox, Iowa; Nez Perce, Idaho; Siletz, Ore.; Neah Bay, Colville, Puallup, Tulalip and Yakima, Wash.; and San Juan, N. M.; a Pointe Minne, Round Valley and Hoopa Valley, Calif.; Umatilla, Warm Springs and Grand Ronde, Ore.; Sisseton, S. D.; Quappaw, I. T.; Oahe, O. T.; Omaha, Winnebago and Santee agencies, Neb.; Potawatomi and Great Nemaha, Kansas, and White Earth, Minn.

One of the crying needs of the Indian service is said to be a general law relating to right-of-way for ditch companies across Indian reservations. The Indian lands should, it is asserted, be given free water forever for the privilege. An amendment having this object in view was offered to the bill.

An attempt will probably be made to incorporate in the bill a clause enabling the secretary of the interior or commissioner of Indian affairs to pay taxes upon allotted lands, which under the law are exempt from taxation for twenty-five years.

The Angola will come straight back to Portugal and will not touch at any Brazilian port.

IS ON THE BACK.

Col. Breckinridge Being Sizzled on the Gridiron of Cross-examination By Judge Jere Wilson.

Denies That He Ever Made Protestsations of Love to Madeline But Only Talked Kindly.

Never Under Any Circumstances Did He Make a Proposal of Marriage to the Plaintiff.

He Deceived Mrs. Blackburn But Says It Was Part of an Arrangement With Madeline.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Col. Breckinridge looked extremely pale when he stepped to the witness stand this morning. The first question which Judge Wilson asked him was whether he had ever been in Goldsboro, to which he replied that he had been in the little hamlet once to make a speech at a barbecue, which he thought was in 1889 or 1888. He did not remember the colored woman who opened the door at 1878 H street the day after he took luncheon there in April (as heretofore testified to), nor having complimented her on the luncheon.

"Did you say to her that when you and Madeline went to keep house, you wanted her to come and cook for you?"

"That is entirely fanciful. I never said anything of the sort to any colored woman."

"Did she not say that she had been in service in that family a long time and did not want to leave?"

"No such conversation could have occurred."

Referring to the colonel's statement that he had made no protestsations of love to Miss Pollard on the occasion of that momentous carriage ride, when seduction is alleged to have occurred, Mr. Wilson asked him when he had first begun to talk to her affectionately.

"I never did make protestsations of love. I talked to her kindly, encouragingly, when she was depressed, endeavoring to get her to do something to make a place in the world for herself. I spoke solicitously to her, particularly when I first learned that she was pregnant by me, having the interest in her which a man might for a young unmarried woman who had such circumstances in her life, for which he felt that he was in a measure responsible, since their lives had become intertwined."

"There were no expressions of affection?"

"There were expressions of affectionate interest, but not such as could be construed into an intimation that our relations could be on a different basis than those which were."

"Then it was sort of business interest for her welfare?"

"Expressions of kindly interest."

"Works of the kind, expressions which might be understood by her to be expressions of love?"

Col. Breckinridge wished to draw the distinction between his expressions and demonstrations. He said there was nothing but a perfect understanding on their part of their relations, that they went to town and back together, and that a certain well understood purpose, they stayed there such a time as their pleasures or necessities demanded. "I took her in my arms and kissed her. These were all accompaniments of such a relation, which was carried out not coldly or brutally."

"There were no expressions of love on her part?"

"I could not say that. She was at times very demonstrative, at times otherwise."

"Your relations were those of lust rather than love?"

"I would not say that, for we met often at times, when physical intercourse was impossible. She was a young woman of considerable talents, sprightly and interesting."

Again Mr. Wilson led the colonel to repeat the distinction he drew between the injury to the young man and the destruction of a young woman from illicit relations.

"And do you think," he asked, "that a man is under obligations to prevent the destruction of a young woman?"

"Most assuredly I do, and if he does not he should be punished. I have had my punishment and am trying to take it without complaint."

Mr. Wilson asked when the subject of marriage had been first mentioned between them, to which the colonel replied that it was in September, 1892, when she first spoke of going to Berlin. He had told her that for many reasons, among them the disparity in their ages, that since he knew what he did of her relations to Rhodes, and that as she had bled him three years and thrown him away like a sucked orange, marriage between them was impossible.

"You had a contract as binding as hers to Rhodes?"

"Much more binding," replied the colonel, referring to his marriage.

Then Mr. Wilson got his affirmative answers to the questions that Miss Pollard had associated with the best families of Kentucky in the city, had lived in houses of the highest respectability and was a brilliant young woman.

"Your relations were carefully concealed," asked the attorney, "so that there were no impediments in that direction?"

"We had endeavored to conceal them, but they were known to several people."

"There was never from my own proposal of marriage?"

"Never under any circumstances," most emphatically.

"Then it was understood that you were to carry out the semblance of a marriage contract which you both understood was never to be fulfilled?"

"There was the semblance of a contract to be carried out before only one living person, and that person is Mrs. Governor Blackburn."

After more fencing the colonel stated that the contract before Mrs. Blackburn had been made to enable Miss Pollard to die out of his life and separate from Mrs. Blackburn. "And with a view to enabling her to die out of your life and Mrs. Blackburn's, you took her to Mrs. Blackburn and said you would place her under Mrs. Blackburn's care?"

"I did not. My recollection and the recollection of Mrs. Blackburn upon that point differ as to the meaning of my words."

"And you went to see Mrs. Blackburn again at once?"

"I went to see her several times afterwards."

"And you caressed the plaintiff in her presence as a part of that deception?"

"I did not caress the plaintiff. I will explain that."

"But what passed there was for the purpose of carrying out the deception?"

"Undoubtedly."

In further cross examination Mr. Wilson brought out the fact that in filling out the certificate of marriage of Mrs. Wing to Col. Breckinridge, it was made to appear that the marriage was the colonel's second whereas it was really his third; that he had asked Dr. Paxton not to make that marriage public, and that after his marriage with Mrs. Wing he stopped with her at a hotel in New York, registering as William C. Campbell and wife. Col. Breckinridge could not recall that at any time he had sent certain telegrams to Mrs. Blackburn.

Mr. Wilson then read the direct testimony of the colonel regarding the first interview with Mrs. Blackburn, upon which the colonel commented he told the whole truth about it. Then Mrs. Blackburn's testimony was read, and Mr. Wilson asked him if it had occurred to which he was alluding, that she had reflected it differently from the way he had said it, that she had construed his expressions of gratitude for what she had done in the past into requests for her protection in the future.

"Do you deny," asked Mr. Wilson, "that you said to Mrs. Blackburn 'I intend to marry this young woman when a sufficient time has elapsed after the death of my wife?'"

"My recollection is that nothing was said about my wife at that interview. Mrs. Blackburn seems to have confused that with a subsequent interview."

All Mrs. Blackburn's statements being read to him categorically, the colonel said that Mrs. Blackburn's recollection differed on all those points from his own. He denied that he had said that he was 31 years older than the plaintiff, and was sure that he had not said that she supposed he was foolish to marry a woman so much younger than himself. He was sure that Mrs. Blackburn must have confused things said by the plaintiff about the matter with what he had said, and must have put into her own language her understanding of his statements.

"I have no recollection of that," he said of Mrs. Blackburn's recital that on his second visit he had said that he noticed she was much shocked by the announcement of his engagement.

"I am sure I have no recollection of Mrs. Blackburn's statement that he was giving a poor return for all the devotion of his wife."

Col. Breckinridge's version of the conversation between himself and Mrs. Blackburn regarding the trip to Europe differed radically from that lady's, as did his memory of what she had said about being obliged to withdraw her protection from Miss Pollard unless they were more discreet in their conduct.

"That did not happen in that form and in that connection," he said, and his answer was substantially the same regarding his (Breckinridge's) requests that Mrs. Blackburn should go to New York with the plaintiff until they were married.

"I was urging her as far as I could without exciting her suspicion to get the young woman out of town. I endeavored to leave the impression on her mind all her in my arms and I was engaged. It may be used as a word, I was honestly endeavoring to carry out the contract with Miss Pollard to deceive her, and I do not blame Mrs. Blackburn for feeling a little acerbity."

"Do you deny that you told Mrs. Blackburn that you were not to marry Mrs. Wing?"

"I do most emphatically deny that I ever said that. Mrs. Blackburn gets the different conversations commingled. I cannot remember myself the exact words of conversations after a few weeks. The colonel was sure Mrs. Blackburn had not told him that if he had told Miss Pollard his intentions to Mrs. Wing were as she had represented, he was a villain. "I am sure Mrs. Blackburn did not use such an offensive word in her own parlance to a visitor. Mrs. Blackburn was a lady I have known for years and as a hostess she would not have said such a word."

ACCEPTED THE SCHEDULES.

The Northern Pacific Men Will Wait Until Good Times Come.

ST. PAUL, April 4.—The conference between the Great Northern conductors and the officials of the road has closed for the present, the committee having accepted the new schedules and gone home to submit the same to the men.

It is expected that the action of the committee will be approved by all the employees and that the new schedules will go into effect without objection, pending the arrival of good times, when the men hope for the restoration of wages.

THE FUSE HAS BROKEN.

A Dynamite Bomb Found in the Court House at Leadville.

LEADVILLE, Colo., April 4.—A dynamite bomb was found today in the court house. It was eight inches long and two and a half inches in diameter. The fuse had broken when it was nearly burned off, and this alone probably prevented an explosion.

The discovery caused intense excitement. The county commissioners immediately offered $1000 for the arrest of the person who placed the bomb there.

A "General" Has Deserted.

DENVER, April 4.—Forty men who left Denver to join Coxey have nearly all returned. The army now consists of five soldiers, an orderly sergeant and an adjutant. "Gen." Hamilton has apparently deserted.

Quantity and Quality!

"How Good"—that is one of the questions ever confronting the buyers of Dry Goods.

The other is "How Much." Some dealers continually harp upon the quality of their goods and try to give them a FICTITIOUS VALUE by asking an extraordinary price. Others talk quantity only and sacrifice worth and bulk.

Our plan is to give the best quality in the largest quantity—more goods and better goods for a dollar than any store at the Head of the Lakes.

THE BERING SEA BILL

It Will Be Rushed Through the House Without the Usual Delays Incident to Legislation.

The House Committee at Secretary Gresham's Request, Has Voted to Report the Senate Bill.

If Necessary a Special Rule Will Be Obtained to Make it the Immediate Order.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The Bering sea bill will be slipped through the house without the usual delays incident to legislation. Secretary Gresham was before the house committee on foreign affairs yesterday to urge the desirability of speedy action. The senate had just passed the bill presented by Mr. Morgan and in the opinion of the secretary this bill covered the case and time could be saved by its immediate adoption by the house. The house committee thereupon voted unanimously to report the senate bill.

Chairman McCreary then arranged to get the bill before the house at the earliest moment possible. Speaker Crisp was ready to recognize Mr. McCreary on the bill as soon as the pending election case was out of the way. It was also arranged with Representative Bland that his move to pass the seigniorage bill over the veto would give way long enough to pass the Bering sea bill. This appears to make the speedy passage of the bill certain. Yet Mr. McCreary fears the unanimous consent of the house necessary for advancing the bill may not be secured. In that event he is prepared to secure a special rule from the rules committee making the Bering sea rule the immediate order of business.

Secretary Gresham's talk with the committee did not indicate any uncertainty as to the satisfactory close of the negotiations with Great Britain. He looked upon it as desirable, however, that this country should fully execute the award of the Paris court of arbitration, as it could then be better able to insist that the other party to the arbitration should fully live up to the award.

THE REAL ESTATE MEN

Bill Nye Says They Have a Sad Time Waiting For the Clouds to Roll By.

Putting Up at a Hotel With Only One Towel a Day and Suffering Thereby.

Queer Experience of a Pleasant Voiced Man, Who Was Awakened From a Happy Dream.

(Copyright, 1894, by Edgar W. Nye.)

The real estate men are having rather a sad time of it waiting, waiting! Some of them this winter are having muskrat collars put on their linen shirts till the clouds roll by. In Full River a real estate man wanted me to come out and look at his addition. He had a fine team (in his wife's name), and so learning that I would save him fare by riding out that way and taking the train, I did so, conversing cheerily with him as we went.

I looked at the lots, but they were covered with snow, and I said I made it a rule to buy no real estate any more unless the snow was removed from it so that I could see what I was buying. The agent assured me that it was not a trouble to show goods, but I saw that I would miss my train if I did not go, and so, taking the matter under advisement, I had him drive me to the depot.

Handing me a fragrant cigar, he said I got on the car.

"We are not having a very good season selling dirt in Fall River this year. Whether it's the celebrated murder here last summer or not I don't know, but real estate is falling off a good deal. Over a year ago I was given a piece of property to sell on No. 2 conditions—that is, the lot was given to seven or eight of us to sell, and the first one who sold it was to have the benefit. Well, I never tried harder in my life to make a sale, but it was February of this year before I got a bite.

"I took the victim and his whole family in a victrola, filled up his coat and hands with perfumes and the children full of candy, and when we got out there I found a $5,000 house and barn on the lot and a nice middle aged man living there with a pair of twins that had grown on the place.

"The owner had got tired and sold the place himself last winter. If you hear of a man who wants a good faithful hand to carry live and things to a tame bear, I would like to accept a portfolio of that kind."

He then went swiftly down the frozen road to where his team was tied, meantime kicking debris from his path as he went. Real estate men generally are adding insurance, pensions and the setting and filing of saws this winter to their other work.

Still it is to be hoped that the spring-time and the opening up of business of all kinds under the beneficent and gold with perfumes and the children full of candy, and when we got out there I found a $5,000 house and barn on the lot and a nice middle aged man living there with a pair of twins that had grown on the place.

WHAT MAY BE DONE

Armour Harvey, a Well-Known Lake Man Tells What the Copeland Physicians Did For Him.

Lake men and business men generally will recognize in the name Armour Harvey a man well known in Duluth. The gentleman has sailed the lakes for the last twelve years, making Duluth his headquarters, residing at 100 West First street. He has, not unlike most residents of this city, been afflicted with a catarrh of the bladder. His catarrh began in 1874 and was a sinking rapid progress toward the stomach when he began treatment with the Copeland physicians. Recently Mr. Harvey said: "From the experience I have had with the Copeland physicians, I can say that I think their system of treating catarrh troubles is a good one and worthy of recommendation. Some time ago I placed myself under their care for treatment of catarrh of the bladder. The symptoms from which I suffered were terrible frontal headaches, a sense of oppression in the region of the eyes, mucus stopping up, noises in the ears, dropping of mucus in throat, hawking and spitting to clear away the accumulations of mucus, throat sore and irritable, I would gag and throw up easily. In fact my first visit my throat was so irritable that it would hardly admit of examination. Smoking would cause me much distress in the throat and occasionally caused vomiting. I didn't rest well at night, and arose in the morning with my throat full of mucus and feeling miserable generally.

"I had not begun treatment when I did I am sure I would now have a catarrh of the stomach from which the doctors say dyspepsia follows—I felt the food gradually working downward from the throat. I am convinced that I got the best of treatment from the Copeland physicians for it yielded the best of results. A special feature of their method is the low charge of $5 for a month, medicine and treatment both."

"I never saw her again! "As we moved out of the station my eye caught a fleeting glimpse of one of those long white pine boxes that the expressman had taken off our train and was wheeling away. I saw a part of the name, and it was so near like that on the card I still held that I asked the conductor if he knew what it was.

"Yes, he knew the party well. 'It was the body of the husband of the lady you sat with,' he said. 'She was bringing him here to be buried. She claims that he was murdered by a burglar night before last, but it is generally thought that she killed him with a hatchet. That was the sheriff who saw me here, and she is probably in jail by this time.'

"I rose and went forward to the smoking car for a few hours, and when my mind cleared I found that I had smoked up nine cigars and one whole side of my moustache.

"Sometimes I wake up in the night all cold and bathed in a flood of sweat, and I find myself in the middle of the floor as the old nightmarer has left them, in a kind of mare's nest, perhaps, and I shudder over the terrible dream that has come so often of this beautiful creature resting her seeking little hand over my glad eyes, when all at once I see the heavens through my closed lids and feel

NEW LIFE AND VIGOR

Last Evening's Meeting of the Duluth Boat Club Exhibited Renewed Enthusiasm and Interest.

Dr. Frank Lyman a Former Harvard Stroke Selected as Captain, a Most Fortunate Choice.

Annual Ball Will Be Given This Year as Usual—Full List of Officers Chosen.

The Duluth Boat club held its annual meeting last evening at the Spaulding and there was the largest attendance that has been seen at any annual meeting for several years. There was great interest exhibited and everything indicated that there will be a revival of boating enthusiasm this year. More than two hundred were present or represented by proxies.

The officers elected were as follows: President, F. W. Hoopes; senior vice president, J. P. Johnson; junior vice president, D. A. Burke; secretary, F. H. White; treasurer, W. P. Landner; trustees, J. C. Hunter, C. S. Davis and C. H. Thomson.

In the selection of captain the club made a most excellent choice and one which promises new life and vigor in the club. Dr. Frank Lyman, who has recently located here, was chosen. He is eminently fitted having been stroke of the Harvard crew and a member for several years. Enthusiastic and experienced as he is, he will infuse great activity and ambition into the club. J. D. Mahoney was chosen lieutenant and George Gibson, ensign.

The present membership is 176. At the beginning of last year there were 156 members and the record shows 134 admitted and 22 resigned or dismissed. The receipts for the year were $5632.58 and the disbursements, the same. The assets are $959.65 and the liabilities $797.84, leaving the club worth $880.81 over all debts.

Secretary White reported that this year's regatta is to be at Winnipeg if sufficient funds are obtained. This seems unlikely at present and in that case the Lurline of Minneapolis will probably carry it through holding it on Lake Huron.

The club will give a ball this year. The club feels that although it may not prove financially successful it will be unwise to omit it. The board of directors will arrange for it.

Seven members were admitted last evening and twelve applications are pending.

THE JOINT DEBATE.

Donnelly and Sims to Cross Swords at the Lyceum Next Week.

The announcement of the joint debate on the A. P. A. between Hon. Ignatius Donnelly and Professor Walter Sims for Thursday night, April 12, at the Lyceum is creating a good deal of gossip in both political and religious circles. There is no doubt about the magnitude of the crowd and if the theater was twice as large it would be packed to the roof.

Sims is famous in A. P. A. circles. His experience as a speaker at Apollon and Kaunika W. A. where he exhibited such nerve in addressing mass meetings after being threatened violence made him a hero to the A. P. A.ists. He is said to be a fine debater, well posted in Biblical history, and brings out many points that ordinary church men and politicians know nothing about. His fearlessness in "talking as he thinks" makes the event exceedingly interesting. The debate at Milwaukee on March 25 between Donnelly and Sims was attended by more than 3000 people and hundreds were turned away.

In the days when steamboats were the great means of transportation upon the Mississippi, Capt. Waters followed the river. Previous to that he had sailed upon the lakes. His first charge was a small vessel and then he took command of the schooner Alice, of Detroit. The Star of Hope, also of Detroit, was his next vessel, and then he went into the Santiago as part owner and master. The Santiago in her day was the finest vessel afloat.

After leaving the Santiago, Capt. Waters went as master of the schooner Scotia, of Buffalo. The latter was his last vessel. He next sailed as first officer in large steamers between Buffalo and Duluth. Afterwards he was employed by a hoisting company in Buffalo and for the last four or five years had lived ashore.

MEN WHO ARE ALWAYS BUSY

Paine's Celery Compound Brightens the Eye, Increases the Appetite, Restores Sleep, Regulates the Vital Organs.

Under the stress of social or business duties, or both, how few business men find time to properly repair the waste of excessive mental labor and close confinement.

The result of this neglect is plainly to be read in the care-worn, nervous faces and physical poverty of the average business man one meets.

Much so-called overwork of business men is the overwork of worry, care, anxiety, haste. These make the severest drafts on their vitality. Those who suffer from nervous debility, mental depression, sleeplessness, or dyspepsia, find Paine's celery compound a powerful restorative. It regulates the liver and kidneys, cleanses the blood, and feeds the nerves and nerve centers all over the body. Recovery from diseases of the liver, kidneys and stomach by the aid of Paine's celery compound is lasting. It is the greatest of all modern restorative agents.

Paine's celery compound is prescribed by physicians who differ in many other things, but agree in estimating highly this greatest of remedies for curing diseases of the kidneys, rheumatism, gout, dyspepsia, Bright's disease and stomach disorders due to a deranged nervous system.

The Library Report.

Annual Statement of the Directors to the City Council.

The annual report of the directors of the public library is as follows: The circulating department of the library was open 305 days during the year. The reading room 305 or each day in the year. The whole number of books issued was 91,441, volumes, showing an increase of 23,407 over last year. They embraced classes as follows:

General works, 2109; philosophy, 189; religion, 712; sociology, 1150; philology, 34; natural science, 1877; useful arts, 832; the arts, 1130; general, 768; poetry, 997; drama, 530; fiction, 70,430; essays, 545; oratory, 110; letters, 108; satire, 1205; geography and travel, 3735; biography, 2345; history, 3,233.

The average daily circulation was 291, a gain of 20 per cent over last year. Of the books issued $9,129 were from the main library and 4912 from the West End branch.

During the year 3195 new volumes, embracing the following classes, were added: General works 233; philosophy, 39; religion 145; sociology 200; natural science 234; philology 32; useful arts 112; fine arts 91; general works 80; poetry 47; drama 105; essays 15; oratory, 7; letters 26; Latin 16; miscellany 22; geography and travel 203; biography 207; history 314.

Of the books added 149 were gifts and 3016 were purchased; 2740 were circulating volumes and 455 were for reference; 3 were pamphlets and 3102 were bound; whole number of books accessioned 14,080; books withdrawn from library previous to March 1, 1894, 169 volumes. Books withdrawn during the month of April, 1894, 15 volumes. The number of books withdrawn from the library during the year 1893, 34 of which were burned through fear of contagion.

Users cards issued during the year, 2008; whole number of cards issued 79,699, making a gain of 501 over last year. In the central library there are 40 magazines and 2 newspapers. In the West End branch there are 18 magazines and 6 newspapers. In the Bethel reading room there are 45 magazines and 16 newspapers. The local papers donate copies to each reading room.

At a small expense to the library board for reading matter only, a reading room has been maintained at the Bethel. This is largely patronized by people who seldom visit the central library and it is considered one of the most useful departments of the library.

The experiment of the branch library at the West End has not met the expectations of the board, but the reports from that department for January and February are most encouraging. The directors realize that the public has just cause to complain of the accommodations at the central library. There is an urgent need of a larger reading room with better arrangements for ventilation; the stock room is already crowded and the shelves for reference books are full; but owing to the continued financial depression, it is deemed inexpedient to so largely increase expenses this season, as the rental of the additional room necessary for the required changes would involve.

NATIONAL GUARD MATTERS.

Maj. Price to Resign—Election of the New Company C Tonight.

There is a report that will interest every member of the national guard, to the effect that Maj. W. W. Price will resign. There appears to be some ground for the report, for the major has been a long time in the South, where he is superintendent of the construction of a street railway line, and he must necessarily be absent for a long time to come. His resignation would therefore be a matter of propriety under the circumstances. The next officers in rank are Capt. E. S. Lean, of St. Paul, and Capt. D. Digges, of Minneapolis.

Some of the changes that have taken place in the Third regiment are as follows: In Company F, promoted from corporal to sergeant, Corporals Kidder and Egeland; from private to corporal, Maynard, Goss, Staples and Calvert. In Company A, Privates Cary, Haginson and Summatt to be corporals.

An election has been ordered in the new Duluth Company C, to be held this evening. There are three commissioned officers to be chosen: Maj. Braden will preside at the election.

Gen. Gray, the inspector general, is now a resident of Chicago, and from that point will make out the list for the inspection of the companies of the guard. His residence in that city will not prevent him from coming to Minnesota for the purpose of the annual inspection, but if he continues to live there he will, it is believed, hardly expect to be reappointed inspector.

The resignation of Lieut. Estabrook, of Company G, of the Third, has been accepted and he is honorably discharged from the service. Lieutenant Nathan F. Woodman has been transferred from F. of the First, to F. of the Third.

John Quist, of G. of the First, has been transferred to the band of the Third. Col. Shawdrew, of the Third, has leave of absence for a trip to Excelsior Springs, Mo., where he has gone to be treated for a severe attack of rheumatism.

Governor Nelson, Gen. Bend and other prominent citizens, including the staff of the Third regiment, have received invitations, for the dinner to be given by Company F, of Fergus Falls, on the evening of April 6. Elaborate preparations are under way and the members of the company are looking forward to the affair as a social beginning of an annual social gathering.

Tea Plants in Florida.

To Editor of The Herald: If allowed space I will give a short sketch of our beautiful Japan tea plants. They are in full bloom here and are certainly a pretty sight with their thousands of lovely white tea flowers, which are as sweet-scented as the foliage. The foliage is pretty, the glossy green tea leaves do not look much like the imported article which we prize so much for table use. ### RIOTOUS HUNS.

Armed Bodies of Strikers in the Coke Region Assembling to Attack Works in Operation.

The Excitement is Now Intense and More Bloodshed and Destruction of Property is Feared.

Deputy Sheriffs Guard the Plants and Have Orders to Shoot or Arrest All Rioters.

The Arrest of President Davis of the Mine Workers at Uniontown Bewilders the Strikers.

SCOTTSBURGH, Pa., April 5.—The entire coke region is in a high state of excitement today and fears of more bloodshed and destruction of property are entertained. From all points come reports of armed bodies of strikers assembling for the purpose of marching on works still in operation. In this section all the plants are running but the Painter works of McClure & Co.

The strikers visited the works last night and remained with the men until daylight. The workmen, with few exceptions, are willing to work, but are afraid. Sheriff Wilhelm is still busy arresting strikers who participated in yesterday's riot in which Chief Engineer Padlock was killed. He now has 125 men safely behind the bars at Connelville.

About thirty of the mob were surrounded in a house at Vanderbilt today, but they refused to surrender. While making the arrests the deputies were compelled to fire on the mob. It is reported that the bodies of six men were found on the road to Adelaide, the direction in which the mob fled.

Four hundred strikers camped near here last night and at 9 o'clock started for Mount Pleasant to visit the works along the line. Sheriff McCann has from 25 to 125 deputies at each of the plants and serious trouble may be expected. The deputies are well armed and have orders to arrest or shoot any one guilty of a misdemeanor. Many of the workmen are also armed, so that the mob will be certain to receive a warm reception.

A crowd of 600 is marching on Mount Braddock and another mob of nearly 1000 is on the way to Lemont and Oliver. After stopping work at Hill Farm and the Adelaide, they will cross the river to attack Braddock. The mob is said to consist of Connelville citizens forming to prevent them getting across the river.

THE STRIKE MAY COLLAPSE.

The Arrest of the Leader of the Movement Has Rattled the Men.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 5.—The arrest of President L. R. Davis, of the local mine workers' association, and his lodging in the jail here today has placed the strikers in a state of bewilderment throughout the region, and the abandonment of the strike within the next twelve hours is being predicted. President Davis is charged with murder and therefore cannot be released on bail.

A mob of 1200 rioters, out of which Davis was taken, camped last night in the woods near Scottsdale and did not make a move during the night. They had planned an attack on the Moyer works of A. J. Rainey, of Vanderbilt, but the absence of a leader caused them to abandon the idea.

They will not move today until a meeting of delegates from all parts of the region can be held. They fully expected Davis to return to the map out of a plan of operation, but now a new leader must be chosen or the movement will fall flat. There is general consternation in the ranks of the strikers and many are in favor of giving up the fight. There are now ninety-five rioters in jail here and these are the leaders in the movement.

The only place depredations are being committed is at Braddock plant of W. J. Rainey, near DuBar, where about 500 of the marauders are assembled. They have destroyed some property about the plant, but no encounter is feared since the workmen will not attempt to enter the mine until the mob is dispersed.

The ovens were charged last night and are burning. At Hill Farm the men returned and are being guarded by fifty deputies. In other parts the situation is unchanged. The murder of J. H. Padlock has turned public sentiment against the strikers.

EIGHT DEAD HUNGARIANS.

The Bodies of Eight Murdered Men Found in the Woods.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 5.—At 10 o'clock the bodies of eight Hungarians were found in some woods near Dawson by some boys who were going across the fields to school. The men were found lying in different sections of the woods and all had bullet holes through their bodies and were more or less beaten up. Where they came from or by whom they were killed is yet a question, and the discovery is the sensation of the day in the coke region.

It is supposed these Hungarians were shot yesterday afternoon by deputies during an attack on the Braddock works and crawled out into the woods to die. In the conflict at these works there were volleys of shots fired and one Hungarian was killed outright during the attack. The bodies found have been identified as members of this mob. They are still lying in the woods and the authorities refuse to care for them until the mob is dispersed. The Hill Farm mines were overrun by a horde of the strikers and the workmen driven from the grounds despite the fact that deputies were on guard. The works are now closed down. The mob of men who camped last night near Scottsdale moved up the Mount Pleasant branch and attempted to force the men out at all the works from Dawson to Mount Pleasant. This includes the Moyer plant, where a fight has been scheduled for the past few days with 150 deputies standing guard there.

They stopped at Westoverton, near the Bessemer mines, and about half a dozen speeches were made. Near there they were met by Sheriff McCann and 100 armed deputies, who warned them not to trespass on the companies' grounds or interfere with work of the men. All the roads to the Moorewood and Alice mines are guarded by deputies and the strikers cannot reach these except by way of the Mount Pleasant road on which the famous battle of 1891 was fought and in which seven strikers were killed. The mob is marching to Mount Pleasant.

Alexander Markey was today made president of the organization of mine workers, the notorious anarchist, and John Picken, who is in jail on a charge of murder. Markey has been identified with all previous strikes and stands well with the strikers. He announces that the movement will be pushed and that no stone will be left unturned to force a suspension everywhere. He says the strikers will win the contest.

At 12:30 today District Attorney Jeffries made informal charges against Secretary Daniel Darby, of the association, on a charge of murder. Darby was at the time attempting to get bail for Davis and was arrested and lodged in jail.

Anarchists Arraigned.

LONDON, April 5.—Charles Meunier, the notorious anarchist, and John Picken, who is in jail on a charge of murder, were arraigned at the low street police court today. The first named was charged with being connected with the explosion at the cafe Vary in Paris, by which the proprietor of that establishment lost his life.

Picken was charged with being a suspicious character, possibly connected with an anarchist conspiracy. Both prisoners for removal.

WORE A SHEEPISH AIR.

The Crowd at the Pollard-Breckinridge Trial Smaller Today and Those Present Looked Sheepish.

Miss Pollard Was Called By the Defense and Questioned About Her Second Child's Birth.

She Had Been Reading Carlyle and Named it From a German Character of His.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Judge Bradley's admonitions of the night before had the effect of reducing the attendance at the circuit court today to the thinnest audience yet gathered and some of the men present wore a sheepish air.

The defense made an unexpected move by calling Miss Pollard to the stand and questioning her about the birth of her second child, which she said was born at noon on Feb. 3, 1888. "I only held it in my arms two hours, according to my promise to him," she began.

"Now, now, Miss Pollard," Mr. Butterworth began nervously, warning Miss Pollard with great solicitude to confine herself to answering his questions. Mr. Wilson also admonished her.

The child had been taken to the Protestant foundling asylum on Fourteenth street in Washington where she had visited it with Dr. Mary Parsons once. She continued: "I gave it a little German name. I pinned a note on its clothing so they could name it. I was reading Carlyle, and I named from a character of his Dietz Carlyle—a name as far as possible from that of Col. Breckinridge or my own."

The second time she saw the child was on May 3 at Wright's undertaking establishment before it was buried. When Mr. Butterworth asked how the funeral expenses had been paid she said that Mrs. Parsons had looked after that, she supposed Col. Breckinridge paid them, but when Mrs. Parsons was recalled to the stand they could ask her.

"That's all, Miss Pollard," said Mr. Butterworth, dismissing her and then he asked about her child and had spoken in a low, almost plaintive tone. "I don't know much about these things, you know, Mr. Butterworth," she said, "but he was asking her about the regulations of the foundling asylum."

Some time was passed waiting for Dr. Parsons and when she came she was the cause of the delay. He was told by Mr. Shelby that the defense wished to further cross-examine her about matters she had testified upon for the plaintiff, and which they had omitted to ask her about. The plaintiff's lawyers thought this was a rather unusual procedure, but they were not disposed to press objections.

Pending the arrival of Dr. Parsons, a middle aged lady with spectacles, who had been sitting in court, was called. She announced her name as Mrs. Little, said she was employed in the census bureau and in 1888 had been matron of the Washington foundling asylum on Fourteenth street. The record of the asylum for that year being shown her she identified the record of a child brought there by a large colored woman which had a paper pinned on its clothing. A slip of paper which she thought had come on the clothing was pasted in the book.

EX-PRISIE SLATTERY AGAIN.

He and His Wife Were Nearly Mobbed in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—For a while last night it looked as if ex-prisier Slattery and his wife would be the central figures of a battle of religious factions. Slattery was billed to lecture in Odd Fellows hall on "Why Priests Do Not Wed."

The hall was crowded and on the outside fully 2000 people gathered. Cries of "lynch him," "hang him" and "kill him," went up. During the lecture Slattery received a note stating that a mob was waiting for him outside, but he said he was not afraid.

When the lecture was over, members of the A. P. A. formed a guard about the ex-prisier's carriage. When the lecture and his wife appeared, they were hoisted and jeered by the crowd. Guarded by the A. P. A. men they entered the carriage and were driven at a gallop through the crowd. The mob attempted to follow but was distanced.

A RIOT IN TORONTO.

The Queen's Own Charged on a Mob of One Thousand Toughs.

TORONTO, April 5.—The Queen's Own, Toronto's best regiment, held its first spring parade last night. Over 1000 toughs gathered at the doors of the new armory near the Queen's park and endeavored to block the entrances. A detachment of the regiment was ordered to clear a passage, and a sharp and decisive fight followed, in which several of the military and a good many more of the mob were wounded. The toughs threw bricks and stones and the soldiers whacked the toughs right and left with the butts of their rifles. A strong force of police shortly appeared on the scene and the mob fled in disorder.

THE MUDDLE IN DENVER.

Waite Wanted the Fire and Police Boards Made Populist Machines.

DENVER, April 5.—Another step was taken in the fire and police board muddle yesterday when Attorney General Engley filed the complaint in the quo warranto proceedings. Attorneys for both sides are anxious to know whether the court will admit evidence to show that Governor Waite was influenced by political motives in removing Orr and Martin.

If allowed, Orr and Martin will testify to conferences with the governor with reference to making the two departments more thoroughly Populist machines, and will endeavor to show that their refusal was the real reason for the governor's attack. The governor will deny this and attempt to show that Orr and Martin were guilty of active violation of the law. Around the city hall the trouble is thought to be over. The mayor is urging the arrest and prosecution of the persons who placed large quantities of dynamite in the city hall, sufficient having been secured to warrant the arrest of certain parties.

BRIDGE BILLS PASSED.

The Duluth & Superior Rice's Point Bill and the Grassy Point Bill Passed the House.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—[Special to The Herald.]—After many unsuccessful attempts two bills for bridging the St. Louis river at Duluth have finally passed the house. Today Representative Baldwin called up the bill for the Duluth & Superior company, and Representative Updegraff, who objected before to the consideration of this bill, being absent, it was passed by unanimous consent.

Mr. Haugen then called up his bill for the bridge at Grassy Point, and it also went through. No opposition whatever is anticipated for these bills in the senate, and they will probably be put through that body immediately.

The Winnipeg Boat club men are wealthy and are true sportsmen and will hardly let the regatta slip in that manner.

FOUND F. W. KING GUILTY.
Judge Powell concludes that the Employment
Did Destroy Evidence.

Late this forenoon F. W. King, the employment agent, was tried in the municipal court on a charge of destroying evidence. It will be remembered that the complaint was made some days ago by Axel Engstrom, who alleges that King gave him a letter to a camp, ordering that he be given a job at cutting wood but that he was unable to find any such position. He further alleged that when he approached King in the matter, that gentleman got possession of the letter and tore it to pieces.

King testified in his own behalf, after which Judge Powell announced that he had found King guilty. The defendant's attorneys, Smith, McMahon & Mitchell then took a stay of proceedings until April 16, presumably for purposes of appeal.

"I go to the butcher every morning to buy my own meat and this is what I slice it off with," he exclaimed. Later on he grabbed a boot-black's brushes and attempted to pawn them for a drink in a saloon. The boy hunted up a policeman and the disorderly Senegambian was locked up.

"Boston" Is Still Alive.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Ross, of Rainy Lake City, came down from the Iron Range today on his way to Grand Rapids with a witness in the late shooting scrape in the new Eldorado. Contrary to reports, "Boston" O'Brien is still alive and when Mr. Ross came away the wounded man was feeling some better. There are good chances for his recovery if incompetent medical attendants do not get in their deadly work. Up to date no attempts to find the ball have been futile and of course inflammation may set in and do its worst at any time.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY.

An Ex-Kansas City Alderman Who Has Been at Rainy Lake City.

John McClintock of Kansas City, Mo., came down from Rainy Lake City last night and will be in Duluth for a few days. February 10, Mr. McClintock left Kansas City with a stock of merchandise which he rushed through to the new Eldorado. He recently sold out to a good financial advantage and now will plan some other move, after which he will, in all likelihood return to the land of gold.

Mr. McClintock has made his home "at the mouth of the Kaw" for 15 years, for a number of years was a member of the council and at one time was president of that body. At one time he planned an eleven mile boulevard to circle Kansas City, but property holders stood in the way and the enterprise has not yet been consummated.

In 1880 the city council and the mayor of Kansas city were less harmonious than ex-Mayor d'Auteourt and Duluth's old council. At that time, Mayor Davenport seemed unable to make a move unless advised by Col. Lawrence, managing editor of the Kansas City Journal. One night Mr. McClintock got up and said:

"We have a mayor who instead of letting the latch string of his office door hang outside, keeps it on the inside. Yes, worse than that, there's a lock on the door and to get the combination, any citizen who wishes to try must go to the corner of Tenth and Walnut streets."

That was the site of the journal building and the laugh which went up after the alderman's remark was equalled only by the applause that attends one of Alderman Cox's eloquent defenses of the West End.

Mr. McClintock is in the real estate business and says that since he left home, there has been an unexpected upward tendency in Kansas City realty, which is as welcome as unexpected. He will, however, give a good deal of attention to Rainy Lake City and the region round about this summer, for he believes "there's millions in it."

JENNISON IS ASTUTE.

How the War Department Was Convinced That the St. Louis and Cloquet Rivers are Navigable.

An Old Barge Fitted up With a Thrashing Machine Engine Once Passed These Streams.

Maj. Sears Must Now Prevent The Minnesota Canal Company from Interfering With These Waters.

It was with considerable surprise and some amazement that people read last evening in the statement made in The Herald regarding the Altamonte Water company that the war department some time ago assumed jurisdiction of the St. Louis and Cloquet rivers as navigable waters. The St. Louis has always been navigable and under the supervision of the government as far as Fond du Lac but it was never known to be above that point, in such sense at least as the government interprets the word.

The history of how the war department reached this decision is interesting and proves E. S. Jennison, the Chicago engineer who is promoting the Altamonte company, to be a very astute and strategic man. He not only made a great stroke for his own company, but he placed a great stumbling block in the way of the Minnesota Canal company. The latter may be able to get it out of the way but it will take some time and trouble to do it.

In December last Maj. Sears was advised by the war department that the Altamonte Water company had applied for permission to build two dams in the St. Louis river and one in the Cloquet, and was asked for a report. He replied that the St. Louis river as far up as Fond du Lac was under the department's jurisdiction, but farther than that was not a navigable stream. The government can, however, where it has partial supervision over a stream, prevent interference at any point that will affect its navigable portion. Sears, therefore, gave in his report that as to the condition of the navigable portion of the stream, the volume of water and the probable effect of the building of such dams. He advised that if the government saw fit to grant the permission asked, that it be made revocable and that the government assume responsibility for damage to property not any liability whatever.

This report was approved by Gen. Poe at Detroit and the chief engineer who made the further endorsement that he knew of no law allowing the department to give permission to dam a navigable stream. The report then went to the judge advocate general. He made a report which gave Maj. Jennison a bright idea and he seized upon it at once. The rivers must be proven to be navigable waters, and Mr. Jennison determined to show that they were.

He came to Duluth post haste. He carefully concealed his presence here, refraining from registering at the hotel and going about stealthily and with greatest caution. The lieutenant Maj. Sears had received copies of the endorsements by the chief engineer and judge advocate general. There also came a request—presumably from the judge advocate—for further information as to the navigability of these rivers.

Jennison knew this. In a few hours after his arrival he was on snow shoes bound for the upper waters of the rivers. There he stumbled on to some valuable information and came back in high glee. He secured an affidavit from H. W. Baker of Floodwood. This affidavit was to the effect that in the summer of 1892 a steamboat navigated on these rivers. The boat was being built when the Missabe road was being built and an old barge was fitted up with a thrashing machine engine and was used to carry supplies up the river as far as Floodwood. It proved to be an unsuccessful venture and was later abandoned and the boat dismantled. The boat drew about three feet of water and carried five or six tons. It was a rude craft and was only for temporary use. Little did the projectors think what great consequences should result from their crude attempt to navigate the stream.

The affidavit made by Mr. Baker, reported the existence of his boat and its career and present grave. It stands now at Floodwood only a ghost of its former self and with but little prospect of ever again rolling on the bowels of the great St. Louis. Another affidavit was procured by Mr. Jennison from George R. Stunt showing the character of the streams.

These were presented to Maj. Sears. He made a report to the government that in his opinion the rivers were not navigable, except in so far as nearly every stream of any size is. Boats of light draft and light burden may be employed for short distances.

Mr. Jennison hurried back to Washington and the department took a different view of the situation. In the minds of the department chiefs this small boat was conclusive proof that the rivers are navigable and they were at once proclaimed to be under the jurisdiction of the department. Strange to say, the department immediately afterward took means to obstruct navigation by granting Mr. Jennison's company permission to build the three dams.

Decidedly Mr. Jennison has been the best of them.

and his acuteness is to be admired if not encouraged. It is now Maj. Sears' duty, if the Minnesota Canal company attempts to interfere with these navigable rivers, to enjoin and prevent it from so doing in the name of the great Uncle Sam. This company will undoubtedly take steps to knock out the department's decision and will hardly sit down and tamely submit. There is fun ahead.

Locations Being Taken Up in the Canadian Rainy Lake Region.

H. DeQuincy, Sewell, A. Longbeed and James McCallum, Ontario and Dominion land surveyors, during last fall and January and February of this year, were engaged in locating gold mining claims on the La Seine river, says a Winnipeg paper.

The La Seine river flows into Rainy lake. Many locations for gold and magnetic iron ores are now taken up there, and at least one gold vein is being developed by Fort William capitalists. The ores from these veins average all round from $33 to $43, even where no gold is visible. This tract is now being taken up rapidly. It is fairly well timbered and when navigation opens, lively times are anticipated in this section generally. Some 20,000 acres in this section of Minnesota will probably be blocked out by Americans, but the most eligible mining lots are owned by Canadians.

The Port Arthur Herald says: Rainy Lake City is going to be the metropolis of the northern part of Minnesota, and we look to see a town there this fall of 1893, in 44 degrees 2 minutes west longitude and 91 degrees 6 minutes north latitude. The bottle and contents have therefore drifted about east by north some 100 miles in 125 days, an average of 13 miles a day. Another bottle message, thrown from the same ship as the one which came ashore at Barvas, was washed ashore at Locher, South Uist, on Feb. 25. It was thrown overboard on Dec. 8, 1893, in 52 degrees 46 minutes north latitude and 59 degrees 17 minutes west longitude, so that it traveled 17 miles on its journey of nearly 1500 miles. The Barvas message may have been ashore some days before it was received. These experiments made by the hydrographic department of the United States navy to determine the velocity and direction of various Atlantic currents.

Recovered From His Injuries.

A Virginia dispatch to The Herald on March 13 said H. A. Durkee was badly cut by a Finlander in a row arising from a dispute about paying for drinks at a bar. Durkee was in the city yesterday and has fully recovered. His injuries were not received in a row about drinks but in a row about the playing of the role of the good Samaritan and endeavoring to get a man home while the latter was intoxicated.

Related Their Experiences.

The Ladies' union of the Pilgrim Congregational church gave an evening social last evening in the church parlors and each lady related her experiences in earning a dollar for the union, each having been requested to do so. Many were amusing. A short program was given. Miss Tupper sang a spring song, Mr. Hunt "Sleep Well," and Miss Barvas gave a piano solo. The Wood brothers gave a duet on harmonica and bones.

Looking After the Lights.

Commander Mead of the United States navy, inspector of lighthouses with headquarters at New York, was in the city yesterday looking after the range lights, and to see how the ice of this winter has affected the clusters of piles, on which the beacons are stationed. Two or three will be moved, it having been found that they can be more advantageously located.

The High School Athletic association selected officers yesterday afternoon for the preliminary field day to be held on May 12. They are: N. S. Murphy, starter; H. T. Abbott, referee; W. Edson and Martin Watrous, judges of finish. Mar. in Watrous and David Burbank were elected judges for the Minneapolis field day.

DO YOU SLEEP ENOUGH?

If Not Something is the Matter and it Needs Attention.

Nothing is so important as sleep. If for any reason you do not get enough sound sleep, you are sapping the vitality from your nerves and laying the foundation for the most dreaded nervous diseases. Many things prevent sleep, such as weak nerves, nervousness, worry, indigestion, overwork or strain upon the nerves. Thousands of people become sleepless and have weak nerves and weak bodies and yet do not call themselves exactly sick. Still they are out of order, nervous and have no ambition for work or pleasure. You need the great spring medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will make you well.

Mr. Frank E. Bacon, of 7 Dyer avenue, Arlington, N. I., writes the following letter telling how he was cured of the horrors of sleeplessness:

"For over a year I suffered terribly with sleeplessness, indigestion, nervousness and debility. At night sleep would not come to me. I would get up in the morning and go to work fully as tired as I would go to bed the night before. Every morning I had that same tired and broken-down feeling that I had the day before."

"I would toss and turn in bed, but could not get a night's rest. I had indigestion, a sour stomach, my food distressed me constantly. I could eat hardly anything. Life seemed a burden to me and I was completely discouraged. I was obliged to be obliged to give up work entirely."

"Many remedies were recommended to me and I tried them, but could see no benefit. I recently recovered from a severe attack of the grippe and on getting around again determined to get rid of these terrible diseases, indigestion, sleeplessness and nervousness."

"I have now used four bottles and feel like a different man. I can rest at night and I really enjoy eating my meals. I attribute my cure entirely to Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is a most splendid and wonderful medicine."

"I don't know what would have become of me if it had not been for this remarkable remedy. I heartily recommend it to everyone, knowing what it has done for me. No such medicine was ever made before."

Are you nervous, restless, sleepless and have wakened, disturbed nights? If so, you are in danger, and the only thing for you to do is to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will surely and positively cure you, give you natural sleep and make you well. This is the best time to take it as medicine always acts best in the spring. It is used and recommended by physicians, as it is the discovery of the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. Dr. Greene, at 35 West Fourteenth street, New York city. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

Dry Goods Company Meeting.

The Duluth Dry Goods company held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon and elected as president, H. H. Hanford, secretary, Warren Mendenhall; treasurer, W. Mendenhall and manager, R. J. Watson. The company decided to begin an aggressive policy at once and will push business in the future. The statement that it would remove to the building formerly occupied by the Duluth Crockery company was incorrect.

Illusion, mercantile trick or sale trick, conjured by an advertiser, sometimes proves successful for a day.

But this selling of the very best of standard goods at a visible sacrifice is the fact that increases the selling to such magnitude.

How the War Department Was Convinced That the St. Louis and Cloquet Rivers are Navigable.

An Old Barge Fitted up With a Thrashing Machine Engine Once Passed These Streams.

Maj. Sears Must Now Prevent The Minnesota Canal Company from Interfering With These Waters.

It was with considerable surprise and some amazement that people read last evening in the statement made in The Herald regarding the Altamonte Water company that the war department some time ago assumed jurisdiction of the St. Louis and Cloquet rivers as navigable waters. The St. Louis has always been navigable and under the supervision of the government as far as Fond du Lac but it was never known to be above that point, in such sense at least as the government interprets

THE MUNICIPAL COURT.

Wagner, of Dynamite Fame, Has a Man Arrested for Grand Larceny.

In police court this morning poor old Frank Wright was sent up for vagrancy for the forty-ninth time. Tommy Low was too full of beer to plead intelligently, so he was left in his cell until the afternoon session. Charles Forbes spent the night in jail as the result of drunkenness, but he was released without an appearance before his honor.

Charles Falkenstein was arraigned on the charge of grand larceny in the second degree. He is a blacksmith and has some business relations with Ed Wagner, the fellow who nearly blew his whole family and house into heaven with a stick of dynamite a few weeks ago. Wagner made the complaint and alleges that Falkenstein collected money to the amount of $400 on March 21 and that he had failed to satisfactorily account for the same. The examination will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon G. Orekovsky pleaded guilty to assault in the third degree and was fined $1 and costs. The defendant runs a little tailor shop on Superior street and in the course of events he got it into his head that Polinsky, the complainant in the assault case, unjustly took from him one of his customers. A small war ensued between the two and before it ended the aggrieved tailor smote Polinsky hip and thigh.

THE DISTRICT COURT.

Business Being Rushed as it Never Has Been Before in the History of the County.

More Than One Hundred and Twenty-five Men on Duty Yesterday as Jurors or Witnesses.

Jury Has Not Yet Had an Opportunity to Fix the Value of Kate Davis' Trunk.

Never before in the history of St. Louis county has the work of a term of court been prosecuted as vigorously as the present. Yesterday, the second day of the court, three jury cases were on and sixty-one petit jurors were present.

The grand jury, twenty in number, was at work and forty-five witnesses were on hand to appear before it. This made 125 men on duty at the court house besides lawyers, witnesses in civil cases, etc. It is probable that the jury calendar will be cleared next week.

The case of Kate Davis vs. Northern Pacific road is still on trial and is dragging somewhat. The plaintiff claims the trunk and contents lost to have been $325 of which $190½ belonged to her, and she sues for the latter amount.

The jury in the case of Justin Wentworth et al. vs. Davis, York & Co., retired this morning and Judge Lewis took up the case of George F. Mackenzie vs. Phoenix Manufacturing company vs. same, and adjourned for lack of jurors.

Before Judge Moer the case of William McGilvery vs. John Sorenson has been on trial all yesterday afternoon and this morning. The plaintiff claims to have contracted to work on the defendant's tug during 1893 and that the defendant failed to employ him. He sues to recover.

The following cases were continued: J. G. Howard vs. Duluth Driving Park association, W. F. Gore vs. Buckeye Mining company, Everett Totman vs. Iron Range Brewing company, Hawser & Sout Maltng company vs. same, and Howe Lumber company vs. same.

Judgment was entered by stipulation in D. R. Noyes et al. vs. Sellick et al. A. E. McManus vs. W. P. Strickland, and A. E. McManus vs. J. H. Harris et al.

Indictments have been returned against the following: Marco Matakovich, manslaughter in first degree; J. P. Herman, grand larceny in second degree; Richard Bowden, two counts of grand larceny in the second degree and burglary in the second degree; John McCune, grand larceny in the second degree and burglary in the second degree; William Munro, burglary in the third degree.

Knocked Down and Robbed.
About 2 o'clock this morning, Malcolm McKay, while wrestling with a good sized jag, was held up by robbers on Second street, near Eighth avenue west and relieved of about $25 in cash. Capt. Thompson, who resides in that neighborhood, heard the victim's cries, and ran out, but the bad men had flown. McKay was painting the town and pouring out liberal libations last night and was in a poor condition to observe his assailants, hence he could give no satisfactory description of them. He sustained several scalp wounds. No arrests had been made up to the noon hour.

If W. William Wright, a prospector, or anyone knowing his address, will write to Fred Keller, 14 Cherry street, Cleveland, Ohio, he will do a great favor.

CLARK CASE GOES OVER.

Will Not be Considered Until the Next Meeting of the Board.

The county commissioners did not come to any decision in Thomas Clark's case this morning but decided to carry it over until the next meeting. This action was unanimously agreed on.

The committee on poor and poor farm reported that A. F. Rockwell has assumed charge of the poor farm and A. Poirier has retired. The latter, the committee report, says he has been a gentlemanly, straightforward and business-like officer and has served with credit to himself and the county.

School District No. 28 has been organized in the town of Culver. A petition for the organization of township 57-21 was referred to the county attorney. John Helmer was appointed assessor for unorganized townships.

The monthly report of the superintendent of poor shows the total expenses for county for the month, $3131.39. There were 1012 applications for aid and 135 visits by the superintendent and his assistant; 390 orders for provisions given, aggregating $1568; fuel to the amount of $148.50; clothing, $53.40; burials, $31.17; transportation, $107.04. The hospital expenses were, St. Mary's, $611.71; St. Luke's, $353.61; Maternity hospital, $115.21. During March there were forty-two patients in the hospitals.

The poor farm report shows 54 inmates on March 1; 13 admitted during the month and 17 discharged, leaving 50 on April 1. The total expenses were $68.50. The per capita cost is figured at 80 cents per week.

Dr. Sherwin's report as county physician shows that on March 1 there were 42 cases in the hospital; 27 were admitted during the month, 28 were discharged and 1 died leaving 43 in the hospital April 1. There were 84 cases investigated, 64 visits made to the hospital, 3 to the jail, 94 private addresses and 48 office cases.

Smith, superintendent of county roads, reports $504.32 expended on the Crane Lake road up to April 1.

Amos Shepherd reports receipts, $260.31 and expenditures $28.46, leaving $231.85 turned over to the county treasurer.

Yesterday afternoon the judges of the city election held in bills for carrying duplicate copies of the returns to the county auditor, the same as in case of a general election. The assistant county attorney advised against paying them. The attorney general will be asked for an opinion.

STRIKE IS OVER.

The Rioters From Both Sections of the Coke Field Have Laid Down Their Arms.

Movement Was a Miserable Failure and Not a Single Point Gained by the Men.

The Companies Now Starting Their Work With English-Speaking Workmen, Excluding the Foreign Element.

All the Works in the Northern End in Full Operation and Others Getting Ready.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 6.—The strike is over, and ignominious defeat marks its collapse. Within the past six hours the rioters from both sections of the coke field have laid down their arms and gone peacefully to their homes. The movement was a miserable failure and not a point was gained by the men. They are in a worse condition now than before, as the companies are starting their work with English speaking workmen, to the exclusion of the foreign element. All the works in the southern end of the region are either running or preparing to start up between this and Monday, while those in the northern end are in full operation.

PEACE REIGNS ONCE MORE. But the Strikers Do Not Think the Strike Is Broken.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 6.—Peace once more reigns throughout the coke regions, but no one can tell how long this condition of affairs will continue. The operators say the backbone of the strike has been broken and the end is only a few days ahead. The Frick officials of Scotland report everything quiet at their plant, and they do not fear any more trouble.

Similar reports come from Rainey's general offices at Vanderbilt. None of the Frick plants are in operation owing to the death of Chief Engineer Paddock, but they will be fired up tomorrow or Monday. Many of their plants were charged with coke when Paddock was killed and this coke is being drawn as soon as it is burned. No miners are working at any of the plants.

Of the Rainey works, Mount Bradock and Elm Grove are idle. Moyer, Rainey, Paul and Fort Hill are in operation, the two latter having been fired up today. Lemont Nos. 1 and 2 are the only plants of the McClure Coke company now idle that were in operation before the strike began. Cochran & Sons fired up their Clarissa and Nellie works today.

Although the operators say the strike is ended, they are preparing for possible outbreaks at any time. The Rainey officials ordered a large body of deputies from their Moyer works to the Vanderbilt region. Others will be stationed at Elm Grove and near the Paul and Fort Hill works, ready to suppress any violence that may occur. Cochran's Clarissa and Nellie works are guarded by twenty-five Pinkerton men, who arrived from Pittsburgh last night on the midnight train.

The strikers do not think the strike is broken. Their leaders say the men are gradually recovering from the confusion into which they were thrown by the arrest of the officers of the organization and the 100 Davidson rioters. As soon as the men recover from the fight, the leaders say, the strike will be renewed with more vigor than ever.

REPUBLICAN COLLEGE BOYS. Two Hundred Delegates Are Present at the National League.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 6.—About 200 delegates to the National College Republican league, representing twenty of the leading American colleges from Maine to California, are here to attend the annual meeting.

The Cornell representatives have with them a candidate for the presidency, Herbert L. Fordham, '94, the Ivy orator of his class, a member of the magazine board, debater in the Cornell university of Pennsylvania contest, and prize winner in the Cornell congress.

The other candidates are Shirley Johnson, Harvard, one of the hardest workers in the league and a prominent college politician, and Theodore Cox, of the university of the city of New York, nephew of ex-Governor J. D. Cox, of Ohio.

A Venetian Celebration. VENICE, April 6.—Most extensive preparations are being made to celebrate the meeting in this city of King Humbert of Italy and the emperor of Germany.

Julia Marlowe in Part VII.

RECRUITS FROM HOMESTEAD. Coxey's Commonwealth Army Received About Fifty Additions Today.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., April 6.—The possibilities were wide open here last night in the matter of Homesteaders becoming excited and thronging to join the Commonwealth of Christ, for the frequent references of Coxey and Magoun, in the speeches reopened the old sores.

While it is at this time impossible to accurately estimate the number of recruits from this place, a conservative opinion gives it as fifty. These men will join the army at Bulls Run, four miles above, and at other adjoining points, preferring not to appear in the line of marchers as they pass through the main thoroughfares en route to McKeesport. It was a quiet camp at the huge frame ice house at the foot of Amity avenue. Hay had been thrown upon the sawdust flooring and in this the men crawled, wrapping their overcoats over their heads and shoulders. There were over 100 men in a space that would comfortably accommodate 100 less. As a result they were wedged in as closely as corn upon the cob, several scores crawling near the horses, hoping to find the animal more liberal in his demand than shivering men.

The hour scheduled for breakfast was 9 o'clock, but it was 10 before the men were served with their rations of boiled potatoes, bologna, bread and coffee. The raw cold wind blew along Monongahela and chilled the men to the bone.

TOO FOND OF THE RACE TRACKS. Why Miss Torrence Could Not Wed the Man She Loved.

CHICAGO, April 6.—A Chicago paper publishes a story regarding what it calls "the true inwardness" of the recent marriage of Miss Jessie Torrence, daughter of Gen. J. L. Torrence, of Chicago, to the son of the recently deceased New York financier, George C. Magoun. The marriage took place very suddenly at the Hotel Brunswick in New York, and was very quiet owing, it was said, to the recent death of the groom's father. It is now asserted that Miss Torrence was in love with a young Chicago newspaper man who, however, did not exactly meet with Gen. Torrence's ideas of what a son-in-law should be. A gentleman by birth, education and instinct, unexceptionable in points of family and social position, the young man, who is a native of Virginia, was too fond of the race tracks and kindred amusements to suit Gen. Torrence, who, however, knew a good horse himself when he sees one.

It is said that the marriage to young Magoun was expedited in every possible way before Miss Torrence should marry the Frick plants are in operation owing to the death of Chief Engineer Paddock, but they will be fired up tomorrow or Monday. Many of their plants were charged with coke when Paddock was killed and this coke is being drawn as soon as it is burned. No miners are working at any of the plants.

CECIL RHODES' TRIUMPH. The Premier of Cape Colony Secures the Annexation of Pondoland.

CAPE TOWN, April 6.—The annexation of Pondoland has been effected without firing a shot. The chiefs and people of the newly annexed country are quietly submitting. This is another triumph for the so-called imperial policy of Hon. Cecil Rhodes, the premier of Cape Colony, and is a most important addition to the British domain in South Africa.

For eight years past Pondoland has been under an alleged protectorate which was the cause of considerable friction. The country just annexed is desirable as being one of the most delightful regions in the world, the scene of considerable lawlessness and many fierce tribal fights. Pondoland has an area of about 3,000 square miles and a native population of about 200,000. The white population is very small.

Will Cause Distress. LONDON, April 6.—Considerable consternation prevails in the Midland counties owing to the failure of Messrs. New, Prince & Garrards, solicitors, of Evesham. The liabilities of the firm are estimated at $1,500,000; its business was largely that of a private bank and it included among its clients many farmers. Great privations are anticipated in many circles as a result of the failure.

A Compromise Recommended. WASHINGTON, April 6.—The bill agreed on by the Indian affairs committee of the house for a statement of the troublesome question of the Southern Ute Indians in Colorado is in the nature of a compromise. By its terms the Indians will be located on the western end of the present reservation and on a strip of land in New Mexico.

Prize Fighters Arrested. CLEVELAND, April 6.—A prize fight which was in progress at the Eureka rink on Broadway late last night, was raided by a detachment of police. The pugilists, Wm. Parker and Conrad Beilstein, and twenty-one of the spectators were captured.

A Sudden Death. HUNTINGTON, Ind., April 6.—J. A. Lindquist, a member of the editorial staff of the New York Commercial Bulletin, died suddenly on board the Erie train near Rochester, Ind., late last night.

Died at Monte Carlo. MONTE CARLO, April 6.—Baronde Clifford, the well known sportsman and crack pigeon shot, died at the Grand hotel here, after a short illness, aged 39.

MORGAN'S GOOD IDEA.

A Bill to Take the Foreign Service and State Department Work Out of Politics.

Admission to the Service, Which Would Be Continuous, Would Be Obtained Only Through Examination.

Provides That Removals Are to Be Made Only on Proof of Misconduct or Inefficiency.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Senator Morgan's bill for the re-organization of the state department has created considerable comment. The purpose of the bill is to take the foreign service and the department work out of politics, to provide an educational qualification for appointment, to make the service continuous and to provide for promotions. Admission to the service is only to be obtained through an examination by a board to be appointed for that purpose, to consist of the commissioner of education, two professors of public law from leading universities, and two officers of the department, which examination is to cover general history, history of the United States, constitutional and international law, political economy, geography, arithmetic, English language and either German, French, Spanish, Italian or Russian. Persons who pass this examination are to be eligible to appointment to the lowest grade in the service. Persons now in the service are to undergo this examination as well as applicants for appointment. No grade is to be overstepped in making promotions. Positions in the department and in the foreign service are to be interchangeable on the same grade. Removals are to be made only on proof of misconduct or inefficiency.

No one under 20 years of age or above 45 is to be eligible to appointment. Only the secretary of state, the first assistant secretary, the solicitor of the department, ambassadors, envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary, and consular agents are to be exempt from the examination requirements, except private secretaries, messengers and laborers.

The bill provides for positions for which the examination prescribed will be necessary and the salaries to be paid. There is to be a second assistant secretary at $3500; a chief clerk at $2500; a translator at $2000; 6 chiefs of bureau at $2100 each; 8 clerks at $1800 each; 10 clerks at $1600 each; 12 clerks at $1400; 20 clerks at $1200 and 12 clerks at $1000 each.

Officers in the consular service: Fifteen consuls general at $5000 each; 20 consuls general at $4000 each; 50 consuls at $3000 each; 80 consuls at $2500 each; 100 consuls at $2000; 25 vice consuls at $1500 each; 30 vice consuls at $1200 each in the diplomatic service; Two ministers resident at $7500 each; 5 ministers resident at $6000 each; 5 secretaries of legation at $3000 each; 10 secretaries of legation at $2500 each; 12 secretaries of legation at $2000 each.

Consuls are to receive no pay beyond the salary fixed, the notarial work done by them being a part of the service required. Two hundred consular agents are provided for, each to receive not to exceed $500 each per year in fees.

The Bering Sea Treaty.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Some disappointment has been expressed by public men in not seeing the Bering Sea arbitration treaty carried out. It has been asserted that already 150 seal vessels have cleared and beyond doubt the rest of the fleet, profiting by the hint conveyed, will get away from port before the law is duly proclaimed, in the expectation of taking full cargoes of skins before they can be overtaken and served with notice to refrain from hunting.

TRIPLE HANGING IN ARKANSAS.

Three Train Robbers Who Killed Conductor McNally Hanged Today.

St. Louis, April 6.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Newport, Ark., says: The three train robbers J. L. Wyrick, Thomas Brady and Albert Mansker, who killed Conductor W. P. McNally, at Oliphant, Ark., Nov. 3, last, were here this morning. The drop fell at 7:55 and the men were pronounced dead at 8:05. All three necks were broken.

The crime for which three men today suffered death was committed on the night of Nov. 3, 1893. About 10 o'clock that night Passenger Train No. 51, on the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern railroad was held up at Oliphant, a lonely flag station in Independence county, by seven masked men, who looted the express and passenger coaches. The robbers kept up a fusillade of firing all the time the robbery was being committed and Conductor W. P. McNally, who bravely attempted to defend his train, was killed by a rifle bullet.

About two weeks previous to the robbery half a dozen young farmers disappeared from their homes near Bettonville. They rode ponies and wore heavily armed. The friends of the missing men were going to the Indian territory to buy cattle. The names of the farmers were: Albert Mansker, James L. Wyrick, George Padgett, O. L. Truman and Pennyweight Powell and his younger brother, Sam.

Under the leadership of Thomas Brady, a whiskey peddler from the Indian territory, these agriculturists left their farms, families and friends to become train robbers. Brady, Mansker, Wyrick and Padgett were arrested long after the hold-up. Padgett turned states evidence and is now in jail awaiting trial at the spring term of the Jackson county circuit court. His three companions were tried in February and convicted of McNally's murder. Pennyweight Powell was captured in Denver about a month ago and is now in prison awaiting trial. Truman and Sam Powell are fugitives from justice.

CHARGE OF BLASPHEMY.

A Noted Kentucky Infidel to Be Prosecuted by a Minister.

LOUISVILLE, April 6.—A special to the Courier-Journal from Lexington says: Rev. E. L. Southgate has served notice on Charles C. Moore, the noted infidel and editor of the Blue Grass Blade, that he is to be tried against him today in the circuit court for blasphemy.

Rev. Southgate visited Moore's office yesterday and selected the following as a presentation on which the charge for blasphemy would be based: "And in this land of religious liberty, it does look like each man ought to have some say as to what constitutes blasphemy. When I say Jesus Christ was a man exactly like I am and had a human father and mother, exactly like I had, some of the pious call it blasphemy. And when they say that Jesus Christ was born as the result of a sort of Breckinridge-Pollard hypenation between God and a Jew woman, I call it blasphemy so it is a stand-off."

These rates will enable those desiring to do so, to spend the winter in Southern California, or to visit the Midwinter fair to be held at San Francisco. ## TURMOIL AT OAKLAND.

A Regiment of Unemployed Which Left San Francisco to Join Coxey's Army Caused Excitement.

The Desperate Men Refused to Leave Oakland Where They Were Fed and Defied Everyone.

Was Thought It Would Be Necessary to Use Force But They Finally Departed Peaceably.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 6.—The city of Oakland has had many exciting events in its history, but nothing has occurred so to compare with the turmoil caused early this morning by a regiment of unemployed men which left San Francisco Wednesday to join Coxey's army in its journey to Washington.

Last night long every man, woman and child in Oakland was on the streets, the riot alarm sounded, the governor was asked to call out the national guards, extra police and deputy sheriffs were sworn in and armed with rifles and preparations made for fighting of the bloodiest kind, because the unemployed desperate men refused to leave the city. Only a rash word, or an unlucky shot which would have resulted in the extinction of this branch of the industrial army, for the men who composed it were mostly unarmed and could have made but a feeble resistance to the officers called in to move them.

But the word was not uttered, nor the shot fired, nor the army moved by force, but they calmly moved when it was seen that the future of the city was at stake.

On Wednesday last, under the leadership of a man, about 600 unemployed men applied to Mayor Elliot, of San Francisco, for assistance in getting across the bay at Oakland, where, however, they expected to find the national guards on freight trains to the East. The mayor contributed $25 and the regiment marched to Oakland.

Upon arriving at Oakland the army found that the Southern Pacific railroad had been closed, and the men were told to wait. The citizens raised $500 to pay the fare of the industrials to Sacramento and arrangements were made to have them start at 6 o'clock last night.

The army marched to the city street station to take the train, and the people of Oakland heaved a sigh of relief in getting rid of the men so early.

When, however, it was found that it was to be transported in box cars, the men rebelled and refused to leave, unless the army marched back to the city.

Chief of Police Schaeffer tried to make peace by asking the railroad company to supply passenger cars. Division Superintendent Walter Reed, in a request saying that the railroad company could not furnish the coaches for the $200 that had been subscribed.

All negotiations broke off, and then it was decided to take action against the army. The officials received information that among the leaders of the army was a man who had been arrested in the Haymarket riots in Chicago. This information was somewhat alarming to the officers and, it was decided to take action.

At 11 o'clock Mayor Pardee issued positive orders to Chief of Police Schaeffer that the industrial army must be driven out of the city by force. The order was of such a character that the chief felt that they must be carried out. He made a secret investigation and learned that the army consisted of about 600 men who were armed with clubs and stones.

Chief Schaeffer then issued a general order to all the members of the police to report in uniform at once to the city hall. In response to this order twenty-five police officers appeared at the city hall.

The chief came to the decision that this number was not sufficient to deal with and he did not propose to take any chances. He wanted a full force before he attempted the raid. A report was made that the army had been photographed to the governor to have the militia called out. The telegram was sent to Sacramento, and the governor could not be found an appeal was made to Adj. Gen. Ellen.

Chief Schaeffer sent for Sheriff McKillop and a consultation was held in the city hall. The sheriff agreed to swear in all necessary deputies in order to keep the peace. In the meantime Maj. Frank O'Brien, commanding the First battalion of the Fifth regiment, including companies A, F and G, was summoned to the city hall. He was notified by the police to prepare for action, as a telegram had been sent to the governor asking for assistance. Maj. O'Brien at once repaired to the army on Twelfth street and his officers were summoned to duty. He notified the police that he would be in readiness to report for duty with two companies the moment he received word from the governor or the adjutant general.

Under the direction of Maj. O'Brien, a Gatling gun was placed in front of the city hall and loaded for action. The gun was placed in charge of militiamen with instructions to take no action until word was received from the major in command. At midnight the mayor, Sheriff McKillop and Chief Schaeffer held a consultation and it was decided to drive the army out of the city at 3 o'clock in the morning.

The excitement at the city hall was running high. Then officers were arguing about the duty of the militia. Chief Schaeffer, then, called the men into companies, so as to be ready at a moment's notice. At 12:10 o'clock the militia had been received from Sacramento and the militia were waiting orders to move and assist the police. The mayor and council were still at the city hall and they sent the chief of police and the sheriff to ## make a final request of Superintendent Wilder for passage on the railroad.

Wilder refused and final preparations for action commenced. Oakland's police force consists of fifty men and they were all on duty.

At 2 o'clock a general alarm was sounded by the fire bells and the citizens hastened to the city hall. There about 1200 were sworn in, as deputy sheriffs, and were armed. The fire department also responded and were armed. Then the city's forces marched to the city hall where the army was peacefully slumbering. They were awakened and ordered to move out. The men refused and things looked ominous. Consultations were held on both sides. Finally the police arrested Leader Kelly and several of his men and penned the rest of them up in a corner of the tabernacle. They still refused to move unless their leader was returned to them, and the police made another consultation.

At last they decided to release him and Kelly was carried back on the shoulders of his men amid enthusiastic cheers. He made a speech to his followers counseling moderation and asked them to comply with the demands of the people of Oakland. In the meantime arrangements had been made with the Southern Pacific for eight box cars.

The industrials agreed to submit peacefully and at 3:30 a. m. formed a column of men and women, police and citizens, marched to Sixteenth street station, where they entered the box cars and shortly after 4 o'clock the train pulled out for Sacramento. Oakland heaved another big sigh of relief and went back to bed. At Sacramento the army will be reinforced by about 300 men and unless they are dispersed, the country a riot is almost certain to occur.

KEDZIE IS THEIR CAPTAIN.

The Famous Yale Catcher Now Handling the Game of the World's Best.

J. H. Kedzie, Jr., the young baseball player who won fame as catcher of the Yale team during the past two years, is now a member of the Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., and will captain the baseball team of the college. Kedzie is just of age and is an athlete of medium build. As a freshman at Northwestern in 1893 Kedzie was the only catcher who could hold the delivery of the best pitcher, the college's crack pitcher, and Kedzie and Stewart were the most famous amateur battery in the west that year. In the fall of 1893 Kedzie went to Yale and while there gained a national reputation. He played with the Yale team in Chicago last fall in the World's fair intercollegiate tournament, in which Yale won the silver Spalding cup.

The decisive game was won by Yale over Amherst, 11 to 0, and Yale's winning run was made by Kedzie. He is a hard hitter, an excellent base runner and such a stone wall behind the bat that few balls get past him. He also throws to bases with such swiftness and precision that stealing a bag is a most precarious undertaking when he is behind the bat.

GREENROOM GOSSIP.

Paul M. Potter has been accused of plagiarizing some of the best bits of "The Emerald," and the most embarrassing part of it all is that the newspaper man who makes the charge draws the deadly parallel on him.

Sadie Martin wants one act plays, as she will probably start next season in a series of Rosina Voss' repertoires.

"Sowing the Wind," now running at the Frontier theater, has been unexpectedly afforded that charming actress, Viola Allen, the opportunity to make the proverbial bit of her life in the leading role.

Miss Ned Elina Hall, a very beautiful girl, who has been making a name for herself, may go starring next year in a light comedy especially written for her.

Charles Coghlan is said to be writing a play for the New York Lyceum stock company. The nature and title of the piece have not yet been divulged.

Some men who have announced that they will start a new season are almost as certain to fail, and fail quickly, as day is to follow night. And yet these people will have no trouble to hire actors.

There is not a really great leading man or actress on the American stage today. This is one of the unavoidable results of the practical annihilation of the stock system.

Utopia (Limited). Gilbert and Sullivan's latest comic opera, was produced for the first time in America at the Broadway theater, New York, Monday evening, March 29.

Julia Marlowe will make a professional trip to London. So will Richard Mansfield. It seems to be getting to be a veritable custom.

Madame Tull has gone, and Americans will never again have the opportunity to hear her incomparable "85.50" notes—until her next "positively farewell" tour.

Miss Madeline Pollard has had an offer to go upon the stage at a salary of $800 a week because of the notoriety obtained during the Breckinridge trial. It is said that she has very quickly declined.

Miss Katharine Clemons, who is perhaps the shortest lived star on record, does not despair. She hopes to make a name for herself yet. If she would essay comedy, there would be a strong probability of success.

New York city already has more theaters than it can support. In spite of this, however, another "temple of art" is to be built in the neighborhood of Third avenue and Eighty-sixth street.

Helen Dauvray has selected the play in which she will star next season. It is a light comedy.

It is among the possibilities that Eleonora Duse and Sarah Bernhardt will both visit America next season and even play in New York at the same time. This would afford the first opportunity to judge intelligently of the relative merits of these wonderful actresses.

Thomas Carroll is the real name of handsome, sweet voiced Tom Karl of the Bostonians. He and Plunkett Greene were both born in a little town quite near Dublin.

And whereas, said mortgage and the debt thereby secured, said note and coupons, as aforesaid, have been by said mortgagee assigned to the hereinafter named holder thereof, which assignment of said mortgage was by written instrument in duplicate, dated May 21st, 1893, and duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds on March 11th, 1894, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Book 117 of mortgages, on page 367.

And whereas, said default consists in the failure of the mortgagors, their heirs or assigns, to pay one hundred and seventy-five dollars and interest due on January 1st, 1894, which several sums became due and payable at said dates, according to the conditions of said mortgage and the terms of said note and coupons, which interest is yet due and owing upon said mortgage.

Duluth to the Atlantic.

A Washington dispatch says that Representative Jerry Simpson, of Kansas, is preparing a joint resolution which he will soon submit to congress proposing an international commission between the United States and Canada with a view to their co-operation in a system of canal and waterways closely connecting the great lakes with the Atlantic ocean.Mr. Simpson, who sailed the lakes in his early days, proposes a cut from Georgian bay on the east shore of Lake Huron, through to Lake Ontario. This cut could be made by way of Lake Simcoe and other small lakes, so that the actual cut would not be over 100 miles. It would save 800 miles of the present route through the St. Clair and Detroit rivers, the entire length of Lake Erie and the Welland canal. It would make almost a bee line from the upper lakes to the St. Lawrence, and thence to the ocean.It is also contemplated that joint action be taken on improving the Upper St. Lawrence in order to open this lake and ocean route to the largest and most modern boats. The proposed cut from Georgian bay to Lake Ontario would be on Canadian soil, and would have to be done either by Canada alone or by cooperation with this country.Mr. Simpson takes the view that such a canal, even on Canadian soil, would be mainly of advantage to American commerce. Most of the shipping on the upper lakes is American. The great grain regions of the far Northwest would thus have a direct water route to the ocean, instead of a circuitous lake route to Buffalo and trans-shipment there by rail to the seaboard.The interests of both countries are so involved that Mr. Simpson will now urge a resolution empowering the president to invite Canada to join this country in selecting a joint commission to consider what can be done and how both countries can co-operate in executing it.This is an important move in which Duluth has a direct and large interest.
Mr. Simpson's resolution may be the first step in a movement that will result in the improvement of the direct waterway which nature has provided between Duluth and the Atlantic ocean, so that Duluth to foreign ports, and the dream of Duluth being virtually transformed into a sea port, be realized. Certainly it is only by this plan that a deep waterway to the sea can be secured. The visionary Oswego scheme of a Niagara Falls ship canal in conjunction with a deep canal through New York state will never be carried out. Even if it were practicable, the great expense of construction, the length of time that would be occupied by vessels passing through such extra cost of numerous lockages would forbid such a scheme being carried out, and the only hope of obtaining a deep waterway from Duluth to the Atlantic lies in the Canadian canal system and the St. Lawrence river route.A year or more ago Capt. Alex. Mc-Dougall had an article in a Canadian paper advocating some such scheme as Mr. Simpson now proposes and showing the great benefits which both countries would derive from a waterway of this character. Several years ago Hon. James Fisher, of Winnipeg, a member of the Manitoba legislature and well known to many Duluth people on account of the active part he has taken in the reciprocity conventions, published a small brochure on this subject. He earnestly advocated the advisability of handing over the control of the Canadian canals to a joint commission appointed by the United States and Canada which should proceed to deepen the canals, the expense being borne equally by the two countries. Mr. Fisher took up all the objections which have been raised to this idea and readily disposed of them, showing that it is possible to enter into an agreement by which this great waterway can be placed under international control and made neutral territory in case of war—a very unlikely contingency—and furnish the most direct route obtainable from the head of Lake Superior to the ocean.

It is to be hoped that Congressman

Simpson's resolution will receive the solid support of all the Northwestern representatives. There is no portion of the Northwest which would not be benefited largely by this project being brought to a successful conclusion. A glance at the map will show the great saving in distance and time that would be secured by the cutting of a canal from Georgian bay to Lake Ontario.This cut off would save 800 miles of the distance from Duluth to the St. Lawrence by the existing natural waterways and canals, and such a saving in distance and time would result in a further reduction of freight rates. With wheat selling at 60 cents, the necessity of reducing the cost of transportation from the Northwest to the Liverpool market has become greater than at any previous period in the history of this country. The Northwestern farmer has a vital interest in the consummation of the plan which Congressman Simpson's resolution proposes.

There is one feature of the income tax clause of the Wilson tariff bill which should be changed. As it now stands, it imposes a direct tax on the hard-earned savings of labor, by taxing the distilling and loan associations.Building and loan associations, in cities especially, are the people's savings banks. They are the builders of the laboring man's house. As a rule they have worked well, and everywhere are a positive blessing to tens of thousands of laborers in their efforts to secure shelter for themselves and their families. They teach earners of money how to save it;

how to spend it so as to get homes.The few dollars which the wage workers have put into these associations should be free from the income tax, because it would not be a tax upon their incomes, but a direct levy upon their savings. A tax upon the dividends which they secure from this source would also be unjust.
The senate should change this feature of the bill before its passage.The mayoralty fight in St. Paul is becoming perplexing. A few days ago ex-Mayor R. A. Smith, who was looked upon as certain to be the Democratic candidate, withdrew when he found Mayor Wright would not run again. It was almost simultaneously stated that Dr. Charles A. Wheaton would take the Republican nomination. He is very popular and would easily be elected.
Ex-Governor McGill and F. B. Doran, however, are candidates for the Republican nomination and refused to step aside in favor of Dr. Wheaton, and last night the doctor announced that he is no longer a candidate for the nomination.The proposal of Senator Morgan that the state department be reorganized, so that the foreign service and the department work will be taken out of politics, is a step in the right direction. The diplomatic service should be free from political contamination. Those who enter it should feel secure in their positions.
Until some such plan has been adopted, there will be no American diplomatic service worthy of the name.Tim Healy, the pestiferous, trouble-making Irishman who has done the cause of home rule infinite harm by his unwise actions, is now proposing to form a party of his own. The best thing for Ireland would be his continued retirement from parliament.The Iowa legislature has passed a bill conferring on women the right to vote at all municipal elections. Almost at the same time the Massachusetts senate defeated a similar measure. Which body acted wisely?Oakland's experience with the "industrial army" that started from San Francisco for Washington was rather exciting, and it is fortunate that there was no bloodshed.A hungry boy of 15 years was imprisoned in New York a few days ago for grabbing a 3-cent loaf of bread. This is law, but is it humanity?It Cured Him.
Bill Jones was deaf and dumb, and 'not From then on common lips o' his solitary word.So when he made the usual signs
To say he "thought he'd run
For congress," everybody laughed
An' there was lots of fun.But Jones—he was elected—
'Doe' went in like a charm;
'For bells' deaf an' dumb," they said,
'He'll never do no harm."But great was the surprise of all:
When Jones—the silent Bill—
Streaked across, he out-talked them all,
An' he's a talking still.

Kinney For Congress.

Grand Rapids Magnet: The Magnet has every reason to believe that Duluth will appear before the forthcoming convention with a candidate that will secure the endorsement of the entire district in the person of O. D. Kinney. If this is done the district will feel secure in placing its interests in his keeping. He is a broad minded, liberal and capable gentleman, able to comprehend and attend to the needs of the entire fifth district in a fair and impartial manner.

A Long Time Ago.

White Bear Lake Breeze: So Bob Dunn is not dead yet. Well, well. Some people die hard. If our memory serves us right he was at one time, long, long ago, mentioned as a likely candidate for state auditor. We may be mistaken, but dear.

May Change Their Minds.

According to a Washington special to The Herald
the entire delegation of Minnesota congressmen believe in the early bird theory and have expressed a desire to be returned. The desire is a laudable one and they cannot be blamed for wanting to hold their jobs these hard times.
Possibly when they return and ascertain fully what their constituents think of them they may change their minds.

A Close Race.

Swift County Monitor: There seems to be a close contest on between Duluth and St. Peter as to which will furnish the most candidates for places on the state ticket this fall. In this respect these two towns lead all others in Minnesota, with the exception of the Twin Cities, which usually want to name the whole ticket.

A Vain Wish.

How welcome would the tickets be
That hurry from the sky?
Could we but pickle snowballs and consume them in July.
—Washington Star.

Duluth Selfishness.

Anoka Union: Oh, the selfishness of these Duluth politicians! If Bob Dunn receives the nomination for state auditor, it will knock out the Duluth candidate for the state ticket, hence they oppose Dunn.

Why Do You Ask?

Stillwater Gazette: Has anybody stuck a pin into Bob Dunn's state auditor boom?

Nelson Has Permission.

Houston County Chief: Governor Nelson, so a friend says, wants to be governor once more. All right, Knute, if you want it the devil couldn't stop you this year. Although the woods are full of men just as able as Nelson.

If the People Had the Say.

Belle Plain Herald: If United States senators were elected directly by the people, probably they would be a little more particular in carrying out the wishes of their constituents.

A Democratic Conclusion.

New York Daily America: Governor
Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, who welcomed McKinley to that state the other day, voted for the Mills bill when he was a congressman and made a speech in which he showed no mercy for the "tariff robbers." Since then many iron ore beds have been opened in Minnesota and Governor Nelson is said to have some interest in a number of them. He is now a convert to the idea that "the tariff is a local issue."

The jobbers' union held its annual meeting last evening and F. A. Patrick was re-elected president and P. S. Ancker treasurer in spite of their requests that they be allowed to retire. Two vice presidents were elected, Charles Duncan and W. H. Blades. An amendment to the constitution providing for the selection of the secretary by the whole union instead of by the officers is pending and will probably be passed as soon as the constitution will permit. The selection of a secretary, therefore, went over and the meeting was adjourned until next Thursday.

In his report Secretary Buchanan discussed a number of pertinent questions. Insurance rates were commented upon. Losses here are proportionately smaller than in the Twin Cities, yet rates are higher. This he attributed to poor water supply, lack of apparatus and the necessity for a station near the business center. The National Educational association convention matter was touched upon and its loss to Duluth was attributed to the obstinacy of the railroads in refusing to give rates. The South Shore road was the only trunk line that made unequal concessions, and Mr. Buchanan said it was not the first time this road had shown its friendliness to Duluth.

Mr. Buchanan also suggested that this is a good time to get in new jobbing houses, as many houses during the financial stringency have become dissatisfied with their locations.

THE LUMBER BUSINESS.

Some Deals Being Made in Pine—Michigan Men Are Buyers.

"How is the lumber business now?" said a man who is well posted last night in response to a query, "well, it is not very brisk, but this will not be a bad year by any means. The Buffalo and Tonawanda fellows are not stocking up very much and are making no purchases to speak of. They are waiting to see if lumber will go on the free list. If it does, they will pick up some Canadian lumber at from 50 to 75 cents cheaper than they can now buy it."

"A few pine land deals are being made. Next spring will see at least two large saw mills added to those already in the Duluth district. One will go in the Fall Lake district in addition to the Knox Lumber company. The location of the other is uncertain but it will be in the interior. They will increase the cutting capacity of '05 over '04 by about 75,000,000 feet. Over 100 are picking up good pine land, presumably with the intention of putting in mills."

"The activity in pine is principally due to timber and stone lands which are being placed on the market. They are mostly on waters in the Rainy Lake region. Outside of this there is very little moving. If the Rainy Lake country develops and they get railroads in there that is going to be one of the great lumber centers of the Northwest."

"Michigan men are the principal buyers of timber now and they are going to make big fortunes. The history of the lumber business in Michigan is being repeated here in Minnesota. You can buy stumpage here now for as low as $1.50 per thousand and sometimes even less, just as you could in Michigan. Some day it will be worth $5. The Saginaw men know this and are sacrificing their present interests to put all the cash they can control into timber. The millionaires of Michigan did not make their money in logging or lumbering; they made it in pine. They see the same conditions here and they found in Michigan years ago and they are making no experiment in coming in here. They know absolutely what the outcome will be."

"Just think of it. You can buy stumpage here for $1.50 per thousand, while it costs $5 to $8 in Michigan. The cost of manufacture is about the same and you can get it from here to Tonawanda for $1.75 per thousand. There is an advantage which is hard to overcome."

"Yet there are going to be some fortunes made in Minnesota pine. Men up here do not seem to realize this, but some day they will wake up and find some millionaires around here who have made their pile in pine."

E. M. Roberts, of Springfield, Mo., a dealer in land scrip, and who makes a specialty of soldiers' additional homesteads by personal entry, is registered at the St. Louis. Mr. Roberts has been making business trips to Duluth for eleven years and of course is familiar with all the many strong points possessed by this region. He says that he believes, however, that no state today affords the chances for poor men as the much hunted old state of Missouri. Owning in a great measure to the easy-going class of people who settled there in the early days, and the questionable reputation received from various causes, capital and settlers have gone to other and newer states.

Missouri, however, is rapidly taking the place which is hers here. Her climate is mild, coal, wood, iron, building stone, running streams, and nearness to markets are invaluable features. Agriculture, fruit raising, stock raising, mining, manufacturing and many other industries afford openings for thousands who have made the mistake of getting into the congested cities or who have located in regions wholly unsuited to their means, business abilities or physical condition.

Donald Grant, of Fairbault, was interviewed in Minneapolis yesterday. "The present prospects," he said, "are that there will be very little railroad building in any part of the country this year. The country is as full of projected roads as ever, and I hear of two or three new schemes every week, but the projectors haven't the money to do the building, and it is almost impossible to raise capital in a new railroad enterprise at this time."

"What will, in your opinion, be the effect on Northern Minnesota of the Rockefeller's control of the Mesaba iron interests?"

"I suppose the development of the country will continue just the same," was the reply. "The ore is there, and it matters little whether the Merritts or the Rockefellers take it out of the ground, but if the mines were worked by our own people there would soon be erected mills and factories for its conversion into merchandise at home. This we cannot expect from the Rockefellers. They are interested in every single steel plant in this country, and there is not a single reason why they should put in local plants that would obtain in the case of different ownership."

The Rockefeller absorption, Mr. Grant said, extends to the mining properties of the Merritts. In many of these he is heavily interested. "I am," he said, "thereby placed in the hands of these people to a certain extent, but you will see me disposing of my holdings, and you will not have to wait very long either."

NOW IS THE TIME.

Get Strength and Health With Paine's Celery Compound.

Take Paine's celery compound. It is the remedy that makes people well.

First prescribed by the greatest physician this country has seen, it has been used and prescribed and recommended by physicians of every school everywhere.

As a spring remedy it carries health and strength and renewed energy wherever it goes. Food for the muscles is not food for the nerves or brain. But Paine's celery compound furnishes the very elements that rebuild worn-out nerve tissues. It feeds brain, nerve centers and nerves, calming and equalizing their action. It makes rich, honest blood.

Within a few days after Paine's celery compound is regularly taken there will be a marked improvement in the general health; strength will become more enduring, the frame plumper, the spirits enter, and the breath sweeter—all declaring in the plainest terms a healthier action of nerves and blood.

Hundreds of men and women with that "run-down" feeling written all over their faces, unable to work, without courage, have recovered health, heart, and ambition through this remarkable remedy for the blood and nerves. It purifies the blood. It enriches the blood. It generally stirs liver and kidneys and the other organs directed to keep sweet and clean the vital machinery.

A clear, sound mind in a sturdy, healthy body, a bright eye, an elastic step, a clear skin, come without fail when Paine's celery compound is given a trial with merely reasonable care and regularity.

Says Mr. Dudley B. Stratton, one of Worcester's best citizens, the prosperous proprietor of the Lincoln Square dining rooms, in a recent letter:

"About six months ago I had a severe attack of eczema. No pen can describe my sufferings. I doctored and used all the cures I could hear of, but it was still in my system."

"Hearing that Mr. William H. Robinson, with the jewelry firm of Nelson H. Davis, 351 Main street, had been cured of eczema by using Paine's celery compound, I called on that gentleman, and as a result started to take this wonderful remedy. What Mr. Robinson told me has been proven to be true, and I take this opportunity to express my gratitude. I will gladly answer anyone who may wish to inquire further in regard to the medicine."

Paine's celery compound is the greatest blood and nerve remedy that medical science has yet attained. It makes people well.

NEW AIR LINE TO CHICAGO.

Surveyors Working on a Line from Chicago to Duluth and Superior.

A corps of surveyors left Chicago yesterday to run the line of the railway it is proposed to build between Chicago, Milwaukee and the head of Lake Superior. Twenty years ago a line was surveyed between Chicago and Milwaukee, the right-of-way secured, and part of the roadbed built. The line was abandoned, however, before any rails were laid. The newly-formed company has secured this abandoned line and will follow it to Milwaukee.

From the Cream City to Superior the road will follow almost an air line. From some point in Clark county the engineers will run a line to Minneapolis, although the construction of this branch of the road will not be undertaken until the Chicago-Superior line is completed or well under way.

It is said the capital to be invested in the project will be furnished by the Canadian Pacific people, and the new road will form a southern outlet for the Canadian corporation, but this part of the story is unconfirmed.

Were Headed for Duluth.

Last night shortly after the St. Paul & Duluth night express, which arrived here this morning, pulled out of St. Paul. It was discovered that several tramps had found berths on the roof of the baggage car and were enjoying the beautiful night as well as getting a free ride to Duluth. The train was stopped by the vigilantes and the tramps were finally crowded down. A few more candidates for the rock pile would have been in Duluth today had they not been discovered.

Attorney Carlisle Testifies That He Found That Christmas Card in the Book at Norwood Convent.

Proof That Madeline Was in Washington the Day She Claims Willie Talked About Marriage.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Madeline Pollard's friend, Dr. Mary Parsons, appeared before a slim house today, the attendance of elderly men, with patient faces having fallen off greatly with the conclusion of Col. Breckinridge's cross-examination. Dr. Parsons was called in the re-examination, the desire being to establish the identity of the handwriting upon the slip of paper alleged to have been attached to the clothing of Miss Pollard's child. The defense did not care to have this evidence but Judge Bradley overruled objections and Dr. Parsons testified that the handwriting was the identical one which had been pinned to the child's clothing and that the words, "Please send my baby Dietrich Downing," were in her handwriting. Mary McKennie, a middle-aged colored woman was next put upon the stand.

"Do you know where this baby that has been spoken of was born?" asked Mr. Wilson.

"Any house on Seventh street," was the answer.

ROSEBERRY MINISTRY SHAKING.

Predictions That the British Liberal Ministry Cannot Last Long.

LONDON, April 6.—The fate of the Roseberry government is being warmly discussed in political circles here today. The defeat of the government by a majority of one, on a private bill, the majority on the other questions falling off 18 to 15 votes, causes much excitement in the political world and it is widely predicted that the government cannot last long.

The second reading of the East London water bill was opposed by Mr. Shaw-Lefevre, president of the local government board, on behalf of the government, but the measure was carried in face of vigorous efforts upon the part of the whips by a vote of 238 to 227. All the Parnellites and many of the McCarthys were absent from the division.

The Conservative peers comment fully upon the position of the government, while the Liberal organs, such as the Daily News and Westminster Gazette, warn the Liberal party to be careful.

The Daily News says: "If greater vigilance is not observed a serious division will occur."

The Westminster Gazette remarks: "The serious feature of the situation was the absence of the Parnellites and the Redmondites from the house, and the result of such a course would be to set back home rule for ten years. Unfortunately the misunderstanding with the Irish party are producing a bad impression upon the country and are certainly damaging the seal of the Liberals. They are in a bad way and have need of a strong man to lead them."

"GEN." FRYE IN HARD LUCK.

His Army Stuck at East St. Louis and Without Food.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—Under the orders of the chief of police of East St. Louis, "Gen." Frye's industrial army took another but very short step towards Washington this morning. Satisfied that the railroads would not voluntarily transport the travelers, Chief Watts ordered Gen. Frye to get his men beyond the city limits as soon after 8 o'clock as possible.

Frye accepted the situation and after an early and abbreviated breakfast, consisting principally of beans, he got his men into the cars and they started for Camp Relay, in the muddy bottoms of East St. Louis, to a point on the Collinsville turnpike just outside the limits of the city. Frye's army of about 100 men went into camp again to await developments. In the meantime the East St. Louis couple have been receiving and orders issued to prevent the return into the city limits of any of the men now that they have been forced beyond the boundary.

Just what will become of the men is hard to say. They are practically without food and the East bound roads refuse to take them. Further, the men increase, as the citizens learn of the unwillingness of the men to accept the offer of the East St. Louis waterboard of $1.50 per day for one year for each man, and the city is unless something new develops Frye may put into effect a threat made yesterday to surrender to the East St. Louis police as vagrants and thus compel the city to care for them.

DECESSION BY JUDGE JENKINS.

Has Modified the Injunction Order Against the Employes.

MILWAUKEE, April 6.—The long looked for decision by Judge Jenkins on the motion made by the chiefs of the great railway organizations for a modification of his famous Northern Pacific strike order was rendered in the United States circuit court at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Judge Jenkins modifies his injunctive order by striking out the clause which reads, "and from ordering, recommending, approving or advising others to quit the service of the receivers of the Northern Pacific on Jan. 1, 1894, or at any other time." In all other respects the judge denies the motion of the men.

Appointed Traffic Manager.

CHICAGO, April 6.—H. B. Earhart, of Duluth, will be traffic manager of the new Duluth and Ogdenburg Transit company, which has been organized at Detroit through the medium of Capt. Eber Ward, who is to manage the business. The company is operating the line between Chicago and Duluth, and has been operating since the first of the year. The line is to be run in connection with the Vermont Central railway, and promises to be a competitor for westbound freight.

But to Continue—

"The Milwaukee runs the only electric lighted trains. The latest private compartment cars. The latest library buffet smoking cars. The most luxurious sleepers. The celebrated electric berth lamp. The finest dining car service. The government fast mail line. The most comfortable parlor cars. The best and most frequent service. Between St. Paul, Milwaukee and Chicago. Safety, speed, comfort, elegance. Apply to any ticket agent or address J. T. CONLEY, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., St. Paul, Minn."

The Herald in Minneapolis. West Hotel Newstand.

Cut Rate to California. "The old reliable 'Albert Lea Route' again comes to the front with lowest rates to San Francisco, Los Angeles, etc. St. Paul and Minneapolis to above named points $27.00 one way first class, $51.00 round trip. Rates from other points proportionately. The only line with through sleeper Pullman tourist cars; berth rate through only $6. Get your tickets before the rate advances. If you cannot get tickets of St. Paul and Minneapolis, call on any agent of Minneapolis C. St. Louis railway, or address A. B. CUTS, General Passenger Agent, Minneapolis, Minn."

"I was just thinking," said Mr. Bowser as he laid aside his paper the other evening, "how foolish it is for men to strive for money beyond a certain point."

"Yes," quietly replied Mrs. Bowser as she looked up and wondered what was coming.

"That our case, for instance. While we are not rich we take solid comfort. We have all the necessities and many of the luxuries. If we were worth $10,000,000, you could not be a more loving or devoted wife."

"Do you really think so?" she asked, and a smile of pleasure rested on her face.

"Think so? You bet I do! You are the best and the dearest little woman in all this world, and I am a cantankerous old crank and kicker."

"No, I ain't! I'm obstinate, selfish and cranky, and I sometimes wonder why you don't run away and leave me. I wish I were a better man."

"You are good enough for me," said Mrs. Bowser as she went over and patted his head and kissed him.

"But I'm always blaming you, while you are never to blame. Don't you remember my saying that horse?"

"You warned me that I'd regret it, but I would buy him, and I lost a clean $100 and came near breaking my neck. Then I got the crazy idea of keeping a cow, and I was $25 out on that. Then I bought a pig; then I got the chicken fever; then I had the back yard plowed up for a garden; then I invested in a fire escape."

"Never mind, dear," she interrupted as she fondled his chin.

"But I can't help but mind," she persisted. "Think of the idea of my investing $10 in that microbe destroyer when there wasn't a blamed insect in the whole lot of our house. And then I paid $15 for a family medicine chest and nearly poisoned the whole of us with the first dose!"

"Mrs. Bowser, if I had listened to you—if all husbands had the sense to listen to their wives—I'd have been a heap better off."

"Do you really think so?"

"I know it and am free to confess it."

"Then, dear, I want to tell you something."

The Owner of a Genuine Trunk Proves That a Big Man Is a Big Man.

A fat, pompous looking colored man, wearing a silk hat and a broadcloth suit and sporting a big watch chain, was making inquiries about the depot about a trunk when the negro porter stepped up to him and asked:

"Am yo' de pusson who has lost a chest?"

"A chest? A chest? Who's talkin' 'bout a chest?" scornfully demanded the fat man.

"Mebbe it was a box?"

"What I got to do with a box, sah?"

"Yes, sah, of co'se! What yo' dun 's pose I want of a chest or box?"

spears made a break for the alley and the hotel and an hour later got out of town alive. The change to the theater, principally caused by the shooting, is about $50, but we feel that we got off lucky.

We now wish to give due and emphatic notice to all dramatic combinations which may lead this way that we shall take no more risks. # THE BOOK OF THE BUILDERS

BEING THE CHRONICLE OF THE ORIGIN AND PLAN OF THE WORLD'S FAIR; OF THE ARCHITECTURE OF THE BUILDINGS AND LANDSCAPE; OF THE WORK OF CONSTRUCTION; OF THE DECORATIONS AND EMBELLISHMENTS; AND OF THE OPERATION.

The Fair is not only a success, but a triumph,—an American triumph. When it closes, we can think rightly and gratefully of the men who made it such. They would be knighted in England or Germany; but perhaps all they can expect in free, democratic America is that the newspapers and people, who knew all along and in everything a better way, shall admit that, on the whole, it was well they were not in the management.

Benjamin Harrison.

Further particulars have come to hand regarding this great Memorial History of the World's Columbian Exhibition. To those who did not see the important First Announcement on this subject we include here a brief synopsis of it. The Book of the Builders is the authoritative history of the making and operation of the World's Columbian Exhibition. It might almost be called an Autobiography, for it is to be written, edited, decorated and published by the same men whose genius conceived, built, adorned and operated the World's Fair. The Fair, from beginning to end, was built by them in three years; they will now build its Literary and Artistic History in one year, or possibly less. "The Book of the Builders" has been undertaken in the same spirit in which the World's Fair was carried forward, and it will be executed as a literary and artistic achievement, and not primarily for gain. As the World's Fair was the greatest exhibition in the history of the world, so this Memorial of it will undoubtedly be the most remarkable work of any literature in any age. So many interests were necessarily involved in the undertaking that the State of Illinois has chartered a special body—The Columbian Memorial Publication Society—under whose auspices the work will be carried to completion.

The cost of the undertaking will be very great. The price of the book may not be definitely known for some time, but it cannot fall short of One Thousand Dollars a volume. It is the present plan of the Society, however, to fix no stated price per copy, but execute the work in the finest possible manner, charging for each volume only the actual cost of the production and supervision. It is felt that, with no limit set to the price, there can be no questions of deterioration or reduction to save expense. On the other hand, if the work is sold at actual cost, without profit of any kind to the Society, there will be no reason to doubt that it will prove the most valuable book at the price ever made or sold in America.

It will naturally be too costly a work to issue in the ordinary way, and the book will be built "to order only." It will not be possible to secure a copy except by placing an advance order with the Columbian Memorial Publication Society. No more copies will be made than are ordered, and inasmuch as the Society has been created for this one sole undertaking, and will conclude its labors as a Society with the completion of the last volume, it will readily be seen that every copy of "The Book of the Builders" must soon have a greatly enhanced value—the same enhanced value which attaches to the pictures of a painter after his death, when any further work from his hand is an impossibility. The Board of Executive Control, in whose hands the entire direction has been placed, have constituted and appointed and these gentlemen will virtually be the two authors of "The Book of the Builders." They have also appointed a special Supervisor of Typography, who is well known as one of the best authorities in America on the art of book-making. Many minor appointments have been made and others will follow.

Nearly one hundred artists have already received commissions from the Society, and some of them will give their entire time to the work from this date. The greatest interest has been aroused in the remarkable reproductions, decorations and illustrations which "The Book of the Builders" is to contain; they will all be from sketches made at the Fair, and it will easily be seen from the list of artists below that the best talent of America has been requisitioned for this work. No such compilation of American Art has ever before been made in a single work. Some of these illustrations are in the nature of chronological views; that is, they show all the details of building and landscape architecture and decoration at different stages of the work. It is unnecessary to add that no one of these valuable pictures has ever been placed on exhibition, and there will be no opportunity to see them except in the pages of "The Book of the Builders."

The Evening Herald has already explained to its readers the details of the important arrangement by which the Columbian Memorial Publication Society has consented to make a complete compilation expressly for THE EVENING HERALD of the most valuable historical and artistic matter from its great collection, and supply a limited number of copies to THE EVENING HERALD for its own use. It will be a

A POLICE CONVENTION.

Chiefs of the Country Will Meet at St. Louis on May 8.
On May 8 the first annual convention of the National Chiefs of Police union will convene at St. Louis. This organization was formed at Chicago a year ago chiefly through the efforts of Chief W. S. Seavy, of Omaha, who was honored with the presidency. At the St. Louis meeting the Berillon system of identification, uniform vagrancy laws and a police telegraph code will be among the many subjects under discussion.
Chief Armstrong is in receipt of an announcement of the convention and he expects to attend. The union now has a membership of about fifty chiefs and no doubt that number will be greatly augmented at this convention. Headquarters will be at the Laclede hotel.

THE MYSTERY SOLVED.

Disappearance of Henry Haskins' Bottle of Alcohol At Last Believed to Be Accounted For.

It is Firmly Believed That Harry Brown, the Colored Assistant, Made Away With It.

Sudden Increase in the Number of Husbands Arrested for Failing to Support Their Helpmeets.

The authorities at police headquarters think that at last know where Henry Haskins' bottle of alcohol went. It will be remembered that Haskins arrested a Second street saloonkeeper for selling alcohol to minors and left the bottle on the top of a safe in the captain's room at police headquarters. When the trial of the offender came, Henry produced the bottle but what was his surprise when he found it contained nothing but plain water. It is now supposed that Harry Brown, the colored janitor, made way with the stuff. Brown was sent up for ten days this morning as the result of getting drunk yesterday, which was his birthday.

"Scuse me," said he as he leaned over the desk in a city hall office yesterday.

"Well, what's up?" said the clerk.

"Forty-five years ago, I came into this United States."

"I don't believe you," was the reply.

"Yes, sah," insisted Brown. "Forty-five years ago today I was bawn. My old grandmudder put some hot water in a dole basin to wash me. Sez the doctor, 'er he 'Ole woman, youn' bawer hab a little whisky in dat water.' So the old woman put in a little whisky an' I's been a drinking de stuff ever since. 'To-day he is repenting on the stone pile and with him is Harry Grimes who was also sent up for drunkenness."

The better part of the forenoon in police court was taken up by Judge Powell in hearing the case in which W. E. Bennett charged Charles O'Malley with threatening a breach of the peace.

It seems that O'Malley put up money and cared for a woman who has had several husbands and who now goes by the name of Jennie Bartlett. One day she suddenly left for Garfield avenue and took along the furniture which O'Malley saved by satisfying a mortgage upon it.

Of course O'Malley, who is a sailor, felt sore and when he saw Bennett walking with the woman whose charms had been bestowed upon him until a handsome man came along, the green-eyed monster was aroused. He warned Bennett not to walk with her and a jumpus, attended by lots of vile talk and cheap bluffing ensued. O'Malley's zeal got the better of his judgment and he charged Bennett was enabled to file the complaint against him. A gist of witnesses testified about the fuss and nearly everything in the case under the rule that before that O'Malley was put under $50 bonds for one month.

The age of aggressive woman seems to be at hand. Of late many number of unfortunate or brutal husbands have been prosecuted for failure to provide or threatening a breach of the peace, as the case might be. Yesterday three different women poured doleful tales into Assistant City Attorney Benham's ear about their cruel lords and each time the complaining dame had a complaint down to the clerk of the municipal court.

Martin Joyce, charged by his wife Sarah, with failing to properly provide for their bed and board, was found guilty and sent to the rock pile for sixty days. Martin has frequently had this complaint lodged against him.

John D. Seney, 1802 West Michigan street for threatening a breach of the peace, was put under $100 bonds and then committed until this afternoon when his hearing was to come up.

This morning Cora Harder was on hand to testify against her husband, who has been in jail all winter for abusing his helpmeet and who now is accused of threatening to do her great bodily harm. The Bennett O'Malley case took up all the session, so Cora's troubles were not ventilated until after noon.

John Collins, charged with vagrancy, pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for the afternoon session today.

LAKESIDE IS WILD.

All the People in the Suburb Enraged Over the Water Service.

The Lakeside people are nearly wild over their water service. It is fearful stuff, they say, in fact, smells and tastes so badly that the cows, who are none too fastidious, will not drink it. This morning it had the color of beer, but, worse yet, had not the taste and effects of that popular beverage.

City Engineer Reed says that it tastes like a mixture of swamp water, red clay, manure and garbage. He now gets all his water from the lake, which is right at his back door. He says that the intake pipe is too short and that it is too near the mouths of the two creeks and the sewer outlet. He thinks that an intake pipe 1000 feet long would give good, clean, clear lake water.

Sometime ago J. K. Persons and J. C. Carcy, with about forty others, signed a complaint which they say has proved a boomerang and that they have been boistered by their own petard. Not only has the water been worse ever since, but the rates have been raised upon many, if not all those who signified their opinion to the council. Carcy's April bill was $8 larger than any month in the past and J. K. Persons caught it in the neck worse yet. His annual rate has been raised from $17 to $27 and a bill for $2.58 back rent for bath tub put in.

The people out there are fully aroused and some legal steps will, it is said, be taken very soon. The matter is being held back until City Attorney Morris returns from St. Paul. Further communication will be sent into the council next Monday night and there's a hub bub in the air that is not pleasant to hear if one has a timid heart or weak nerves.

LOOKS VERY SUSPICIOUS.

Munger Terrace Seems to be in Danger From Incendiaries.

There have been two fires in the Munger terrace in the apartments occupied by the Sisters of St. Benedict within two days and the circumstances make the rear of the house is practically deserted for a short time. Both were started but a few moments after the doors were locked and everybody had left the rooms.

The fire Wednesday night was in the cellar. It was fortunately discovered just in time and was squelched with but little damage. Last evening, as usual, the sister charge locked the doors of the kitchen and went into another part of the house. A light was seen through a window in the partition and she went back to investigate. When she got to the door she reached in her pocket for the key at the same time catching hold of the knob. To her astonishment the door was unlocked. The room was in darkness. In the pantry adjoining there was a brisk blaze. She tried to hear through one slip through a small slide door in the wall which leads into the hall opening out on to the alley. This door can only be opened from the alley under the rule that before that apartment was locked up. She attempted to turn on the lights but they would not work.

In the meantime others came and seeing the blaze someone rushed to the telephone to send in an alarm. For some reason it would not work, although there had been no trouble in using it through the day. The fire was not serious, however, and was easily extinguished.

R. S. Munger complained to the police last night and at his request a man was detailed to watch the building.

Coxey's Little Band of Hope is Growing Less in Size Owing to Numerous Desertions.

The Short Rations and the Seven Days' March Over Rough Roads Dampen Their Spirits.

The Jollity Has Largely Disappeared and the Men No Longer Shiver in the Rags.

McKEESE, Pa., April 7.—There were a score of desertions today from Coxey's little band of hope and great expectation.

The proposed tramp to Monongahela City over eighteen miles of rough road, with a short stop at Elizabeth for lunch, was the cause of it all. The march Thursday, from Homestead to this city, was over one of the worst pieces of road yet tramped and frequent rests were demanded by the members of the commonwealth.

Their sleep on bare ground for one night at Exposition park in Allegheny, with the rain pouring in through the tents in the great tent, is causing rheumatism and a feeling of discontent due to severe colds. The jollity has largely disappeared and at night the men sit moodily about the camp fires shivering in their rags. Their denunciations of the fare, the quitters and the alleged unpalatable domineering of several of the marshals have supplanted the songs, the anecdotes and the pleasing fortitude of the first days out.

With the long march in prospect it was the expectation to break camp at 5 o'clock sharp, but Commander Coxey, Marshal Browne and the unknowns were late in reaching headquarters from their pleasant apartments at Hotel Diamond, and this with a heavy rain delayed the move, and it was not until an hour later that the procession moved.

SPY LE CARON NOT DEAD.

He Was Spirited Away to Avoid Being Killed by Fenians.

LONDON, April 7.—The Admiralty and Horse Guards Gazette says that a report is current that Maj. Le Caron, the British government spy, who was so prominently connected with the prosecution of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, and who was announced to have died recently in this city, is not dead. The Gazette adds that rumor has it that Le Caron is now en route to one of the most distant colonies, under government officers' protection.

It is added that this disappearance of the British spy is due to the fact that the detectives, who have been guarding Le Caron ever since he was brought so strongly into public notice, discovered some time ago that a Fenian plot having its ramifications in New York and other American cities existed with the object of killing him.

When informed of the danger to which he had been exposed, Le Caron is said to have petitioned the British government to enable him to leave England for some distant portion of the queen's dominions where he would be safer from the vengeance of the Fenians.

Prominent Irishmen who were questioned upon the subject of Maj. Le Caron's alleged disappearance, said that they would not be astonished if the report circulated by the Admiralty and Horse Guards Gazette was true, but they all claim to know absolutely nothing about the alleged Fenian conspiracy to kill the British spy.

Later—a body supposed to be that of Maj. Le Caron was buried today in Northwood cemetery. The registrar of deaths ridicules the idea that Le Caron is not dead and that he is on his way to some distant colony.

DIED FROM POISONING.

Dr. James M. Gaskill, of St. Paul, Poisoned at a Hotel.

DANVILLE, Ill., April 7.—Dr. James M. Gaskill, of St. Paul, Minn., who was in this city for treatment for cancer, died today from the effects of poisoning.

He, together with seven other guests, was attacked immediately after eating supper at a hotel. The other guests recovered. The poisoning is attributed to the coffee and the coroner's jury will investigate.

THE WAR IN BRAZIL STILL ON.

Admiral Mello Bombarding the City of Rio Grande do Sul.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Herald's Montevideo dispatch says: The Herald's correspondent in Rio Grande do Sul sends word that Admiral Mello's fleet, which sailed from Desterro yesterday to meet President Peixoto's squadron, forced the bar of Rio Grande this afternoon.

Soon after the fleet was in front of the city the big guns on the Aquidaban and Republica were brought into action. The city of Rio Grande was bombarded and was still under fire when the Herald's correspondent sent his dispatch. Forces which had been landed from the transport sent ahead made an attack. Gen. Vares has resigned the command of the revolutionary army in Rio Grande do Sul in favor of Col. Pina, who has recognized Mello's government.

A dispatch from Santa Borga says the revolutionary forces surprised the loyal troops near that place and blew up the citadel where they were quartered. Passengers from Parganga arriving on steamer report the evacuation of Sao Paulo by Sarava. President Peixoto has captured Ustamo.

BEN KING FOUND DEAD.

The Michigan Poet and Humorist Died of Heart Disease.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., April 7.—Ben King, the Michigan poet and humorist, who appeared at the opera house here last night with Opie Read, was found dead in bed at his room in the Morehead house this morning. When the clerk went to his room to wake him to go to Owensboro on the 4 o'clock train he could not be aroused.

Repeated knocking at the door brought no response and an entrance to the room was effected through the transom. Mr. King was lying in bed dead. He had evidently died from heart disease. His body will be sent to his home at St. Joseph, Mich., where he has a wife and two children.

THE STORY WAS A FAKE.

The Release of a Convicted Murderer in Montana Not Forthcoming.

HELENA, Mont., April 7.—Recent dispatches from Pierre, S. D., said that John A. Shea had started for Montana to release from the penitentiary at Deer Lodge one Charles Clayton, who is serving a long term for murder.

The story says Shea was away from Clayton, who was his master several years ago, and disappeared and that Clayton was accused and convicted of his murder. Recent prison on circumstances and the evidence. The Herald today pronounces the story a fake. Shea has not appeared in these parts as yet.

The Situation in Samoa.

LONDON, April 7.—A dispatch from Berlin to the Daily News states that the German government has received a letter from Samoa declaring that the natives are well aware that most of the foreign residents are equally well themselves dissatisfied with the tripartite agreement and want to be annexed to one of the Australian colonies. The exchequer is still empty.

Admits a Big Shortage.

BAY CITY, Mich., April 7.—Charles W. Newkirk, the defaulting bank clerk, who was recently brought back from California, has admitted to the Bank of Commerce that his shortages exceed $10,000 and he has been dishonest two years. He implicates a man named G. G. Murray.

Goodbye to All.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The Herald's New York dispatch says: Lord Clifford died at the Grand hotel here this afternoon of bronchitis and consumption. Half an hour before his death he shook hands with his friends, saying: "Say goodbye for me to all the boys and the pretty Swiss."

Fatal Result of a Feud.

PLATTE CITY, Mo., April 7.—News has just reached here of a serious shooting story that occurred six miles east of here in which James H. Jones was killed, and Richard Oldham perhaps fatally wounded. The shooting was done by Marion Oldham, father of the wounded man, and was the result of an old feud.

Three Laborers Killed.

PITTSBURGH, April 7.—A premature explosion of a blast at the new Westinghouse Electric works at Brinton, Pa., today, instantly killing three laborers and seriously injured four more. Their names could not be learned, as they were only known by numbers. The bodies of the killed were terribly mangled.

The Bank Clearings.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The total bank clearings of the United States for the week ending today were $97,539,311 against $97,592,451 last week, and $1,200,211,944 the corresponding week last year.

Ethel Wants a Divorce.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—The Call says that Ethel Beander, the well-known actress, is to institute a suit for divorce from her husband, L. R. Stockwell, equally well known as a comedian. Stockwell is playing in the East and his wife is a member of a company in the Northwest.

DEMAND BY JAPANESE.

They Ask the Right to Vote in Hawaii and Will Insist That It Be Granted.

Japan Now Has Two Men-of-War at Honolulu and Will Support the Japanese Demands.

Chinese Likely to Join Forces With Them and Whites Would Be at Their Mercy.

HONOLULU, March 31, via San Francisco, April 7.—The Japanese question is the all-absorbing topic of interest here. Since the arrival of the new Japanese warship, the Takachibou, the Japanese have taken on a much more independent air than formerly and are openly claiming the right of a voice in the affairs of the government. The warship Naniwa went to Hilo, on the island of Hawaii, recently, carrying the Japanese minister, Mr. Fujii, with her. The minister has not yet returned and is said to be conferring with the Japanese contract laborers.

As there are many thousands of these laborers on the islands, the people are becoming alarmed as to what the outcome may be. It is surmised that if the Japanese insist on the voting franchise and it is refused them, they will try to take matters into their own hands and compel the provisional government to recognize them. Should such a contingency occur it is more than likely that the Chinese would join forces with the Japanese and the white population of the islands would stand a poor chance of victory.

A prominent Japanese official connected with the legation here said to the Associated Press correspondent a few days ago: "The Japanese here want the franchise and they are going to get it. If they cannot, our government is going to take a hand in the matter. We have two big men of war here, and we do not intend to let our interests be trampled upon by the provisional government."

The Portuguese have also made a demand for their minister for a warship. They claim they are in fear of an uprising in the near future, and that in case of victory for the Royalists they would be disfranchised. Politically matters have been quiet since the last advances and nothing important has transpired.

The American union party organization that has taken the place of the old Annexation club, has held an election on this island, Oahu, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the central committee to regulate the affairs of the party. A number of extreme radicals have been elected to this committee, and it is anticipated that the new organization will be a thorn in the side of the government. The American league, which was supposed to have amalgamated with the Hawaiian party, still holds independent meetings.

At a meeting of the councils held on March 20 the minister of finance introduced a new budget list for the government employees that will save the country about $60,000 a year. It had been found absolutely necessary to cut down the government expenses as much as possible, as the revenues of the country are decreasing.

The registration of voters for the coming election of delegates to the constitutional convention has commenced. The natives are not registering, and it is said that they are being made to think that the case of a restoration their lives would be the forfeit in the event of their taking oaths to support the provisional government.

CAPTURED IN A CELLAR.

The Town Treasurer of Corlies, Minn., Arrested for Delinquency.

ST. PAUL, April 7.—A Fergus Falls, Minn., special to the Dispatch says: Michael Utz, town treasurer of the town of Corlies, who is over $200 short in his accounts, has been arrested and is now in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury.

His delinquency was known several weeks ago, but when the town constable went after him he made an armed resistance and was not taken. Another constable went after him, and after driving him into the cellar, captured him. Utz is a Pole. He pleaded guilty at his hearing.

SHOT IN THE HEAD.

City Marshal Cook, of Como, Col., Killed by a Shoemaker.

COMO, Col., April 7.—City Marshal A. E. Cook was shot in the head and instantly killed about midnight by an eccentric shoemaker named Levi J. Streeter, originally from Ottumwa, Iowa. Streeter says Cook entered the shop and ordered him to throw up his hands and give up his money. This is not believed, as Cook has always been an honorable and upright citizen for the past ten years.

He was foreman of the car shop for the Union Pacific here for eight years and prominent among railroad men, as well as throughout the country. He leaves a wife and three young girls.

Ordered to Leave Town. ST. PAUL, April 7.—A Jamestown, N. D., special to the Dispatch says: Barney Darling, of this city, who has been known for a long time as a daring "crook," was notified last evening by a vigilance committee of the railroad boys to leave town within twenty-four hours. Darling promises to obey.

A Frisco Engagement. SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—The Examiner says that the engagement of George Crocker, son of the late Charles Crocker, and Mrs. Emma H. Rutherford is announced. It is expected that the wedding will take place in New York in July. George Crocker is one of the heirs to the Crocker millions and Mrs. Rutherford is also very wealthy.

ANARCHIST PLOT FOILED.

Attempt to Blow Up Public Buildings in Belgium by Dynamite.

LIEGE, Belgium, April 7.—The police for some time past have been investigating an anarchist plot which was said to include an attempt to explode dynamite bombs in several public buildings of this city. The result of the investigation was that they became aware of the identity of the plotters and shadowed their every movement.

News reached police headquarters from one of the detectives detailed upon the case, which led to a hasty search of the Kinkenoix railroad station, with the result that two large bombs, supposed to be loaded with high explosives, were found in different parts of the building. Attached to the bombs were fuses all ready to be lighted.

FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION.

Three Men Instantly Killed and Two Fatally Injured.

SPENCER, Ind., April 7.—A terrible casualty occurred at Lancaster, ten miles west of here. A boiler exploded in the mill belonging to Christian Weber, killing three men and fatally injuring two others.

The dead are: Christian Weber, proprietor; Lewis Weber, his son; Clifton Tinehart, laborer. The two fatally injured were laborers and their names are not known.

Opposed to Free Trade.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Richard Croker, the big Tammany sachem, passed through Chicago today en route from San Francisco to New York. Mr. Croker said in an interview that the delay of the lawmakers at Washington is responsible for the business depression and asserted that the majority of Democrats are opposed to free trade. He positively refused to talk of "Boss" McKane's imprisonment and the recent entanglement of Tammany hall.

Recovery is Inevitable.

LONDON, April 7.—The Statist in sketching the history of the silver market since 1888, concludes that the recent fall in the price of silver was due to a panic and that its recovery is inevitable if the India mints are reopened, perhaps to $25. But, the Statist adds, the extent of the rise will depend upon whether India will resume buying upon the usual scale.

A Baltimore Wedding.

BALTIMORE, April 7.—Miss Marie Stirling, second daughter of Commander and Mrs. Yates Stirling, of this city, was married today to J. Lee Tuller, of New York. The wedding took place at Brown Memorial Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Malbie D. Balcomb officiating. The bride is a true Southern beauty, slightly above medium height, with a superb figure and a profusion of golden hair.

Does Not Meet With Favor.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The senate bill to inaugurate civil service examinations in the diplomatic and consular service does not meet with favor among members of the foreign affairs committee of the house. The feeling toward the proposition is such among those who would have it in charge in the house that there is no possibility of its being favorably acted upon.

One in Minnesota.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The commissions of ninety-seven presidential postmasters will expire during this month. The largest number of these in any state is seven and there are seven each in New York, Illinois, Michigan, and Pennsylvania. One each will expire in Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Indian Territory, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, North Dakota, Oregon, Tennessee, Virginia and Wyoming.

A "FLOATER" FOUND.

Body of a Man Turned Up in the Foot of Garfield Avenue.

About 1 o'clock this afternoon the body of a man was found floating in the open water in the channel about midway between Rice's and Conner's points. The corpse was badly decomposed and evidently had lain in the sun for a long time and then loosened up by the wheel of the ferry boat now running. The remains were those of a large man and were dressed in rough, workingman's garb, with high top boots. The hair was dark and the face was covered with a full brown beard.

The coroner was notified and Stewart, the undertaker, at once repaired to the scene and brought the body to his morgue. Detective Dar Kenna also went down but he was unable to recognize the deceased. It was at first thought that the body might be that of George Diehl, the head millwright at the Imperial mill, who disappeared very suddenly and mysteriously some weeks ago, but Mr. Kenna does not think that Diehl's description tallies at all with the body found this afternoon.

Railway Building in Prospect.

Within the last twenty years over 107-500 miles of railway have been constructed in the United States, giving an average rate of 5379 miles a year, and within the last ten years 56,400 miles were laid, averaging 5610 miles a year.
Within thirty years the railway system of this new country has grown from 33-000 to 177,850 miles and now aggregates nearly half the total railway mileage of the world. Have we built enough? Is the country abundantly supplied with iron roads, and is the railway building industry, which during the last three or four years has steadily declined, to become practically extinct?

The Railway Age answers these questions with a decided negative. On the other hand a vast mileage is yet to be built and an increase of activity in this respect is already at hand. The proofs of this are both positive and presumptive. First, a large number of new roads are already under construction or about to be commenced. In this week's issue the Age devotes large space to a list of railway enterprises in the various states upon which work has already been inaugurated, or which apparently give promise of active life in the near future. It furnishes a record of 411 lines aggregating a proposed length of over 3,500 miles, and representing every one of the forty-eight states and territories, the speedy construction of which appears to be demanded. In the list are included only those enterprises which seem to have life and reasonable prospect of ultimate completion. Minnesota is credited with eight lines aggregating 750 miles in length.

How much of this proposed mileage will actually be under construction during the coming year of course cannot be said, but the hopeful outlook in the business world and the remarkably low prices at which material can now be purchased makes it seem probable to the Railway Age that the railway construction record of 1904 will show a great improvement over that of its immediate predecessors.

There is room for hundreds of thousands of miles more of railway in this country. At present the average for the entire country is only 6 miles for every 100 square miles of land surface, not including Alaska, while in some of the older settled states it already reaches 27 miles per 100 square miles and is still growing. Meantime population is increasing at an astonishing rate—12,000-000 in ten years—and railway building must of necessity keep pace at a rapid rate to open new regions for advancing immigration and meet the growing demand for increased facilities in regions which the railway has already developed.

Even to reach the present average of young Minnesota, for example, the United States must have 20,000 miles more, and to compare with Georgia 33-000 miles are immediately needed. But these states have only begun to be supplied with means for transportation, and they have many new lines under way.
In every part of the country the ratio of railway mileage to area is steadily rising, so that a few years hence the present ratio of Illinois or even Massachusetts will not seem high, and it will be recognized as an increasing possibility that the railway mileage of the United States may reach 500,000 miles or more. At the actual rate of increase for the last decade, concludes the Railway Age, we shall have 211,500 miles of road when the new century opens, only six years hence.

Good Men For Governors.

Referring to the fact that the recent troubles of Governor Waite and of Governor Tillman show that the governor's duties are by no means so monotonous and conventional as they were once supposed to be, the Boston Globe points out that crises of more or less alarming significance at any moment are liable to arise. When a crisis like these does arise, woe to that state that has a me-

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

diocre or erratic man for its governor.
It is a serious calamity for a state to have an executive with a constitutional tendency to do the wrong thing at the wrong time.

Too many American states have been careless of late years in the selection of their chief executives. The best man in any state is none too good to be that state's governor. Minnesota has been fortunate in this respect. Its governors have been men of hard sense, cool headed and of good judgment. It is true that they have never been confronted with any alarming crisis, but knowledge of their characteristics makes it certain that they would have met the situation in an intelligent manner.

Cause of Shallow Culture.

There is no royal road to sound learning. Real intellectual strength and solid culture can no more be got by a wide range of dilatory exercises than a strong body can be developed simply by the paltry systems of physical culture. This important truth is set forth in a very graceful way by Miss Agnes Repplier in the April number of the Forum, who shows that "the necessity of knowing a little about a great many things is the most grievous burden of our day, because it deprives us of leisure on one hand and scholarship on the other."

The dissipation and distraction caused by innumerable courses of lectures and the cramming of digests and epitomes are producing a very serious intellectual disease in the American public; for by this means they really become cultivated, whereas they fall far short of any real learning, and put themselves, moreover, into a state of nervous activity which deprives even of the benefit of the leisure that wise men have, and even of the restful results of idleness which those get who are content to be ignorant.

The tendency of our whole educational machinery to substitute short routes to knowledge for continued and serious study is one of the greatest weaknesses of the scholastic system. Dr. Johnson compared this system of education to bread in a besieged town: "Every man gets a little, but no man gets a full meal."
The tendency is toward too general and too shallow a culture. It is better to know a few things well than to have a mere smattering of many things, but how many young men and women leave school in the latter unfortunate condition and deluded with the idea that they have received an education.

A moral contemporary congratulates the public that the revelations in the Breckinridge case "are told in a form of words which is in no way shocking to the public sense of propriety." This, says the Kansas City Star, is because reporting has now reached a stage where it is properly ranked as a fine art. To take some of these depositions and put them into Addisonian English with a John Bunyan flavor and a Cotton Mather moral requires the genius and grace of an experienced American reporter.

The coke manufacturers in Pennsylvania are said to be employing only English-speaking workmen since the strike, the foreign element being excluded. This is very unjust on their part. The manufacturers are themselves responsible for the presence of most of these Hungarians in this country. They were unwilling to pay fair wages to English-speaking citizens and imported Hungarians and others who were willing to work at starvation rates.

The Herald prints more local news in each issue than all the other daily papers combined. Its telegraphic news is always fresh, up to date and complete, and no paper at the head of Lake Superior equals it in this respect. As a complete newspaper it easily leads all would-be competitors, and this is why its circulation exceeds that of the other two dailies combined.

The board of public works has been a subject of considerable criticism of late.
Much of it was probably undeserved, as is frequently the case. Some of its good deeds are told in an article which appears on the ninth page of this issue. It contains some facts and figures that should command consideration.

The divorce mill was in full blast at Fargo yesterday and Eastern couples were dismissed with neatness and dispatch. As a center for the divorce industry, Fargo possesses many natural advantages over its rivals—not even taking into consideration the well known gallantry of Maj. Edwards.

Jay La Due, of Luverne, now wants to be collector of internal revenue. He resembles Frank Lawler, of Chicago, who is ready to take anything he can get.

Senator Reynolds, of the insurance committee, has introduced a bill in the New York legislature which enables the insurance department to license in consideration of the payment of $200 yearly not to exceed 200 agents to do business for individual fire underwriting assocations, otherwise known as Lloyds.

The St. Cloud Journal Press makes public the report that Hon. W. E. Lee, of Long Prairie, will be a candidate for representative this fall, and again a candidate for speaker of the house.

William Dawson, Jr., seems likely to be the Democratic candidate for mayor of St. Paul, and the Republicans will find it difficult to secure a candidate who can defeat him.

The British ministry, under the premiership of Lord Roseberry, is sailing dangerously close to the breakers. It seems to be doomed to a short life.

Col. Breckinridge might furnish the world with some new ideas on the subject of "How to be happy though married."

Do not forget this fact—the war in Brazil is not over, and Admiral Mello's final triumph is not an improbability.

Line Loans.
Swift County Monitor: Ex-Congressman Lind is looming up as a possibility for the governorship, senatorship or almost anything else in the political line that might be thrown in his direction.
He isn't saying much, unless it be to state that he is a supporter of Senator Washburn, but neither is he making any attempts to shut off his friends, who are doing considerable talking. For a man who has mixed in politics so much, the life in a country law office must seem rather slow and it wouldn't be surprising if Lind should come up for something this fall.

Characteristic of Eaton.
Princeton Union: Senator A. Y. Eaton in his paper, the Buffalo Journal, suggests that the Republicans of Wright county make a united fight for a position on the state ticket. Failing in this he advises them to go in and support a Democrat if from Wright county. Poor advice but characteristic of the man and in keeping with his political record.

GEORGE H. CROSBY,
REAL ESTATE BROKER.

His Partial List.

I DO NOT WANT INSURANCE; I DO NOT rent houses. To make a long story short, I pay my whole and undivided attention to real estate.

I HAVE A FINE LIST OF CHOICE HOMES
in Duluth, and in all parts of the city.

IF YOU WANT A VACANT LOT, I CAN FIX
you out, and at the right price. Not boom prices, but hard this price.

$2100 WILL BUY A LOT TO FEET BY 150 feet on East First street, in Erdson.

$11,500 WILL BUY ONE OF THE BEST homes in Duluth. Strictly modern, with every comfort known to modern architecture, and in the best location in Duluth; beautiful view of the lake. If you will take the trouble to call at my office, I will gladly show you the property.

IF YOU WANT TO BUY LOTS IN ANY part of the city I can sell them to you, and on very small payments.

PUT YOUR MONEY IN REAL ESTATE INstead of saving banks and other banking institutions, and make a good rate of interest.
People get rich by speculation, not by getting 4 per cent interest on their money.

$125 WILL BUY A 25 BY 130 FEET LOT in Spalding's addition, less than one-fourth its value.

$4200 BUYS A VERY COMFORTABLE
5-room house and commodious barn on East First street, this side of Eighteenth avenue.

LOTS FOR SALE IN ALL PARTS OF DUluth. Homes to exchange for good farms in Minnesota, Michigan, and Wisconsin. List your farms with me. Call and see what I have to offer.

I CAN SELL YOU A 6-ROOM COTTAGE ON East Second street, lot 40 by 140 feet, and will take a close lot in any part of Duluth as first payment. How is this for a chance to get a home? Balance in payments of $20 per month.

BEAUTIFUL LOT ON BENCH STREET
very cheap. This side of 12th street.

I HAVE ONE OR TWO BANGS IN THE West End in small homes.

I HAVE A 2-ROOM MODERN HOUSE WHICH rents for $15 per month that I can sell for $100. I will pay you 1 per cent per month.
Don't you think you had better look this up?

Now is the time to buy property in Duluth.
Do not miss another year's land boom, but buy a home for yourself. Why do you pay year after year when you can just as well own a home of your own with the same money that you pay him. Come in and talk the matter over with me. I will tell you just how you can do it.

My office is at No. 314, 315 and 316 Palladio

Dr. John F. Fulton, of St. Paul, was yesterday commissioned surgeon general of the Minnesota national guard to succeed the late Dr. Murphy. Dr. Fulton will rank as brigadier general. He is one of the best surgeons of the state, and his appointment will be very pleasing to the members of the guard, with whom he is extremely popular, as he is with every one with whom he comes in contact. He is considered a worthy successor of the late Dr. Murphy, who by his skill and many kindly traits, as well as by the interest he had taken in the welfare of the guard, had endeared himself to the officers and enlisted men of all the regiments.

According to General Orders No. 8 issued from the office of the adjutant general, the following changes have taken place in the military forces of the state since the publication of General Orders No. 6, current series, under date of February, 1914:

THE ORCHESTRAL CONCERT.

Excellent Program Presented at the Congregational Church.

The Congregational church was filled last evening and the orchestral concert was a thoroughly pleasing affair. The orchestra led by George Tupper gave several selections. They played excellently and deserved high praise. The "Casino Tante Waltz" and the selection from "Wang" were the most popular numbers.

Miss Adelaide Sawyer by special request, substituted "The Death Bridge of the Tay" for the number on the program and recited it with fine dramatic force and effect. She received a double encore, giving "Long Ago" and another delightful little sketch. All of her numbers were finely given and encores were demanded.

Mme. Augusta Ohlstrom-Renard was heard for the first time in several months. Her fine soprano voice was shown to excellent advantage in Verdi's aria from "Sicilian Vespers." Mme. Renard sings with the ease and finish which always characterizes the true artist. For her second number she sang "The Last Rose of Summer" with violin obligato by Carl Riedelsberger.

Herr Carl Riedelsberger gave a violin solo and was received with great enthusiasm, an encore being demanded. Frank Huse played a trombone solo with violin obligato by Miss Clara Palmer and J. Henri Bourgeois a clarinet solo. Both were excellent.

PUBLISHER OF DONOHUE'S.

What the Great American Catholic Monthly Owe to Paine's Celery Compound.

The name of Donohue's Magazine, founded by Mr. Patrick Donohue of Boston, in 1879, is known and respected throughout the English-speaking world. The past year it has achieved almost marvelous success, and stands today peerless in its field, doing splendid work for greater religious tolerance and better economic conditions. This success has been won under the direction of its new publisher, Hon. Daniel P. Toomey, who, in addition, is at the head of one of Boston's book publishing companies and is a representative from that city in the legislature of Massachusetts.

Mr. Toomey writes as follows in a candid and interesting letter:

"I believe in Paine's celery compound. If I tell you why, you may, perhaps, wish to publish my words. But even that does not deter me from writing you the truth. I have no sympathy with the man who helps to build the bridge that carries him over. Neither do I sympathize with the man who hides facts just because their publication may promote the success of others. Paine's celery compound helped me. That's the fact of the case."

"Finding myself run down and getting into a state of nervousness, recently, I took the advice of a medical friend, and bought Paine's celery compound. Its use gave me strength, energy and buoyancy. Business cares were made lighter than before."

"I believe in the efficacy of Paine's celery compound." Mr. Toomey's experience is like that of thousands of others.

Brain workers, those who suffer from debility, exhaustion, mental depression, sleeplessness, find Paine's celery compound a certain rejuvenator of the vital portions. Hard study among students is a direct cause of debility. Energetic action cannot be kept up in the brain and stomach at the same time. If the mind be intently occupied with profound thought the nervous power will be concentrated in the brain, and the stomach being deprived of it, indigestion and disease ensue. Hence the weak digestion and sallow complexion of literary men and their constant complaint of ill health. It is also true that a hopeful man or woman can do more work and get well faster than one in despair. From the first taking of Paine's celery compound a feeling of confidence in recovery comes over the invalid. New blood and fresh nervous energy give a hopeful outlook. Paine's celery compound hastens convalescence wonderfully.

In the spring, if ever, there is need of food for the nerves and brain. Paine's celery compound makes the weak strong, makes people well. Try it.

TELL THE SAME TALE

Witnesses in Rebecca Raab's Slander Case Give the Same Stories as at the First Trial.

Mrs. Raab Displayed Considerable Bitterness When Asked Concerning Her Negotiations With Detective Benson.

Some Sensational Affidavits Being Introduced in the Smith & Coulter Spice Company Hearing Today.

Rebecca Raab's case against Dr. Stewart is the center of interest at the court house and Judge Lewis' room is filled all the time while the others look on. The trial of the case began yesterday afternoon, that is, the first witness was then put on the stand. Each of the witnesses is excluded from the room except while testifying. This was at Attorney Towne's request and he thought today it was good policy that the case be kept out of the public eye. The subject of the case is quite frequent comment and it is generally agreed that it is one of the best that has served for some time.

Rebecca Raab, the defendant, was the first witness. Her story is practically the same as at the first trial. She tells the same story, claiming that Dr. Stewart addressed insulting words to her in September last on the public street and near the Iron Exchange bank. The prosecution, however, went a little farther than this, attempting to prove that previous to this occurrence Dr. Stewart had addressed her insultingly and rudely and that had feeling existed between them. She testified that sometime during the six months previous to September last she had gone into Dr. Stewart's office with her attorney, O. L. Young, and that the doctor there addressed hard words to her; also that he once did the same thing on the First National bank corner.

Mrs. Raab displayed some bitterness when questioned concerning her alleged attempt to get Detective Benson to procure evidence for her. She denied ever having anything to do with him. It will be remembered that Benson said she came to him and wanted evidence. He asked if Dr. Stewart said the words, and she replied, "What if he didn't; what about the evidence?"

O. L. Young was called upon to corroborate this, but his testimony gave nothing very decided. He said there was an excited conversation between Dr. Stewart and Mrs. Raab, but could not give the language used.

This morning Mrs. Raab was recalled for a few moments, and then her husband, Jacob Raab, was put on the stand. He testified as to her coming home in an excited condition and claiming to have had trouble with Dr. Stewart. Dr. Paulett and James Paulett were also on the stand. The latter is the man who was arrested for perjury and was acquitted. These two men claimed to have heard the language used by Dr. Stewart to Mrs. Raab. Their stories, however, differed in some points quite materially. Paulett testified that he and Paulett were walking along and heard the words but did not stop. The latter, on the contrary, said that he and Paulett were standing together talking and facing Dr. Stewart and Mrs. Raab. Paulett says the doctor hissed the words through his teeth. Paulett says they were spoken in a medium tone of voice, neither loud nor low.

At this point the noon adjournment was taken. Finally, the man who admitted the perjury trial that he himself lied on the stand at the first trial, has not testified as yet.

Yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of Kate Davis vs. Northern Pacific railway returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $500.00. She claimed $500.

Richard Bowden pleaded not guilty to three indictments, two for grand larceny and one for burglary. Later on a fourth one for burglary in the third degree. Indictments for burglary in the third degree have been found against Daniel Carney and James Miller and against Frank Bach and John Mike for assault in the second degree.

The following setting of cases has been made and includes all of those remaining on the jury calendar.

THE SPECIAL TERM.

Smith & Coulter Spice Case Having a Hearing Today.

The special term was not very prolonged this morning except for the case of D. B. Smith vs. Smith & Coulter Spice company et al. This was on before Judge Ensign all morning and at noon was a long way from being completed.

The whole morning was taken up reading affidavits. At noon Attorney Washburn said with a sigh of relief, "there are only seventy-five pages more to read. We are pretty near through."

The plaintiff is applying for a receiver of the defendant's company. A great many affidavits on both sides are being read. Some of those introduced by the defense attack Mr. Smith's personal character, going into his history quite deeply. In one of W. C. Bond's affidavits there is a statement that he overheard Rose Gagnon say that it was Smith who put her up to suing Charles S. White for attempting to assault her. The case against White was tried last fall and is still fresh in the public mind. Eight cases were continued and others were disposed of as follows:

Hattie W. Backus vs. Frank Burke, Jr., et al, order granting stay of thirty days.

H. J. Eaton & Co. vs. P. H. McGarry, motion to set aside judgment denied.

In reassignment of James Smith, order removing F. E. Barrow and appointing T. E. Collins as assignee.

In re estate of J. C. Schaefer, order made continuing time to file claims.

In reassignment of H. P. Gill et al, order made continuing time for filing claims.

On application of Bridget Maginnis to Judge Moer a judgment was entered in Portland addition was issued.

Sheriff Toole, of Itasca county, received a telegram Thursday evening from Oakland, Cal., saying that Thomas Dalton, alias Tom Lewis, had been arrested in that city and would be held subject to the Minnesota authorities.

The sheriff started today after his man and will bring him back for trial.

The murder for which Dalton is now arrested occurred in La Prairie on Aug. 27, 1892, and John McCaffrey was the man murdered. Lewis was the keeper of a disreputable house and was the terror of the community.

On the day of the murder he had been drinking heavily and had tried to kill two or three men. In the evening he happened to come across McCaffrey, against whom he held a grudge, and without any provocation shot him dead in the street in full view of a large crowd of spectators. There was a reward of $3000 for Lewis' capture.

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within its manifestations without. Hence, to cure the disease the cause must be removed. In no other way can a cure ever be effected. Warner's SAFE Cure is established on just this principle. It realizes that 95 PER CENT of all diseases arise from deranged Kidneys and Liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and restorer, and, by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

From the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs, for the distressing Disorders of Women, for all Nervous Affections, and physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Its rapid action is a guarantee of continued performance.

THE BOOK OF THE BUILDERS

BEING THE CHRONICLE OF THE ORIGIN AND PLAN OF THE WORLD'S FAIR; OF THE ARCHITECTURE OF THE BUILDINGS AND LANDSCAPE; OF THE WORK OF CONSTRUCTION; OF THE DECORATIONS AND EMBELLISHMENTS; AND OF THE OPERATION.

The Fair is not only a success, but a triumph,—an American triumph. When it closes, we can think rightly and gratefully of the men who made it such. They would be knighted in England or Germany; but perhaps all they can expect in free, democratic America is that the newspapers and people, who knew all along and in every-thing a better way, shall admit that, on the whole, it was well they were not in the management.

Benjamin Harrison.

Further particulars have come to hand regarding this great Memorial History of the World's Columbian Exhibition. To those who did not see the important First Announcement on this subject we include here a brief synopsis of it. The Book of the Builders is the authoritative history of the making and operation of the World's Columbian Exhibition. It might almost be called an Autobiography, for it is to be written, edited, decorated and published by the same men whose genius conceived, built, adorned and operated the World's Fair. The Fair, from beginning to end, was built by them in three years; they will now build its Literary and Artistic History in one year, or possibly less. "The Book of the Builders" has been undertaken in the same spirit in which the World's Fair was carried forward, and it will be executed as a literary and artistic achievement, and not primarily for gain. As the World's Fair was the greatest exhibition in the history of the world, so this Memorial of it will undoubtedly be the most remarkable work of any literature in any age. So many interests were necessarily involved in the undertaking that the State of Illinois has chartered a special body—The Columbian Memorial Publication Society—under whose auspices the work will be carried to completion.

The cost of the undertaking will be very great. The price of the book may not be definitely known for some time, but it cannot fall short of One Thousand Dollars a volume. It is the present plan of the Society, however, to fix no stated price per copy, but execute the work in the finest possible manner, charging for each volume only the actual cost of the production and supervision. It is felt that, with no limit set to the price, there can be no questions of deterioration or reduction to save expense. On the other hand, if the work is sold at actual cost, without profit of any kind to the Society, there will be no reason to doubt that it will prove the most valuable book at the price ever made or sold in America.

It will naturally be too costly a work to issue in the ordinary way, and the book will be built "to order only." It will not be possible to secure a copy except by placing an advance order with the Columbian Memorial Publication Society. No more copies will be made than are ordered, and inasmuch as the Society has been created for this one sole undertaking, and will conclude its labors as a Society with the completion of the last volume, it will readily be seen that every copy of "The Book of the Builders" must soon have a greatly enhanced value—the same enhanced value which attaches to the pictures of a painter after his death, when any further work from his hand is an impossibility. The Board of Executive Control, in whose hands the entire direction has been placed, have constituted and appointed and these gentlemen will virtually be the two authors of "The Book of the Builders." They have also appointed a special Supervisor of Typography, who is well known as one of the best authorities in America on the art of book-making. Many minor appointments have been made and others will follow.

Nearly one hundred artists have already received commissions from the Society, and some of them will give their entire time to the work from this date. The greatest interest has been aroused in the remarkable reproductions, decorations and illustrations which "The Book of the Builders" is to contain; they will all be from sketches made at the Fair, and it will easily be seen from the list of artists below that the best talent of America has been requisitioned for this work. No such compilation of American Art has ever before been made in a single work. Some of these illustrations are in the nature of chronological views; that is, they show all the details of building and landscape architecture and decoration at different stages of the work. It is unnecessary to add that no one of these valuable pictures has ever been placed on exhibition, and there will be no opportunity to see them except in the pages of "The Book of the Builders."

THE WORLD OF LABOR.

This Has Been An Off Week in Duluth, the Trades Assembly Having No Meeting.

Great Activity and Prosperity Exhibited by the Electrical Workers Who Have Plenty Work Ahead.

The Trades Assembly Preparing for a Grand May Day Ball—Dr. Thoburn's Coming Lecture.

This has been the off week in organized labor circles in Duluth. The assembly held no meeting and the local unions, if they have seen any activity, have kept it well to themselves. There is one union that seems to be the perfect personification of activity, prosperity and enthusiasm and that is the electrical workers. Their regular meetings are complete successes. Their numbers are steadily increasing and things in Duluth are gradually coming that they will do as much work this season as all of the union workers in town can do. By May 1 there will not be an idle man among their numbers and from the present outlook, each will have steady employment far into the fall.

Said Mr. Hibbard, the secretary, recently: "The electrical workers have just found out that their organization has a printed constitution in book form and they have decided to follow it for the benefit of a new departure. I hope that they will not forget or tire of this new determination, but carry it out."

Next Friday evening, the regular meeting of the Federated Trades assembly will be held as usual. There is likely to be more or less business of importance. The assembly is pushing its plans for a grand May day ball and several committees probably will have reports. The Pavilion has been secured for that occasion and this week the printer turned out the cards and tickets.

April 20, Rev. J. M. Thoburn will lecture on "The Carpenter's Son" at the Bethel. He says that from the title, some might think that it was to be a sermon but such will not be the case. He chose that subject because it pleased him, but theology and sermonizing will be eliminated. Dr. Thoburn is putting in plenty of time and his best thought on this effort and something unusually good may be expected. Bishop McGovern is booked for a lecture some time in the future, but a date mutually convenient to him and the assembly has not yet been decided upon.

LET HIS LIGHT SHINE.

Mr. Childs Hoped That Others, Seeing His Good Works, Would Be Likewise. Several years ago the writer, being in Philadelphia for a short time, called upon the late George W. Childs at his office in The Public Ledger building at Sixth and Chestnut streets. It was one of many such visits made to the philanthropist during an acquaintanceship extending over a period of 30 years.

Mr. Childs asked to be excused for a few minutes while he opened some letters which were laid before him. After reading several he tossed one over to his visitor, with the quiet remark, "Read that."

The letter was evidently written by a hand unfamiliar with the use of the pen. It ran about like this:

Mr. Childs—Excuse me, but I must write to you. I did not know until this morning that it was you who saved me. God bless you, and my wife says God bless you too.

The letter was returned silently to the hands of Mr. Childs, whose face, glowing with good health, good humor and kindness, bore a smile which indicated gratification.

"I have been laughed at more by newspaper men than by almost anybody else," he said, "notwithstanding the fact that I am a newspaper man myself. But I don't mind their having a little fun with me. It pleases them and doesn't do me any harm. Letters like that afford sufficient compensation for any wounds that men in my own profession may thoughtlessly inflict. I never think of them, but I always remember with pleasure acknowledgments such as you see in that letter."

"Some people have the idea," said the writer, "that you are vainglorious and exploit your gifts for the sake of attracting attention to yourself."

"I know there are people who think so," replied Mr. Childs, "but men cannot give freely while they live without attracting attention, and I think a man can give better as he goes along through life than by waiting until he is dead. I appreciate fully the criticisms made upon me, but let me tell you, my young friend, what my theory is. You are an Episcopalian, and you know how frequently the offertory is announced in our church, with the text, 'Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify the Father which is in heaven.'"

"That has been my principle, and I guess I will follow it up until the end comes, no matter how much people may laugh at me."

The end has come to Mr. Childs so far as this world is concerned, but the example afforded by his useful and good life and pursuit of the principle embodied in the text quoted still lives and will long continue to live.

The Communism of Capital.

In 1843 the works of Charles Fourier, the joint stock communist of France, were brought to this country. His theories setting forth the great advantages of combination to both labor and capital, being accepted and advocated by Horace Greeley, Dr. Channing and other young leaders of thought, created a great furor, and phalanxes or associations, composed of people who were to share the products of their labor, in common after various divisions on capital invested, were formed in various parts of the country.

While these associations for different causes failed, so far as the people composing them were concerned, yet capital, as never before, discovered the great advantages of combination. Capitalists soon found that it was better for capital to buy the labor needed in the market rather than to organize the people into phalanxes or associations. Consequently only one element of Fourier's scheme continued, and as a result we have today in our country a communism of capital, that is all powerful and includes the bulk of the nation's wealth.

An examination of Fourier's books shows that trusts and combines are all organized in harmony with the doctrines of this great communist, omitting the humane part of his scheme whereby the people who did the work became a focal part of the combine or combination organized. Thus it seems to me that the capitalists are the communists of our country at the present time, and while they cry out vigorously against socialism or communism they continue to which they practice to their own great advantage.—J. W. Conklin in Chicago Record.

Against Imported Decorations.

Much discontent has been caused of late among the men in the building trades in New York by the action of several rich men in having the decorative work on their homes done in Europe and sent over here in finished form ready to be set up. The unions in the trades affected are made up of skilled workmen, many of them Europeans. Many of the employers have signified their willingness to co-operate with the workmen, as the custom hurts them just as much as their employers.

A circular sent out with reference to the matter says the same inferior decoration work can be made by resident firms equally as well and cheap, and that after June 1 all members of the wood carvers', modelers', ornamental plasterers', marble cutters', marble polishers' and other trades affiliated with the Central Labor organizations of New York will refuse to handle any imported decorative or other building material and will take any steps necessary to protect the interests affected by these methods.

Successful Co-operation.

According to the New York Herald, one of the best examples of co-operation exists in Lyons, La., "where five years ago a small co-operative store, rented at $15 a month, was started. It enforces among its members today nearly every person in town. Its store occupies a solid block and employs 15 clerks. It is worth today between $50,000 and $75,000, of which course belongs to the members, who all this time have been enjoying the dividends paid on the stock, which in this instance is 7 per cent, and some of the members have been drawing their quarterly profits."

The Christian Endeavorers of Hartford have taken for their coming year's work the key word "Earnestness." Let us all adopt it.

A LABOR CONFERENCE.

Delay That Is Full of Danger for the Workmen.

Three months and over have elapsed since the American Federation of Labor notified the general officers of the Knights of Labor that the order's invitation to appoint a conference committee had been complied with, and the conference has not yet been held. Under ordinary circumstances three months might not be considered a very long period to consume in arranging for a matter of so much importance as getting the "various labor organizations into close touch," but the circumstances which have pressed the labor organizations upon all sides during the past few months, and which are still present, have been and are far from ordinary. Besides, it does not look as if the day of the proposed conference is any closer than it was last Christmas. Who is to blame for the delay? I am not fully prepared to say, but in justice one thing must be said, and that is that no blame can attach to the American Federation of Labor or to its committee.

The current number of The Federationist gives in full the correspondence which has passed between Mr. Gompers of the Federation and Mr. Hayes of the Knights relative to a date for the conference. According to Mr. Hayes, the delay, in the first place, was occasioned by the absence from Philadelphia of G. M. W. Sovereign, who is one of the Knights' committee. The latest letter from Mr. Hayes contains the statement that the railroad organizations invited to participate in the conference have asked time (the engineers until May) to consider and act upon the invitation. It is evident that the federation committee feels that somebody will be blamed for what will look to the workmen of the country like unnecessary delay, for the following note accompanies the correspondence in The Federationist: "In order that the responsibility for the delay in holding the conference may be placed where it rightly belongs and our fellow workers may know that neither the American Federation of Labor officers nor its conference committee are blameable, we have deemed it necessary to make public the correspondence."

The officials of the federation say that a number of complaints have reached their office from affiliated unions charging that there "is a purpose in this delay," which purpose, it is alleged, is shown in the warfare waged against the Garment Workers in Boston by the Knights of Labor. While not sanctioning this charge against Mr. Hayes, I will say that unless he can fix the blame upon the railway organizations he must admit the responsibility for the delay. In his letter to Mr. Gompers, bearing date March 13, Mr. Hayes states that he has communications from the Locomotive Firemen, dated March 8, and the Railway Trainmen, dated March 10, asking for more time. The dates on these communications indicate that Mr. Hayes was very slow in extending his invitation to these two organizations or that they took their time in replying and got their answers in just in time to be mentioned in the answer to Mr. Gompers' very urgent letter. There are nearly four months to be accounted for between the resolution calling for the conference was adopted, and the dates on the letters referred to. In letters previous to that one bearing date March 13 Mr. Hayes wrote nothing to Mr. Gompers concerning the railway organizations.

I am not trying to make a case against Mr. Hayes, and if I have a grievance against him it is the same that every friend of organized labor has, and if he is not responsible for the delay in holding the conference committee together then I apologize to him here and now. There has been carelessness, indifference or worse somewhere—that is, when one knows the need for prompt action, little short of criminal. The labor movement of the country, divided as it now is, invites destruction. The wonder is that it has not gone entirely to pieces during the past six months. That it has not done so is no guarantee that it can continue forever in its present unorganized state. While the winter just past has been a hard one on the workers, there is a worse one to follow: if those who have the power and the influence do not organize and suppress the army of labor to meet it. There are a few months of grace, and much depend upon the use we make of the time.

There isn't anything wrong with my liver, and I am not trying to frighten my readers. They will remember that just about a year ago I said that the year to follow would be harder than any period the laboring people of the country has ever before passed through. Many said then that I was only trying to engineer a little scare, but I reckon I was all right. I know what I am talking about now. I haven't had any tips through the agency of clairvoyance, and I can't read the stars. Nothing of that sort is necessary. Any man who can reason a little bit has only to make a careful investigation and fit the facts together to see that we have reached a point where the old scheme of industry will not operate to secure justice to all. We're rolled along with it about as far as we can go. Several important changes are necessary. As these changes would directly benefit the workers, they must secure them. To do this united action is required. This cannot be had until we have organization and unification. That is our aim.

Do you say we cannot get that kind of organization? I disagree with you. I know all about the personal antagonisms and the "conflicting ideas"—no man knows these things better—but there is less of that sort of thing today than at any time within the past 10 years. The men we call "leaders," for lack of a better name, are almost unanimous for some sort of a combination of the labor forces, and if they can be brought together I am firmly convinced that personal differences will not stand in the way of united action upon a platform that all can agree to. I do not mean that a platform can be made which will contain all the demands of every school, but I believe the time has come when the working people are overwhelmingly in favor of the adoption of a programme containing the essentials which all can agree to, leaving to the future the settlement of the points upon which there is disagreement.

Do not make these statements thoughtlessly. I have been carefully canvassing the subject for several months and am not now overlooking any of the main points. Of course, when the time comes for finally adopting a policy and launching it, there will be some dissatisfied ones, but in the meantime they will see enough to seriously impede the progress of the movement, and those who cannot be won over through a desire to see the whole army of workers benefited can be spared. The important question now is, Will the conference provided for by the general assembly of the Knights of Labor set the ball rolling without losing more precious time, or will the impetus come from another direction? Probably the best answer to this query is that all available agencies should be employed. But let us get a move on.

JOS. H. BUCHANAN.

A JUDGMENT ON THE CARNEGIES.

Their Efforts to Crush the Manhood Out of Their Employees Has Proved Costly.

The attempt of the Carnegies to break up the labor organization of the men employed by them at Homestead was successful. The object was principally to put themselves in a position to regulate wages to suit themselves. Since then they have reduced wages materially, and all the other iron and steel works of the region being in sympathy with their purpose the workmen have been obliged to submit to any terms offered them or go elsewhere.

Many of the best chose the latter alternative, and with the lowering of the wage scale and the reduction of the spirit of manhood among the workmen came a lowering of the character of the work. This was inevitable, and it is surprising that such a philosopher as the head of the firm did not see it for himself, for it is in consonance with a plain law of nature.

That he missed it, however, is certain, and now he has to mourn the loss of nearly $141,000 in consequence, that being the 10 per cent of the contract price for certain armor plate, which the firm has been obliged to forfeit on account of the inferior quality of plate it delivered to the government.

It was not necessary to show that the Carnegies had delivered inferior plate with intent to defraud, and the government made no effort to do so. It merely showed them that the plate was not up to the contract, and they "acknowledged the corn" and signed their readiness to suffer the fine imposed. Of course the Carnegies feel quite ashamed over the exposure, and naturally they desire to relieve themselves of the blame, as they could not of the responsibility.

So they just gently hint to the public that the defects of the plate are not due to any fault in the mode of manufacture or in the material used—oh, no—but to unworthy employees, thus proving once more, if they are to be believed, that inferior wages insure inferior workmen and of course inferior workmanship.

As they put it, "it was suggested that plates referred to the test plates were substituted by some foreman or other person having an interest in showing a greater percentage of excellence in his work than the facts warranted."

From this one might suppose that the plates referred to were something that the foreman or other dishonest person could hide under his coat when he went out. However, we may let it go with this lame explanation, feeling that the Carnegies have made nothing in the end by their efforts to crush the manhood out of their employees.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Clergyman Arranges the Church.

At a recent meeting of the Methodist clergymen of Chicago the Rev. H. G. Leonard arraigned his brother pastors in pretty strong language. Among other things he said that men were needed at the present time who would do something more than feed the public with spongy oratory and make faces at the devil from behind the pulpit. It was little wonder that the workman turned atheist when all his encouragement consisted in a vague prospect of heaven indefinitely postponed while nothing was being done on earth to alleviate his present condition by those who did the preaching. Present day ministers, he said, did little more than was done in the first days of Christianity, except to shout the same words a little louder. He denounced the church as a traitor to Christ in neglecting to make a sincere effort to benefit the cause of the down-trodden classes by bringing about a change in the present social and political system. The address was received with applause and some hisses.

Criminal Negligence of Mine Owners.

A case that may form an important precedent in the labor field is on trial in Pennsylvania. It is an action for heavy damages brought by a coal miner who was one of the survivors of a cave-in when he was entombed 19 days. The case will undoubtedly hinge upon the criminal culpability of the mine owners. There is no question that many of the so-called mine "accidents" are preventable and that the lack of proper safeguards is the primary cause of the trouble. A verdict showing criminal negligence as an outcome of the case now pending in Pennsylvania would have a salutary effect on parsimonious mine owners.—New York News.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is absolutely unequalled as a blood purifier and strengthening medicine. It is the ideal spring medicine. Try it.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Visit of the Cornell Boys Last Monday the Interesting Social Feature of This Week.

Receptions in Their Honor by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sellwood and Mr. and Mrs. Giles Gilbert.

Marriage of Miss Lucia Judd and Dr. James McAuliffe on Tuesday Morning—Other Social Notes.

The visit of the Cornell boys on Monday last was the great event which agitated the society people this week and feminine hearts which had fluttered for a week have again resumed their normal condition and the home boys have emerged from the background whither they were discreet enough, although reluctant, to retire for the time being. The collegians enjoyed themselves hugely and it is safe to say that Duluth will always be one of the points visited when the clubs make their annual tour.

Outside of the receptions on Monday there is but little to review this week. The personal column will show that a number of the society belles are absent from the city, and there is no indication that the Southern colonies of Duluthians are breaking up and they will probably not until Duluth's nasty spring is a thing of the past.

THE CORNELL BOYS.

Round of Social Pleasures Provided for Their Entertainment.

The annual visit of the Cornell boys will always be a great social event in Duluth, and their visit this week was the cause of quite a flutter in society. On Monday morning the clubs received a number of visitors in their cars in an informal manner.

In the afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock, a reception was given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sellwood and Mr. and Mrs. Giles Gilbert at the handsome Sellwood residence on East Superior street.

Mr. and Mrs. Sellwood received and were assisted by Misses Naffin, Miller, Sellwood, Morris and Bailey. The rooms were prettily decorated, the college colors predominating.

In the evening everybody attended the concert and it was the swiftest audience the Lyceum has ever seen, the majority of those present being in evening dress. The boxes were occupied by Mr. A. M. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sellwood and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Merrill, Mrs. C. C. Prindle, Miss Sellwood, Miss Maffin, W. G. Knox, Richard Sellwood, four young ladies from Hardy school occupied one box.

After the concert a reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Giles Gilbert and Wells Gilbert, at the Gilbert residence on East First street. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert were assisted in receiving by Mrs. A. M. Miller, Misses Miller, Markell, Gertrude Markell and Maffin. The parlors were profusely decorated in carnelian and white ribbons, the Cornell colors, and flowers. The refreshments were delicious and damasked. There was dancing. There were a few young ladies from out of town, among them the Misses Moon, of St. Paul, and Miss Bradshaw of Superior.

Judd-McAuliffe Marriage.

On Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at the procathebral Miss Lucia Judd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Judd, and Dr. James McAuliffe were united in marriage by Bishop Shaw of St. Paul, uncle of the bride. The wedding will be rather quiet. The bride will be attended by Miss May Costello, and John McAuliffe, the groom's brother, will be best man. The ushers will be C. C. Hartman, Joseph Engles, C. F. Macdonald and H. C. Hoar. The bridal couple will leave in the afternoon for the West, where they will spend several weeks.

Progressive Euchre Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Fee, of West Fifth street, entertained a large number of friends in a most charming manner Thursday evening at progressive euchre. A delicious luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Fee, of Duluth, and Miss Bertrand of Superior rendered vocal selections. Prizes were won by Miss Tupper and D. G. Penny. Among those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Waterworth, Gillilan and Potet, Mesdames Frazer and Minier, Misses Tupper, Baskerville, Jaques, Graves and Bertrand, and Messrs. Baskerville, McKee, A. Fee, Coe, Hudson and Penny.

CAPTAIN CASE OF YALE.

His Baseball Nine This Year Is Principally Composed of Veterans.

The Yale nine this season is captained by George B. Case, who has succeeded in selecting a good team from the 28 collegians who were ambitious to battle for the blue on the ballfield. The lucky men who secured places on the nine are: Pitchers, Tridman, Gunther and Carter; catcher, Greenway; infielders, Stephenson, Rustin, Quimby and Arbutnot; outfielders, Bigelow, Case and Speer; general utility men, Murphy, Taylor and McCanniss.

These nine is Carter, the long armed young giant who made such a reputation last season in the box for Yale and who is playing his third year in the vandy nine.

Carter's weakness in watching bases has been remedied by John Clarkson's persistent coaching. It is said, and with good reason, to believe that Carter's work this year will be even more effective than it was last.

He is particularly pleased by the new rule placing the pitcher back five feet, a rule that Yale men believe will seriously weaken Captain Wiggin, Harvard's crack twirler. Captain Case of Yale has heretofore covered left field, but this season he will make his Hatfield throws to the home plate from center field.

The L. A. W. racing board have decided to reinstate all the intercollegiate wheelmen whom they suspended last June for participation in unsanctioned races.

Miss Frances E. Willard is an enthusiastic bicyclist. She says she was 30 hours learning to ride.

Fitzsimmons as a Blacksmith.

In St. Louis recently Bob Fitzsimmons, the world's champion middleweight pugilist, caused a local sensation by plying his old handiwork, blacksmithing, for a few minutes. Over 100 people followed him to Ed Butler's shop, corner Walnut and Tenth streets. By the time Bob had donned the leather apron 300 or 400 people had crowded in the shop to see him wield the hammer.

The pressure to see the performance was as great as a prize ring, and there was no room to keep the crowd back. Owing to the jam and consequent lack of light, he made only four shoes. They were eagerly seized by bystanders. Fitzsimmons handled the hammer with the ease of an old timer. The shoes were entirely workmanlike. He made the four shoes, one of steel, in about 20 minutes.

WANT A DIVISION.

The Methodists Want Minnesota Made into Two Conferences.

Minnesota Methodists are discussing the proposed division of the Minnesota conference, which question will come up for settlement at the next session of the conference. Those in favor of such a division argue that conference entertainment would be made easier, more time could be devoted to discussing the various measures before the conference, a greater business capacity would be effected, and the missionary and church extension funds for the state work would be considerably increased.

It has been proposed to divide the conference by a line running north and south, beginning at the north of Big Fork river on Rainy river and running south, strike the Mississippi river near Atkinson, thence follow the Mississippi to the mouth of the Minnesota river; thence up the Minnesota river to Mankato, and thence south on the Omaha railroad to the southern boundary of the state, including the whole of the city of Minneapolis in the western division, which would divide into two equal conferences with a central city in each conference. The strength in resources and numbers of the two conferences, which would thus be formed, is about as follows:

Eastern conference (St. Paul, Winona and Duluth district)—Population, 570,000; towns or cities of 2000 inhabitants, 14; church members, 6845; probationers, 106; church property, $809,288; salaries paid pastors last year, $76,000; raised for missions, $5,105; appropriated for missions, $5,105.

Western conference (Minneapolis, Mankato and Fergus Falls district)—Population, 620,000; towns or cities of over 2000 inhabitants, 13; church members, 12,814; probationers, 1546; church property, $882,275; salaries paid pastors last year, $91,077; raised for missions, $5,980; appropriated for missions, $45,720.
